

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

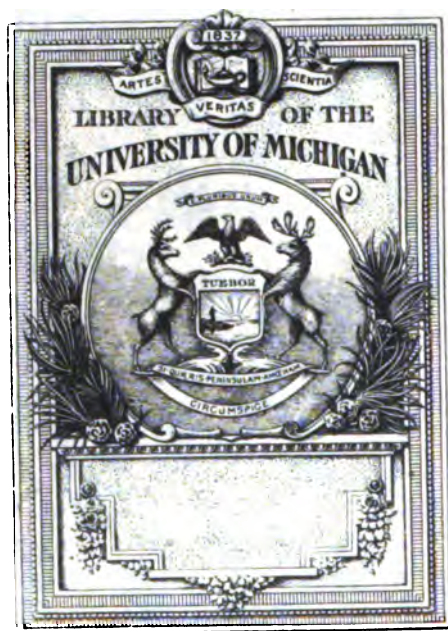

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

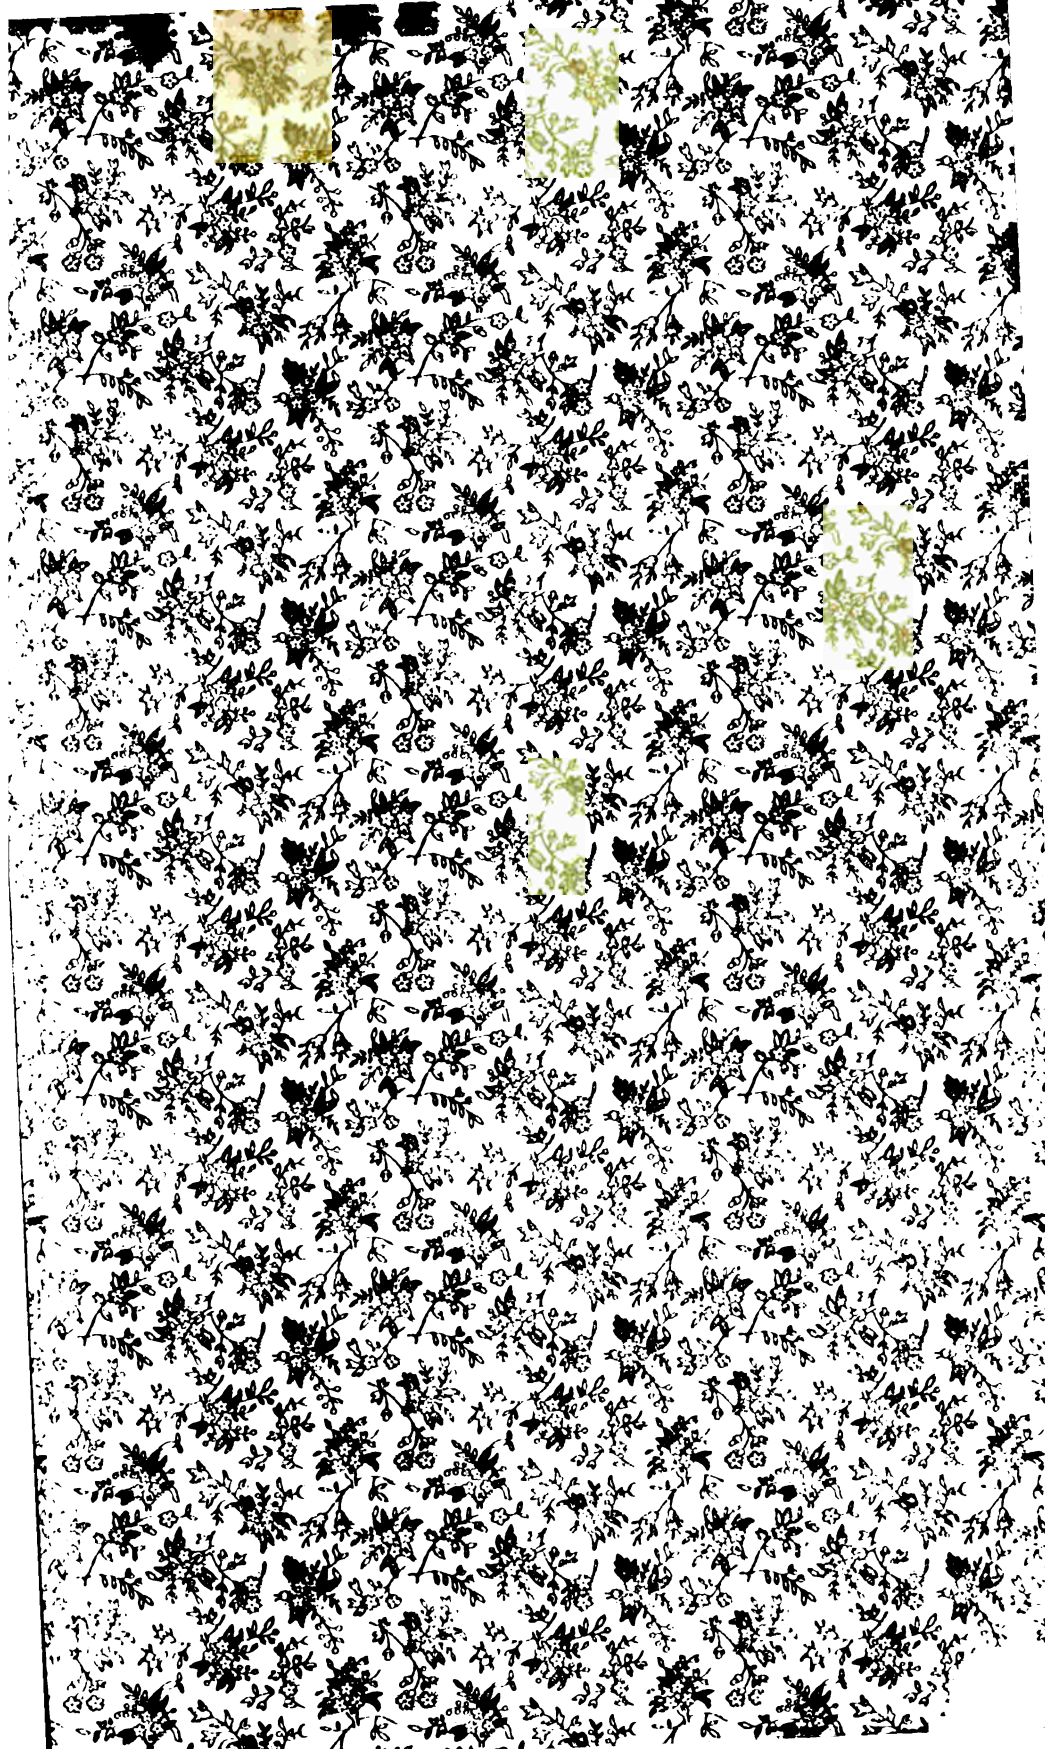

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE FIFTIETH REPORT
OF
THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC
RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg leave to submit to Your Majesty a Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1888; pursuant to the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94. § 17.

I have again to mention the resignation of a senior officer of the Department, and consequent changes in the position of others. Mr. Hans Claude Hamilton, the officer in question, was employed by the Board of Commissioners on the Public Records as far back as the year 1834, and in March 1838 he was appointed a temporary clerk to assist the Board of Commissioners for printing and publishing State Papers. Upon the amalgamation of the State Paper Office with the Public Record Office in 1854, he was placed upon the permanent staff, and in the next year he was promoted to the Second Class. His ultimate appointment as an Assistant Record Keeper of the First Class dates from February 1866. He resigned his place on the 31st of March 1888. During the greater part of Mr. Hamilton's official career he was engaged upon documents of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, and he has edited a Calendar of State Papers relating to Ireland, of which four volumes, dealing with the period from A.D. 1509 to 1592 inclusive, have been published at intervals. A fifth volume only awaits a preface, which Mr. Hamilton has undertaken to write. (See § V.)

The vacancy among the Assistant Record Keepers, caused by Mr. Hamilton's retirement, has been filled by the promotion of Mr. C. Trice Martin, B.A., previously a Senior Clerk. Mr. A. Hughes, B.A., and Mr. C. G. Crump, B.A., have been transferred from the Secretary's Department of the General Post Office to fill two vacancies among the Junior Clerks.

§ V. CALENDARS, INVENTORIES, AND INDEXES.

PATENT ROLLS:

A further, and final, instalment of the Calendar of the Patent Rolls of the reign of Edward I., prepared by the late Mr. F. S. Haydon, with the assistance of Mr. H. Rodney, is printed in the Appendix (pp. 1-266). It relates to the ninth year of the reign.

I stated in my last Report (p. xiv.) that, although this Calendar would not be carried beyond the point now reached, I was making arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls upon a much simpler plan than that recently followed, and I have now to add that these arrangements have been in operation for some months. Reserving for future consideration all questions as to the best manner of dealing with those rolls of the reigns of Henry III. and Edward I., to which there is no satisfactory Calendar, I have caused the early rolls of the reigns of Edward II. and Edward III. to be taken in hand simultaneously. Identical instructions have been given to the different officers employed upon the Calendar, so as to ensure uniformity of treatment and phraseology, and the work is proceeding satisfactorily. A volume dealing with the first three or four years of the reign of Edward III. will, I hope, be published in the early part of 1890.

ANCIENT DEEDS :

Further progress has been made with the Calendar, or Descriptive Catalogue, which was begun in 1886, as mentioned in my last two Reports. A volume now in the press will give abstracts of about 5,400 deeds, being about 1,800 of each of the following series :—

Series A.—Ancient Deeds of the Treasury of the Receipt of the Exchequer, formerly preserved at the Chapter House, Westminster.

Series B.—Ancient Deeds of the Court of Augmentations.

Series C.—Ancient Deeds of the Court of Chancery, formerly preserved at the Tower of London and the Rolls' Chapel.

A considerable amount of material has been prepared for a second volume of the Descriptive Catalogue.

RETURN OF MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT :

The Index to the first volume, extending to 438 pages of print in foolscap folio, was issued in 1888, with 42 pages of additional names found since the issue of that volume, and five pages of corrigenda to those given therein.

The Index to the second volume was in the press at the end of the year 1888.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress has been made with the tabular Index of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive. The work has, however, been delayed by the serious illness of the officer under whose direction it was being executed.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

A considerable amount of time has been devoted to the Calendar of mediæval Letters, Diplomatic Documents, Papal Bulls, and other analogous material, the beginning of which was announced in my last Report.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

Further progress has been made with the Calendar of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery between the reigns of Richard II. and Philip and Mary, which was commenced in 1886. A specimen of the work was given in my last Report, and I there stated that it would shortly be issued in a separate form. The publication of the section executed by Mr. J. E. S. B. Sharp has, however, been delayed by the recent discovery of further documents belonging to the same class, which it was necessary to incorporate. Careful examination, moreover, shows that some of the documents already included in the class are not strictly Chancery Proceedings, and that the Calendar will consequently require some change of form before it can be issued.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

Considerable progress has been made with the tabulated Calendar of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, supplementary to the Calendar printed by command of King George IV., in 1827-1832, under the direction of the Record Commission.

CERTIFICATES OF RESIDENCE :

The arrangements of these documents in alphabetical order, as mentioned in my last Report, has been much delayed by the necessity of repairing many thousands of them before dealing with them in the proposed manner.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS :

Further progress has been made with the exhaustive inventory of the Accounts of Ministers appointed to collect rents and other issues of lands. Considering the vast number of these documents preserved in the Public Record Office, it has been thought expedient to divide the Inventory into two sections, so that part may be made available before the completion of the whole, and the First Section, enumerating all the Ministers' Accounts prior to the reign of Henry VII., will be issued as a separate publication in 1890.

COURT ROLLS :

A comprehensive Inventory of all the Manorial Rolls preserved in the Public Record Office has been commenced upon the system adopted for the Inventory of Ministers' Accounts. This will also be published in 1890 unless a great number of additional Rolls be found in the course of the systematic classification of documents now in progress.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURT OF REQUESTS :

Considerable progress has been made with the tabulated Calendar of the Bills, Answers, &c. of the Court of Requests, belonging to the reigns of Henry VII. and Henry VIII., hitherto unnumbered and inaccessible to the public, as mentioned in my last Report.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII.:

Mr. J. Gairdner, who has been assisted by Mr. R. H. Brodie, has proceeded with the important Calendar of all historical Documents in England relating to the reign of Henry VIII. An eleventh volume, which is the sixteenth instalment of the work, was published in 1888 (see § X.).

STATE PAPERS, RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH:

The text of the fifth volume of Mr. H. C. Hamilton's Calendar was completed at press in the course of 1888, and at the end of the year the Index was also in the printers' hands. Since Mr. Hamilton's resignation, another officer of this Department has been appointed to prepare the materials for a sixth volume of this Calendar.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I.:

A volume of Mr. W. D. Hamilton's Calendar, dealing with the first nine months of the year 1644, was published in 1888. (See § X.) The editor has also prepared materials for another volume, which was in the press at the end of the year.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES:

The volume of the Calendar dealing with State Papers relating to America and the West Indies between the years 1669 and 1675, which was mentioned in my last Report as well advanced at press at the end of the year 1887, was still in the press at the end of 1888, under the editorship of Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury, an Assistant Record Keeper.

TREASURY PAPERS:

The volume of Mr. J. Redington's Calendar of the papers between the years 1720 and 1728, mentioned in my last Report, was almost ready for issue at the end of 1888.

HOME OFFICE PAPERS:

Some progress has been made with the Calendar of the Home Office Papers of the reign of William and Mary preserved in the Public Record Office, but the officer engaged upon it has been much impeded by the pressure of other work connected with the Admiralty Records.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the two previous years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described, especially with respect to the early records of the Chancery Division. Large additions have been made to the classes known as Royal Letters; Parliamentary Petitions; Early Chancery Proceedings; Chancery Proceedings, Series II., and other classes already existing; and several new classes are being formed. Some account of this important work will be given in a future Report.

§ VII. OPERATIONS BY WORKMEN.

The Classes to which most attention has been given have been Chancery Proceedings (Early and Series II.), Privy Seals and Signed Bills (Henry VIII.—Charles I.), Ancient Deeds, Royal Letters, Parliamentary Proxies from the Clergy, Feet of Fines, Certificates of Residence, Lay and Clerical Subsidies, Court Rolls, Letters and Papers, Henry VIII., Star Chamber Proceedings, and Proceedings in the Court of Request, Records, &c.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

In further correspondence during the year 1888, I have urged upon the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury and Your Majesty's Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings the desirability of providing incandescent electric lights for the three Search Rooms and the adjoining passages, and of removing the small house known as 1 and 2 Rolls Yard, as being a source of danger to the adjoining buildings and of practical inconvenience to this Department. The result will be stated in my next Report.

The work arising under the first section of the above Act has been proceeded with, as in previous years.

The selection of documents worthy of preservation from among documents of no value, comprised in Schedules 7 and 8 of Records of Courts mentioned in the third section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838 (as noticed in my last Report), has been completed.

The Ninth Schedule of Documents not of sufficient value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office, which formerly were, or ought to have been, in the Offices of the King's or Queen's Remembrancer, and of the Clerk of the Pipe, or other offices of the Court of Exchequer (mentioned in my last Report as under consideration), was duly approved and laid before both Houses of Parliament on 29 June 1888. It was, however, temporarily withdrawn before it had lain before Parliament for the prescribed period.

A third Schedule of Documents in the Patent Office, prepared under the first of the Rules approved by Your Majesty in Council on 22 May 1883, was submitted to the Inspecting Officers, and considered. After careful examination of the items, it was agreed that no further action in relation to this Schedule should be taken at present.

A second Schedule of valueless Documents in the Office of Your Majesty's principal Secretary of State for the Home Department was presented to the House of Commons on the 10th of May 1888, and to the House of Lords on the following day, and it lay upon the tables of both Houses for the full period of four weeks.

Further progress in the examination and consideration of the Exchequer Documents has for the present been suspended, and an examination of the War Office Documents deposited in the Public Record Office has been commenced, upon a presumption that they may be more quickly dealt with than the Exchequer Documents, and that, as the result, more space may be set at liberty.

As stated in my last Report, questions relating to documents in different Government Departments continue to be referred to the Inspecting Officers.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

The following five volumes were issued during the year 1888:—

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I., preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by William Douglas Hamilton, F.S.A., of the Public Record Office. Vol. XIX.—1644.

The documents calendered in this volume extend over the first nine months of the year 1644. The greater portion of them relate to military affairs, especially the three memorable campaigns of that period: that of Sir William Waller against the King's army near Oxford, resulting in the battle of Cropredy Bridge; that of the Earl of Essex in the West, resulting in the loss of his army; and that of the combined English and Scottish armies in Yorkshire, culminating in the battle of Marston Moor.

CALENDAR OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE COMMITTEE FOR ADVANCE OF MONEY, 1642-1656, preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by Mary Anne Everett Green. Parts I., II., and III.

This work, which may be reckoned as the fourteenth volume of the Calendar of State Papers of the Domestic Series for the period of the Commonwealth, deals exclusively with the proceedings of the Parliamentary Committee for the Advance of Money. The papers noticed therein are mainly of personal and local interest, and they show the fines inflicted upon certain Royalists, the estates held by them, and in some cases the particular offences against the Parliament which caused the imposition of the fines. Occasionally the depositions will be found to contain information of wider historical interest in connexion with the great Civil War, such as particulars of the proceedings before and after the battle of Worcester.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII., preserved in the Public Record Office, the British Museum, and elsewhere in England. Arranged and Catalogued by James Gairdner, an Assistant Record Keeper. Vol. XI.—1536.

The most important domestic affairs dealt with in this volume are the suppression of the smaller monasteries, and the consequent insurrections in Lincolnshire and Yorkshire, known as the "Pilgrimage of Grace." The documents relating to these events are full of interesting details, many of which are here brought to light for the first time, and the abstracts and extracts from them are given at such length that the volume covers a period of only six months, from July 1536 to the end of the year.

The number of volumes of Calendars sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1888 was 497, making a total of 17,021.

At the end of the year there were seven volumes of this series in the press.

§ XI. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following seven volumes were issued during the year 1888 :—

THE TRIPARTITE LIFE OF ST. PATRICK, with other Documents relating to that Saint. Edited, with translations and Indexes, by Whitley Stokes, D.C.L., LL.D., Hon. Fellow of Jesus College, Oxford, Correspondent of the Institute of France. Parts I. and II. (Publication sanctioned in 1883.)

This book contains the three Irish homilies on Patrick, son of Calporn, which are commonly called the Tripartite Life of St. Patrick, together with such other ancient Documents as seemed likely to elucidate his biography. The text of the Tripartite Life is here printed for the first time, though a Latin version was published by John Colgan as long ago as 1647, and an English version by Mr. W. M. Hennessy was included in Miss Cusack's Life of St. Patrick, issued in 1870. Other documents printed here are taken from the Book of Armagh, the Lebar Brecc, and other Irish manuscripts.

WILLELMI MALMESBIRIENSIS MONACHI. DE GESTIS REGUM ANGLORUM, LIBRI QUINQUE; HISTORIÆ NOVELLÆ, LIBRI TRES. Edited by William Stubbs, D.D., Bishop of Oxford, Honorary Student of Christ Church, Oxford. Vol. I. (Publication sanctioned in 1883.)

This, the first of two volumes, contains the text of the first two books of William of Malmesbury's "Gesta Regum," with an elaborate Preface, defining the importance of the author's position, giving particulars of his age and extraction, with a sketch of his life and studies, and an account of the different manuscripts used by the present Editor.

ROGERI DE WENDOVER, FLORES HISTORIARUM, from the year 1154. Edited by Henry G. Hewlett, Keeper of the Records of the Land Revenue. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

This edition gives that portion only of Roger of Wendover's Chronicle which can be accounted an original authority. The previous volume was published in 1887 and the work extends to three volumes altogether.

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF KING EDWARD THE THIRD. Year XIV. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

This volume, like its predecessors in the same series, helps to fill up the gap which extends in the old series of printed Year Books from the 10th to the 17th year of Edward III. Its contents, like those of preceding volumes, are reports in Norman French of cases argued and decided in the courts of Common Law, which may be regarded to a great extent as the "lex non scripta" of England. They also afford biographical and historical information, and throw light on the manners and customs of the fourteenth century.

THE LETTER BOOKS OF THE MONASTERY OF CHRIST CHURCH, CANTERBURY. Edited by J. Brigstocke Sheppard, LL.D. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

The Letters printed in this volume were chiefly written between the years 1333 and 1373. They do not touch much upon the political events of the period, their interest and importance being rather in the pictures which they present of monastic and ecclesiastical life. A third volume, now in the press, will complete the work.

LESTORIE DES ENGLIS, SOLUM LA TRANSLACION MAISTRE GEFREI GAIMAR. Edited by the late Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy, D.C.L., Deputy Keeper of the Records, and Charles Trice Martin, B.A. Vol. I. (Publication sanctioned in 1878.)

This volume contains the early French text of Gaimar, a fragment in Latin concerning Ælla, King of Northumbria, and a life of Herward, also in Latin, with an account of the manuscripts used.

The number of volumes of Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1888 has been 1,610, making a total of 48,074.

At the end of the year there were 15 works belonging to this series in the press or in the binders' hands, and 4 others in course of preparation.

The material reduction of the amount voted in Parliament for the publication of documents connected with the history of this country prior to the reign of Henry VIII. has, as in 1886 and 1887, prevented the undertaking of any fresh work. The Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury, however, were pleased to make separate provision for the publication of some mediæval documents relating to Ireland, under the superintendence of Mr. J. T. Gilbert, and the work selected was the Chartulary of the Abbey of St. Thomas the Martyr, Dublin.

§ XII. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the Archives of the Vatican and other palaces. During the year 1888 he forwarded to this Office 3,377 transcripts and abstracts of documents relating to the history of Great Britain and Ireland. A summary of his proceedings is given in the Appendix to this Report (pp. 267, 268).

VENICE :

The Calendar of State Papers and Manuscripts at Venice and elsewhere in Northern Italy relating to English affairs has made further progress at press during the year 1888.

SWEDEN :

Further transcripts have been received from Stockholm, pursuant to the arrangement mentioned in the 48th Report (p. xviii.). This work was discontinued in September 1888.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, and VIENNA :

Don Pascual de Gayangos has continued his researches. Vol. V., Part II., of his Calendar, comprising the years 1536-1538, was in the binders' hands at the end of 1888.

§ XIII. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has, as in former years, been conducted at Rolls House, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts from Hatfield House, out of office hours.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 26th day of July 1889.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) ESHER, M.R.

APPENDIX NO. 2.—VATICAN AND OTHER ARCHIVES IN ROME.

REPORT made to the RIGHT HONOURABLE the MASTER OF THE ROLLS, for the year ending December 31, 1888.

MY LORD,

I HAVE the honour to submit to your Lordship the following report:—

During the past twelve months 3,377 transcripts and abstracts have been sent to the Public Record Office.

Among the Regesta of the pseudo-pope Clement VII., 1378-94, are letters to nuncios, sent to procure a treaty of peace between the kings of France and England, and to settle questions relating to benefices.

There are also letters to bishops, and to abbots and priors of monasteries in Scotland and Ireland. England did not acknowledge the pseudo-pope.

Among the abstracts of the Regesta of Boniface IX., 1389-1404, there are, in the early years of the pontificate, many appointments to benefices, which will be of use to those who are writing parish histories, or who are interested in the records of religious houses in the United Kingdom.

Copies of documents relating to schools and colleges have been made.

There is a large number of decisions brought before the Church Courts in Rome, and of these some are being copied in full.

The proportion of documents relating to Irish affairs is large, and the difficulties presented to the Roman clerks by Irish names have been got over by a bold and even reckless use of phonetic spelling.

Among the marriage dispensations and other concessions granted to families in the first four years of Boniface IX. are the following names:—Arundell, Arderne, Attewan, Asshe, Beauchamp, Bryan, Bullock, Beveridge, Benyngton, Burdet, Cresswick, Cary, Champernowne, Clifford, Cowper, Conyers, Crispin, Despencer, Dalton, Derby, FitzHugh, Frewen, Fingall, Falkener, Grigg, Gelleson, Gowsall, Grey, Hervey, Hungerford, Hopstonge, Huntingdon, Huchyn, Leton, Lathom, Langeford, Lowther, Morley, Montgomery, Mundeforde, Morwood, Musgrave, Newport, Naunton, Pembroke, Nottingham, Paxton, Plumland, Pollard, Parys, Russell, Swynnerton, Sandewell, Stanley, Scrope, Seymour, Verney, Vere, Warcop, Wace of Waynflete, Waltham, West, Willoughby.

Provision is made for a chapel at Bruges, for the benefit of English-speaking merchants.

In the fifth year of Boniface IX., privileges and dispensations were granted to members of the families of Baron, Blount, Cooper, Cheyne, Claypole, Chaplin, Campden, Corbet, Carter, Draper, Dalby, Dautesey, Dutton, Fulwood, Giles, Gregory, Holland, Inglewood, King, Keys, Lorimer, Martin, Newman, Newark, Norreys, Otteley, Paxton, Pollard, Sotheran, Selby, Skelton, Sleigh, Speke, Spenser, Tilney, Whiting, Whitehead, Walsingham.

In the sixth year of Boniface IX., the sect known as "Pauperes thesauri Christi" is denounced. Many parish churches are annexed to monasteries and priories in various parts of the country. Several of the documents relate to sees, religious houses, and benefices in Ireland.

In the seventh year of this pontificate, there are the usual dispensations in favour of pluralists, one benefice only with cure of souls being allowed.

Bishops are provided for Carlisle, Waterford, and Llandaff; and appointments are made to several Irish benefices.

In the eighth year, dispensations and privileges are granted to Audeley, Attehille, Berford of Brightwell, Belleman, Burton, Burgate, Buckingham, Bisley, Chetwynd, Chapman, Culburne of Carleton, Conington of Crowmere, Courteney, Denyngton, Dowty, Dent, Duntone of Hadleigh, Duke, Fuller of Sudbury, Gray, Grenfield, Gernagan, Gresham, Gayllard, Giffard, Holland, Holman of Preston in Wensleydale, Hekyngham, Hemgrave, Hale, Hay, Koo of London, Lawrence, Lyng, Louthe, Musgrave, Nevill of Raby, Norton, Oldbeck, Page, Payn of Bentley, Pylton, Rosse, Redyng, Robson of Auckland, Ralph baron of Graystock, Beyner, Roper, Reginald of Everyngham, Rankin, Ragg, Sylsdone, Say, Shuldham, Turner, Warner, Wyly.

Thomas Somercoates, rector of Waynflete, while shooting at the butts, put a boy's eye out, and had to be rehabilitated. A considerable number of absentees, many of whom were studying at Oxford or Cambridge, were allowed to enjoy the income of their benefices. There are documents relating to ecclesiastical suits and disputes about the repairs of churches, permissions to monasteries to alienate and let goods and chattels. Chapels-of-ease were allowed to be built. Privileges were granted to the prior and chapter of Durham in relation to the college founded by Thomas, bishop of that see.

On a fly-leaf of a letter book of the apostolic chamberlain and treasurer are written the following remarks by some one, possibly a born neighbour of the English, who vented his spite against them in the intervals of his official labours in Rome: "Anglicus in tergo caudam gerit, est pecus ergo; Cum tibi dicit Ave, sicut ab hoste cave. Anglicus angelus est, cui nunquam credere fas est."

Next year will be sent the accounts of the papal collectors in England for the years 1329 to 1335, and 1364 to 1366.

With regard to the handwriting in the volumes of the Regesta, it could not be better described than in the words used by the late Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy, in his remarks on the Close Rolls, which exactly apply to the writing of the clerks in the Roman chancery.

Among the transcripts are letters from the Secretary of State at Rome to the nuncio at Madrid, to the nuncio at Vienna, and to the nuncio at Paris, in the years 1614, 1615, 1616, 1617, 1619, 1620.

Paul V. frequently added a sentence here and there in his own hand; and Cardinal Millino in many instances wrote the letter addressed to the nuncio. The opposition to the Spanish match was persistent; and the mischief likely to result from the marriage of a Catholic and a Protestant repeatedly pointed out; while the promises of King James in the matter of religious toleration were not believed to be trustworthy. Some of the letters relate to Antonio de Dominis, archbishop of Spalatro, then in England.

With regard to the use made of the Vatican archives, it may be noted that about twenty-five persons are at work daily for purposes of study, a number which is nearly as many as the reading-room will hold. Of these, less than half are Italians. There are agents employed by the governments of France, Germany, and Austria-Hungary, who are engaged in historical research.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,

WILLIAM H. BLISS.

THE FIFTY-FIRST REPORT
OF
RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg to submit to Your Majesty a Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1889; pursuant to the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94. § 17.

First, I have to express my sense of the very great loss which this Department has suffered by the untimely death of Mr. Walford D. Selby, one of the ablest officers who have been connected with it since its establishment at the beginning of Your Majesty's reign. Mr. Selby was appointed a Junior Clerk in June 1867, and promoted to be a Senior Clerk in March 1878. For many years he was entrusted with the superintendence of the Literary Search Room. During the whole of his official career he was chiefly occupied with administrative duties, and the great help he rendered to students, unable by themselves to pursue their researches among the national archives for want of adequate calendars and lists, is attested by the references to him in the prefaces to many recent historical and antiquarian publications. He also rendered valuable service to historical literature by the establishment of the Pipe Roll Society, of which he was the Honorary Treasurer, and, in fact, the acting Director.

Endued with a special aptitude for research and an excellent memory, Mr. Selby had acquired an almost unrivalled knowledge of the contents of the Public Record Office, and he was always ready to impart to his colleagues any information that might be useful to them. To me he loyally and zealously gave assistance of exceptional value, especially in the preparation of schemes for arranging the records and making lists, indexes, and calendars. He was attacked by typhoid fever in November 1888, and although he resumed his official duties for a few weeks in the summer of the following year, the effort proved too great. He died on the 3rd of August, widely lamented.

The vacancy among the Senior Clerks, caused by Mr. Selby's death, was filled by the promotion of Mr. R. A. Roberts, a Junior Clerk.

§ I. LEGAL AND LITERARY SEARCH ROOMS.

The number of registered applications for the production of Records, State Papers, &c. in the year 1889, has been:—

In the Legal Search Room	-	-	13,846
In the Literary Search Room	-	-	26,786
Total	-	-	40,632

The value of stamps purchased by the public and cancelled in the Legal Search Room has been—

„ stamp duty on the same	-	-	13 10 0
„ 162 attendances	-	-	58 1 6
„ 3,027 inspections	-	-	151 7 0
„ 337 general searches	-	-	42 2 6
Total	-	-	799 7 3

Fees to the value of 21*l.* 9*s.* 0*d.* have been remitted to certain Departments of State.

The considerable reduction in the amount of stamps for attendances is due to an arrangement sanctioned by the Lord Chancellor on December 19, 1888, whereby a room in the Royal Courts of Justice was substituted for the Rolls Chapel as the trysting place of mortgagors and mortgagees. This Department has thereby been relieved from the performance of certain duties in no way connected with those assigned to it by the statute 1 & 2 Vict. cap. 94.

§ II. DEPARTMENTAL SEARCH ROOM.

The following table shows the number of applications and searches made on behalf of Government Departments whose archives are deposited in the Public Record Office, and the number of volumes or bundles issued or inspected:—

§ IV. CALENDARS.PATENT ROLLS :

I stated in the Forty-ninth Report (p. xiv) that the Calendar of the Patent Rolls of the reign of Edward I. prepared by the late Mr. F. S. Haydon, with the assistance of Mr. H. Rodney, would not be carried beyond the ninth year, but I added that I was making arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the mediæval Patent Rolls upon a much simpler plan. In the Fiftieth Report (p. vi) I was able to state that the early rolls of the reigns of Edward II. and Edward III. had been taken in hand simultaneously, and that identical instructions had been given to the different officers employed upon the work. I have now to add that the rolls for the tenth and subsequent years of the reign of Edward I. are also receiving attention.

Considerable progress has been made at press with a volume dealing with the first seven rolls of the reign of Edward III., and it will, I hope, be issued in the course of a few months. Materials for another volume are being prepared. The Calendar of the earlier rolls of the reign of Edward II. will shortly be sent to press, and I venture to anticipate that this series of Calendars of the mediæval Patent Rolls will prove very valuable.

ANCIENT DEEDS:

Further progress has been made with the Calendar, or Descriptive Catalogue, which was begun in 1886, as stated in my last three Reports. A volume almost completed at press gives abstracts of 5,397 deeds, viz. :—

Series A.—Nos. 1–1,819. Ancient Deeds of the Treasury of the Receipt of the Exchequer, formerly preserved at the Chapter House, Westminster.

Series B.—Nos. 1–1,798. Ancient Deeds of the Court of Augmentations.

Series C.—Nos. 1–1,780. Ancient Deeds of the Court of Chancery, formerly preserved at the Tower of London and the Rolls Chapel.

This volume will be issued in the course of the next few months. A considerable amount of material has been prepared for a second volume of equal size.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE:

Further progress has been made with the Calendar of mediæval Letters, Diplomatic Documents, Papal Bulls, and the like. The officer engaged upon it has, however, had to devote a great part of his time to the revision of the Calendar of Patent Rolls of the reign of Edward III.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII.:

Mr. J. Gairdner, who has been assisted by Mr. R. H. Brodie, has proceeded with the important Calendar of all historical documents in England relating to the reign of Henry VIII. The first Part of Volume XII. was in the press at the end of the year 1889.

STATE PAPERS, RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH:

The Index to the fifth volume of Mr. H. C. Hamilton's Calendar was completed at press in 1889, and at the end of the year nothing was wanting except the Preface. Since Mr. Hamilton's resignation, another officer of this Department has been engaged on the preparation of materials for a sixth volume.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I.:

A volume of Mr. W. D. Hamilton's Calendar of Domestic State Papers, beginning with the month of October 1644, was almost completed at press at the end of 1889. It will be published very shortly.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES:

The volume of the Calendar of State Papers relating to America and the West Indies between the years 1669 and 1674, which was mentioned in my last two Reports as well advanced at press in 1887 and 1888, was issued in 1889, under the editorship of Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury, an Assistant Record Keeper. (See § X.) Mr. Sainsbury has prepared some materials for a volume dealing with the East Indies in 1630 and succeeding years.

TREASURY PAPERS:

The volume of Mr. J. Redington's Calendar of the papers between the years 1720 and 1728, mentioned in my last two Reports, was issued in 1889. (See § X.)

HOME OFFICE PAPERS:

Considerable progress has been made with the Calendar of Home Office Papers of the reign of William and Mary preserved in the Public Record Office. Materials for the first volume will be sent to the printers in the course of the present year.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.RETURN OF MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT:

The Index to the second volume of the Return of Members of Parliament issued in 1878 was well advanced at press at the end of 1889. It will be published in the course of the present year.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM:

Further progress has been made with the tabular Index of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive. The work has, however, been delayed by the long illness and the consequent death of Mr. Selby already mentioned, as it was being executed under his direct supervision.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery before the accession of Elizabeth, has been continued.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The similar List of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, but not noticed in the three volumes issued by the Record Commission in 1827-1832, has been continued.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS :

Further progress has been made with the exhaustive List of the Accounts of Ministers appointed to collect rents and other issues of lands. The First Section, dealing with all Ministers' Accounts prior to the reign of Henry VII., will shortly be sent to the printers.

COURT ROLLS :

A comprehensive List of all the Manorial Rolls preserved in the Public Record Office was almost completed in 1889, when a large number of additional ones was received from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, which are now being catalogued.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURT OF REQUESTS :

Further progress has been made with the tabulated List of the Bills, Answers, &c. of the Court of Requests, hitherto unnumbered and inaccessible to the public, as mentioned in previous Reports.

DECLARED ACCOUNTS :

A List has been prepared of all the Declared Accounts of the Pipe Office which it is proposed to retain in the Public Record Office.

JUDICIAL ROLLS :

Considerable progress has been made with a comprehensive list of the Judicial Rolls of the Queen's Bench, the Common Pleas, and the Exchequer of Pleas. It will include the rolls of the Curia Regis, the Coram Rege Rolls, the De Banco Rolls, and the Assize and Quo Warranto Rolls, combining the series formerly preserved in the Tower of London with those preserved at the Chapter House, Westminster, and elsewhere.

A Handbook to the principal classes of documents in the Public Record Office is also in the press.

It will be observed that the present volume is very materially smaller than any of the previous ones which have been issued in this series. The present Report is, indeed, somewhat fuller than many of those made by Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy, and by my immediate predecessor, Sir William Hardy, but the Appendix consists of only five pages, while the Appendix to the Thirty-second Report comprised as many as 1,441 pages, and those to my own previous Reports, the Forty-eighth, the Forty-ninth, and the Fiftieth, have respectively comprised 644, 596, and 268 pages. Some explanation of the change seems therefore necessary in this place.

The Deputy Keeper of the Records is bound by Act of Parliament (1 & 2 Vict. cap. 94. § 17) to make a Report once a year as to the proceedings had in execution thereof, and while the national archives, previously dispersed in some sixty different repositories, were being brought together and placed under one control, it was thought desirable to append lists of documents to the successive annual Reports. Lists easily developed into abstracts, and so these Reports became the medium for the issue of Calendars of permanent value.

It does not, however, appear to me desirable to continue the system.

In the first place, the octavo form in which the annual Reports of the Deputy Keeper have been published ever since 1862 is not suitable to certain tabulated lists, and the type generally used for the Appendices is inconveniently small.

Secondly, it is wasteful to present members of the two Houses of Parliament with printed copies of lists which are intended for the use of Departments of State and of lawyers and students of history.

Thirdly, many of the lists already issued as Appendices to the Reports of the Deputy Keeper have become obsolete.

Fourthly, few people know where to find a particular among the fifty successive Reports already issued.

Fifthly, the first twenty-two Reports are out of print.

Under these circumstances I propose, with the assent of the Controller of your Majesty's Stationery Office, to issue a series of separate Lists and Indexes of the different classes of documents preserved among the national archives. They will be printed in foolscap folio and numbered consecutively. The completion of every such List or Index will be notified in the annual Report of the Deputy Keeper, and in the ordinary Catalogue of Record Publications. The price of each will depend upon its thickness. This series, combined with the series of Calendars issued in royal octavo, will eventually constitute a general catalogue of the contents of the Public Record Office. While the Calendars, published in imperial 8vo, will continue to give abstracts, so full as in most cases to supersede the necessity of consulting the original manuscripts, the Lists and Indexes will serve as guides to those who desire to work in the public Search Rooms.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the three previous years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described, especially with regard to the early records of the Chancery Division.

The classes hitherto known as Parliamentary Petitions, Privy Seals, Signed Bills, Letters Missive, and Royal Letters, have been found to contain many documents which ought properly to be elsewhere, and it has been deemed expedient to make numerous transfers from one class to another, as well as to add to these classes from miscellaneous bundles, files, and portfolios.

Some account of this important work will be given in a future Report.

Attention has also been given to the earlier records of the Exchequer.

§ VII. OPERATIONS BY WORKMEN.

The classes to which most attention has been given have been Chancery Proceedings (Series II.), Privy Seals and Signed Bills (Edward I.—William IV.), Petitions to the King and the Council, Royal Letters, Parliamentary Proxies, Assize Rolls, Certificates of Residence, Court Rolls, Ministers' Accounts, Proceedings in the Court of Requests, Star Chamber Proceedings, State Papers (Irish) of the reign of Elizabeth, and (Domestic) of the reign of Charles I., and War Office Pay Lists.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

I stated in my last Report (p. x.) that I had again urged upon the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury and Your Majesty's Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings the desirability of providing incandescent electric lights for the three Search Rooms and the adjoining passages, and of removing the small house known as 1 and 2 Rolls Yard, as being a source of danger to the adjoining buildings and of practical inconvenience to this Department.

Both the improvements in question have been effected. 30 electric lights have been put up in the Literary Search Room, 18 in the Legal Search Room, 8 in the Departmental Search Room and 50 in some of the corridors, lobbies, and lavatories. At the end of the year the supply of the current from the main of the Metropolitan Electric Supply Company was daily expected.

The house recently known as 1 and 2 Rolls Yard, was built pursuant to an address of the House of Commons, according to their resolution of August 10, 1784, for the use of the Clerk of the Records in the Rolls Chapel, and of the Secretaries of the Master of the Rolls, on a piece of ground adjoining the Rolls Chapel on the south side. For some years past it has been used exclusively by officers of this Department. Although a passage traversing it from west to east was well known to the ordinary frequenters of the Public Search Rooms, strangers approaching the Office from Chancery Lane often experienced difficulty in finding the way to the entrance of the main Repository of Records, to which, indeed, there was no access for carriages except from the direction of Fetter Lane. Nothing could be conveyed by cart or by barrow from Rolls House to the Repository or to the opposite building occupied by the officers of this Department, a distance of about 270 feet, without making a round of six times that distance by way of the crowded thoroughfare of Fleet Street.

The demolition of 1 and 2 Rolls Yard, in the course of last summer, has greatly improved the approaches to the Public Record Office, and has tended to facilitate the work of the Department. It has also unexpectedly revealed part of the ancient structure of the Rolls Chapel, which was built by Henry III. for the use of the converted Jews. The flint-work now covering the greater part of the external walls is proved to be a thin coating laid on after 1784, and two closed windows have been found on the south side, one of which certainly dates from the fourteenth century. The re-opening of these windows would be of great advantage to the fine monuments of Dr. John Young

In December 1889, I wrote a letter drawing the attention of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury to the very unsatisfactory condition of the range of houses in Chancery Lane belonging to this Department, which were described as "old, dark, ill-ventilated, rickety, and unprotected from fire from intervening dwelling houses," as long ago as 1861 (Twenty-third Report, p. 35).

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of the above-mentioned Act have continued to carry on their duties.

In April 1889, a proposal was received from the Under Secretary of State for the War Department to vary and add to the Schedule of valueless documents existing or accruing in the War Office which was already in force, the object being to obtain authority to destroy, at an earlier date than previously authorised, certain documents mentioned in the First Schedule, and also to destroy others not mentioned therein. A Second Schedule having been accordingly prepared under the rules approved by Order in Council dated the 22nd of May 1883, it was examined and compared with the First Schedule, and, after the reservation of certain items for further consideration, it was, with the approval of the Master of the Rolls, laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 3rd of June 1889.

A Third Schedule of valueless Documents existing or accruing in the War Office, including certain items reserved for further consideration when the Second Schedule was under discussion, was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 4th of July 1889.

It was stated in my last Report that an examination of the War Office Documents deposited in the Public Record Office had been commenced. That work has been continued, with the result that a Schedule of a portion of the valueless Documents amongst them was prepared under the Rules approved by Orders in Council dated respectively the 25th of July 1882 and the 22nd of May 1883, and, after the approval of the Master of the Rolls, was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the above-named 4th of July. The documents related chiefly to the Ordnance Department, the business of which had been transferred to the War Office. All these Schedules remained before both Houses for the full period of four weeks, and the documents included in the last-named Schedule were sent to Your Majesty's Stationery Office for destruction on the 1st of November last. They amounted in weight to 14 tons 15 cwt.

Further progress has subsequently been made in the examination of the War Office and Ordnance documents deposited in this Office.

Mr. J. Hepburn Hastie, nominated by the War Department to act with the Inspecting Officers, has rendered them valuable assistance in relation to the Ordnance and other War Office documents.

A Second Schedule of valueless Documents, existing or accruing in the Office of Your Majesty's Postmaster-General, prepared under the Rules approved by the Order in Council, dated 22nd May 1883, was laid before the House of Commons on the 15th of August 1889, and before the House of Lords on the following day. It related to paid postal orders.

Consideration has been given to certain classes of Records of the Oxford Circuit, with a view to drawing a schedule of those which are not worthy of preservation. The proceedings concerning them will be noticed in my next Report.

Government Departments continue to apply to the Inspecting Officers for information as to the making of schedules, and such advice is given as appears to meet the cases brought before them. In carrying out their duties, the Inspecting Officers have also had to visit other departments for the purpose of examining various documents. Specimens of documents have also been received by them for consideration.

In addition to the direct gain of space through the removal of documents from the Public Record Office, there is every year a still greater gain through the destruction of documents accruing in the several Departments of State. This is, and will be, carried out in accordance with the schedules noticed in the Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Records. The Departments are annually relieved of hundreds of tons of useless documents, and the Public Record Office is prospectively relieved to the same extent. It is not too much to say that no building of reasonable dimensions would be large enough to hold all the useless matter which, but for the operation of these schedules, would accumulate in course of years. The more valuable records of each Department which are preserved are, as a consequence of the destruction of those which are worthless, rendered more easy of access, and the task of making proper lists and descriptions of them is rendered proportionably more practicable.

On the 3rd of June 1889, Rules made by the Master of the Rolls, approved by the Lords of the Treasury, by the Lord Chancellor, and by certain of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State and other heads of Departments of the Government, for the disposal of certain documents, were laid before both Houses of Parliament, but, in the opinion of the Law Officers of the Crown, they had not lain the full period required when Parliament was prorogued.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

The following four volumes were issued during the year 1889 :—

CALENDAR OF LETTERS, DESPATCHES, AND STATE PAPERS relating to the Negotiations between England and Spain, preserved in the Archives at Simancas and elsewhere. Edited by Don Pascual de Gayangos. Vol. V. Part 2.—1536-1538.

This part of the Calendar embraces the period between the death of Queen Katharine and the interview of Pope Paul III., Charles V., and Francis I., which brought about a temporary truce. The despatches of Chapuys, the imperial ambassador, illustrate the attempt made by him to detach Henry VIII. from the alliance with France, the fall of Anne Boleyn and its political effect, and the King's marriage to Lady Jane Seymour, after some negotiations for an alliance between him and Mary of Portugal or another connexion of the Emperor had failed. In these negotiations Chapuys had the assistance of the eminent Spanish writer, Don Diego de Mendoza, of whom some account is given in the Preface.

CALENDAR OF TREASURY PAPERS preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by Joseph Redington, an Assistant Record Keeper. Vol. VI.—1720-1728.

The chief subjects of public interest which have left their mark on the papers noticed in this volume are the affairs of the South Sea Company, the resistance to the malt tax in Scotland, and the agitation about the copper coinage in Ireland, known as Wood's Halfpence. The control of the Treasury over other Departments and over individuals is well illustrated by many of the papers. The communications with the Board of Works form an interesting contribution to the topography of London. One subject which greatly exercised both Departments during these years was the defective supply of water to London and Westminster. Schemes for furnishing the western parts of London and Westminster with this indispensable commodity were much under consideration at this period. A proposal to bring the water from the River Colne met with considerable opposition. One of the reasons for the shortness of the supply was that the New River Company had cut off a branch which had served Whitehall for many years. To make up for the deficiency, the local springs were laid under contribution. Owing to the great increase of new buildings in Westminster and parts adjacent, the Chelsea Company asked for and obtained facilities for supplying the water so much needed. The early history of many of the insurance offices may be partly gathered from their memorials and petitions to the Treasury for the enlargement of their powers. Papers relating to the Newfoundland Fishery, the island of St. Christopher, complaints made by the Duchess of Marlborough, the abuse of franking letters, the transportation and maintenance of prisoners, and the right of searching Records, show the wide field over which the Treasury exercised authority.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES, preserved in the Public Record Office and elsewhere. Edited by W. Noel Sainsbury, an Assistant Record Keeper. Vol. VII.—America and West Indies, 1669–1674.

Many of the documents calendared in this volume, relating to the early settlement of Carolina, were presented to the Public Record Office by the late Earl of Shaftesbury. Some of them acquire additional interest from the fact of their having been written by John Locke, who was for a time private secretary to the first Earl, and afterwards secretary and treasurer to the Council for foreign Plantations. Virginia was at this date the most flourishing colony under English rule, and the transportation thither of felons and other prisoners was stopped with the approval of the Home Government, in January 1671. Among the other settlements whose history is illustrated by this volume, may be named Massachusetts and Maine, New York, Nova Scotia, Newfoundland, Barbadoes, Jamaica, and Surinam. The papers connected with the slave traffic, carried on chiefly by the Royal African Company, give many curious details of the sale and treatment of negroes in the West Indies.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS:—COMMITTEE FOR COMPOUNDING, &c., 1643–1660. Edited by Mary Anne Everett Green. Part I.—General Proceedings.

The committee for compounding, &c. with Royalists, or “delinquents,” for their estates, originated at the end of the year 1643, under the urgent necessity the Parliament was under to raise money for the support of the Scots’ army, and was first known as the Committee for Scottish Affairs, or the Goldsmiths’ Hall Committee, from the place where it sat. Commissioners were appointed in each county to enquire into and report upon the value of the estates sequestered; and it is with the proceedings of these Commissioners, the orders issued to them from head quarters, and the complaints against them of unfair exercise of their authority, that the bulk of the papers in this volume are concerned. Many facts in local and biographical history are thus brought to light; but the succeeding volumes, which will contain particulars of the individual cases brought before the Committee, will prove still more interesting in that respect.

The number of volumes of Calendars sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1889 was 612, making a total of 17,637.

At the end of the year there were eight volumes of this series in the press.

§ XI. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following eight volumes were issued during the year 1889 :—

LESTORIE DES ENGLIS SOLUM GEFREI GAIMAR. Edited by the late Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy, D.C.L., Deputy Keeper of the Records; continued and translated by Charles Trice Martin, B.A., F.S.A. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1878.)

This volume contains translations of the Eistoire des Engles, and of the Lai d'Haveloc le Danois, the texts of which were printed in the first volume issued in 1888. The preface treats of the few facts known about the author and his friends, and of the value of the poems as illustrations of history.

CHRONICA ROGERI DE WENDOVER, SIVE FLORES HISTORIARUM. Vol. III. Edited by Henry Gay Hewlett, Keeper of the Records of the Land Revenue. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

This volume concludes the edition of Roger of Wendover's Chronicle, which was designed to give that portion of the work only which could be accounted an original authority. In the introduction the editor has brought together all the information known about the author, as well as the opinions of modern scholars on the originality and historical value of his labours.

CHRONICLE OF HENRY KNIGHTON, Canon of Leicester. Edited by the Rev. Joseph Rawson Lumby, D.D., Norrisian Professor of Divinity. Vol. I. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

The affairs of Britain from an early period down to 1335 are dealt with in this volume, the text of which is printed from two MSS. in the Cotton collection preserved in the British Museum. The chronicler proceeds upon much the same lines as Higden in his Polychronicon, an edition of which was recently completed for the Rolls Series by Dr. Lumby. A full account of the work, and of the sources from which it is edited, will be given, on the completion of the text, in the second volume.

YEAR BOOKS, EDWARD III. Years 14 and 15. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, of Lincoln's Inn, Barrister at Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

This volume, like those preceding it in the same series, helps to fill up the gap which extends in the old series of printed Year Books from the 10th year to the 17th year of Edward III. It contains reports in Norman French of cases argued and decided in the courts of Common Law, which may be regarded to a great extent as the lex non scripta of England. The fourteenth year of Edward III. is memorable for the abolition by statute of one of the distinctions between the Norman or French ruler and the English subject, known as the Presentment of Englishry. Among the most remarkable proceedings reported in this volume are those connected with the arraignment of Willoughby (late Chief Justice), with other judges and high officers, for corrupt practices in the administration of the law.

CHRONICLE OF ADAM MURIMUTH, with the CHRONICLE OF ROBERT OF AVESBURY. Edited by Edward Maunde Thompson, LL.D., F.S.A., Principal Librarian and Secretary of the British Museum. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

The Chronicle of Murimuth, who flourished between 1274 and 1347, extends from 1303 to the time of his death, but previous to the year 1337 the information given is very meagre. Robert of Avesbury's Chronicle is described as a military history of the reign of Edward III. to the year 1356. Ecclesiastical and civil affairs are hardly noticed in it; expeditions, negotiations, and treaties form the chief material of his work, the value of which is greatly enhanced by the correspondence and documents embodied in the text. Among the chief events described at some length by one or other of these chroniclers are:—The expedition to Flanders in 1338; the invasion of France in 1339; the naval battle of Sluys in the following year, and the siege of Tournay; the Earl of Northampton's campaign in Brittany in 1342; the great tournament at Windsor in 1344; the Earl of Lancaster's expeditions to Guienne and Aquitaine; Edward's capture and sack of Caen, his victory at Crécy, and the siege of Calais. The invasion of England by the Scots, the battle of Neville's Cross, and the Black Death are among the few home affairs treated of by Murimuth.

WILLELMI MONACHI MALMESBIRIENSIS DE REGUM GESTIS ANGLORUM, LIBRI V.; ET HISTORIÆ NOVELLÆ, LIBRI III. Edited by William Stubbs, D.D., Bishop of Oxford. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1883.)

The principal contributions to the history of his own times made by William of Malmesbury are to be found in the fifth book of the Gesta and in the Historia Novella; some parts of the latter are, however, little more than notes, which the author must have meant to work up later in better form. Among the chief events which he illustrates with new matter are Henry's imprisonment at Rouen, in the reign of William Rufus, and his murder of Conan there; the siege and surrender of Shrewsbury; the battle of Tenchebrai; the Scottish succession in the sons of Malcolm and Margaret; the planting of the Flemings in Roos; and the relations between England and Flanders. His stories and notices of Philip I. and Lewis VI.; of Count Robert of Meulan and Bishop Roger of Salisbury, both of whom he knew personally; of Ireland and the Irish; and of Henry's character and administration, are very important.

CHARTULARY OF THE ABBEY OF ST. THOMAS THE MARTYR, DUBLIN. Edited by John Thomas Gilbert, F.S.A., M.I.R.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1888.)

The abbey of St. Thomas was founded in 1177, four years after the canonization of Archbishop Thomas Becket, and this chartulary consists mainly of transcripts of documents relative to the churches, lands, possessions, and rights acquired by it in various parts of Ireland during the first century of its existence. Next to Henry II. and King John, the principal benefactors of the abbey were the Anglo-Norman adventurers, concerning whose settlement in Ireland the chartulary is said to be the earliest record extant.

THE LETTER-BOOKS OF THE MONASTERY OF CHRIST CHURCH, CANTERBURY. Edited by Joseph Brigstocke Sheppard, LL.D. Vol. III. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

This concluding volume comprises the correspondence of the Prior and Convent of Christ Church from the year 1375 down to the time of Henry VIII. The letters here printed, like those contained in the two preceding volumes, derive their interest from the glimpses they give of ecclesiastical life, rather than from their bearing on the general history of the period they cover. There are, however, in it two confidential letters of Archbishop Arundel, written about the time of his disgrace and exile by Richard II., and a remarkable speech addressed on behalf of the Crown to the Parliament assembled before Edward IV. undertook the invasion of France in 1475, besides a few other documents referring to public affairs.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1889 has been 1,383, making a total of 49,457.

At the end of the year there were twelve works belonging to this series in the press, and four others in course of preparation, as follows :—

In the Press :—

ICELANDIC SAGAS, AND OTHER HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS relating to the Settlements and Descents of the Northmen on the British Isles. Vols. III.-IV. Translated by Sir George Webbe Dasent, D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1859.)

CHARTULARY OF THE ABBEY OF RAMSEY. Vol. III. Edited by the late William Henry Hart, F.S.A., and the Rev. Ponsonby Annesley Lyons. (Publication sanctioned in 1882.)

CHARTERS AND DOCUMENTS, ILLUSTRATING THE HISTORY OF THE CATHEDRAL AND CITY OF SARUM, 1100-1300 forming an Appendix to the Register of S. Osmund. Vol. III. Edited by the late Rev. W. H. Rich Jones, M.A., F.S.A., and the Rev. W. D. Macray, M.A., F.S.A., Rector of Ducklington. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

FLORES HISTORIARUM. Edited by Henry Richards Luard, D.D., Fellow of Trinity College, Registrar of the University, and Vicar of Great St. Mary's, Cambridge. Vols. I., II., and III. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

RANULE DE GLANVILL; TRACTATUS DE LEGIBUS ET CONSUETUDINIBUS ANGLIÆ, &c. Edited and translated by Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C., D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A., Barrister at Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUNDS ABBEY. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

REÇUEIL DES CRONIQUES ET ANCHIENNES ISTORIES DE LA GRANT BRETAGNE A PRESENT NOMME ENGLETERRE, par JEHAN DE WAURIN. Vol. V. 1443-1461. Edited by the late Sir William Hardy, F.S.A., and Edward L. C. P. Hardy, F.S.A., Barrister at Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

CHRONIOLES OF THE REIGNS OF STEPHEN, HENRY II., AND RICHARD I. Vol. IV. Edited by Richard Howlett, Barrister at Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

THE TREATISE "DE PRINCIPUM INSTRUCTIONE," of GIRALDUS CAMBRENSIS; with an Index to the first four volumes of the "Works of Giraldus Cambrensis," edited by the Rev. J. S. Brewer. Edited by George F. Warner, assistant keeper of the Department of MSS., British Museum. (Publication sanctioned in 1883.)

In course of Preparation :—

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF MANUSCRIPTS RELATING TO THE HISTORY OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. Vol. IV.; 1327, &c. Edited by the late Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy, D.C.L., Deputy Keeper of the Records, and C. Trice Martin, B.A., F.S.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

THE HISTORIANS OF THE CHURCH OF YORK AND ITS ARCHBISHOPS, Vol. III. Edited by the Rev. James Raine, M.A., Canon of York, and Secretary of the Surtees Society. (Publication sanctioned in 1872.)

THE RED BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER. Edited by the late W. D. Selby, of the Public Record Office. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

PARLIAMENTARY PETITIONS, &c. of the Reign of Edward I. Edited by F. W. Maitland, M.A., Barrister at Law (Publication sanctioned in 1889.)

The material reduction of the amount voted in Parliament for the publication of documents connected with the history of this country prior to the reign of Henry VIII. has, in combination with other causes, prevented the undertaking of any fresh work since 1885, except the Chartulary of the Abbey of St. Thomas the Martyr, Dublin, and the Parliamentary Petitions mentioned above.

§ XII. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the Archives of the Vatican and other palaces. During the year 1889 he forwarded to this Office 10 bundles of transcripts and abstracts of documents relating to the history of Great Britain and Ireland. A fuller account of his proceedings is given in the Appendix to this Report. A scheme for making the results of his researches more accessible to students is under consideration.

VENICE :

The Calendar of State Papers and Manuscripts at Venice and elsewhere in Northern Italy relating to English affairs has made further progress at press during the year 1889. A volume dealing with the period between 1558 and 1580, begun by the late Mr. Rawdon Brown and continued by the Right Hon. G. Cavendish Bentinck, M.P., was almost ready for publication at the end of the year.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, and VIENNA :

Don Pascual de Gayangos has continued his researches. The sixth volume of his Calendar was published in 1889, as mentioned in § X.

§ XIII. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has, as in former years, been conducted at Rolls House, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commissioners.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 15th day of May 1890.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE,
Deputy Keeper of the Records.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) ESHER, M.R.

APPENDIX.

REPORT MADE TO THE RIGHT HONOURABLE THE MASTER OF THE ROLLS.

My Lord,

Rome, December 1889.

I beg to submit to your Lordship the following report:—

During the past year I have sent to the Public Record Office copies of 254 letters and about 4,500 abstracts of formal documents.

The letters are chiefly of the seventeenth century, and the formal documents of the fourteenth.

In the ninth year of Boniface IX. are many papers relating to Ireland containing characteristic particulars; some of these have been copied in full. Such matters may also be found among the papers of the succeeding years of this pope, and are not less frequent in those of Eugenius IV.

Amongst the English, Welsh, and Scotch documents are the names of—Ayleward, Aston, Angell, Attemore, Adam, Assewelle, Aslatby, Bulkeley, Bontham, Basset, Beauchamp, Botisham, Bubbewich, Burstoke alias Heyward, Barre, Baker, Brake, Brompton, Beckbury, Brook, Blake, Bradshawe, Byrd, Bug, Buddewelle, Brandmore, Borlege, Thomas Boleyn, Breuster, Bloxham, Bicton, Beaumont, Birkeheved, Berland, Bussachy, Barry, Blencansop, Carter, Ohamber, Coggeshale, Cook, Claydon, Clifford, Chandeler, Chapman, Carneby, Clopton, Chetewode, Cokerel, Conyors, Crakanthorp, Cordewainer, Dykson, Debden, Dockyng, Chesewardyn, Extone, Every, Eye, Ellienfeld, Elmeham, Elyott, Feryer, Fulborne, Faneweale, Frampton, Fulmere, Gerard, R. Gower, Gregg, Greesley, Gylberd, Glimtham, Hervy, Heyward, Hynky, Hornsea, Horneby, Hylliard, Havekok, Horkysley, Hancokes, Hundegate, Herteshorn, Holdernessee, Ive, Inglysthorpe, Irland, Jevan ap Hopkyn,—ap Jorwerth, Jowelen, Kyrkeby, Kylby, Knyvet, Ketyryng, Knapper, Lincoln, Langbrooke, Lumley, Leverington, Loncastell, Lange, Lapham, Lamkyn, Loche, Lasty, Lavyngton, Madeford, Man, Maysterson, Maldon, Moore, Madok, Margaret duchess of Norfolk, Nicoll, Norreys, Neketon, Overton, Olney of Warwick, Parys, William of Petworth, Pederton, ap Philip, Poklington, Purcel, Percy, Powys, Pole, Partryk, Pulleham, Podsmore, Parker, Rhys, Repynton, Raby, Rous, Raynald, Rockefort, Rankyn, Rees, Roche, Ryssheton, Sutton ap Reys, Spicer, Segrave, Speller, Sadeler, Solby, Shelton, Sinyker, Scot of Allesley, Stokes, Smerley, Stapelford, Sadelere of Colchester, Scherley, Schepisheved, Sabysfort, Skylling, Skogan, Richard Stanley, Staynton, Tyttesbury, Tailor, Twiteney, Tythemersh, Talmago, Thomas de Bramston, Thrilkeld, Tunstall, Usk, Vaughan, John Wykeham, William of Wykeham, Ware, Wilughby, William of Petworth, Wynterton, Walshe, Wakefeld, Withington, Warner, Wychwode, Wode of Bawdesey, Wormeclyf, Wyllys, Wallere, Richard Wyttyngton, citizen of London, Nicolas Wykeham, Watton, Wodevyll, Wodeloke.

Many documents relate to monasteries and other religious houses.

Many litigious cases are taken to Rome, on appeal, and decided; of these several are of interest apart from the matter in dispute, as the petitions, in which local and social particulars appear, are rehearsed in the brief sent from Rome.

Among the transactions of the ninth and following years of Boniface IX. are the following:—The parish church of Hursley is united to the chapel of St. Elizabeth, near Winchester. Marriage dispensations are granted to John Wolfe and Margaret Westell, to Nicolas Fanut and Alice Tykull, to John del Croft and Dionitia de Calton, to Thomas son of Richard Holden and Helen daughter of Robert Holden, to Malachy son of Bernard Mequiernan and Lassyrme daughter of Fergall Mequiernan, to Maurice son of John Geraldine and Johanna daughter of Maurice ———, to William Butler and Elia daughter of Nicolas Poer. to Henry Pakenham and Margaret Mountney, to Trahar ap Philip and Elizabeth Verch Thomas ap Jorwerth, to David Wogan and Anastasia Stanton, to Nicolas Sembloud and Helen Esithe, to T. Macdonnell and Katharine Cathali, to Thomas and Mary de Burgo, to William son of John de Burgo and Johanna daughter of Robert Joy, to Richard Laxham and Catherine Wilhelm, to Geoffry de Trafford and Marion Parker, to David ap Gethynt and Eva ———, to William Woday of Holt and Margery Woday, to William Hattewy of Hertlebery and Agnes Attewalle, to Thomas Acteton and Joan, relict of William Hamond, to Henry Grendon and Elizabeth Pesahale, to Ralph de Ever and Matilda de Graysoke, to Robert Pilkynston and Catherine daughter of John of Aynesworth de Peke, to Donald Ycaym and Borgayll daughter of Dennis O'Sullivan, to John Segrim of Haverill and Matilda Fryton or Godelak, to David Twmok and Ilengwent Madec, to David ap Howell ap Griffut and Angharet Verch Richard, to Rys ap Howel and Erdulul, daughter of Griffith, to James Haryngton and Helen widow of Robert Clyfton, to Robert Langles and Johanna de Burgo, to Ralph son of Ralph Radelyf of Thorleton and Helen daughter of John Massey of Tatton, to Walter Bremingham and Devoorgyl Ingieeadlay, to Richard le Rocout of Kyngeley and Margaret daughter of William Daniel of Deresbury, to Thady Macdorethaich and Edma Macyheligi, to Thomas de Trafford and Margery daughter of Robert de Hilton, to Fergall Maceocigan and Gramis Jumiesean, to Henry Hoghton and Johanna Radecluf, to John son of William de Roos and Margery daughter of Philip le Despensser, to William de Willoughby and Joan duchess of York.

In 1398 the church of Highfield is united to New College, Oxford, and provision is made for the cemetery of St. Mary Winton College. Richard Tyttesbury is concerned in disturbances at Oxford. There are documents relating to the will of Margaret Duchess of Norfolk, to the marriage dispensation of William Dent and Margaret de Halmathby, to the chantry of Depedene, to the cemetery of Dunnesby near Kippinghall, adjoining which certain persons kept a public-house, to the hospital founded by John Barstaple of Bristol, to the canonization of Richard, Archbishop of Armagh in the tenth year of Boniface IX. Letters are written to superiors and members of religious orders on the union of benefices, and granting various privileges and dispensations to William Clay, to Ralph Selby, to William Beverley, who, in his petition, gives details of the events of a day spent in company with an acquaintance at Bletchingley, to Henry Chichele, to John Cranmore, to the prior of Stoke on behalf of Alice relict of John Elington, who, together with Robert Rowley, had come to blows with Thomas Spermor, to Simon Russell, to John de la Pole, to the Bishop of Lichfield for a marriage dispensation between Thomas son of Richard and Helen daughter of Robert Holden, to the Dean of St. Paul's, in the suit between Andrew Thorp and William Burton against John Harwood, to Richard II. on the reconciliation of the King of France, and to the papal nuncio on the same business, to William Claypole, to John Lydeford, to the prior of Watton on behalf of John Branby, to the frequenters and restorers of many churches, chapels, and bridges, granting them indulgences, to Walter Bullock, to Thomas Redman, to the warden and chaplains of the Chantry of St. Mary of Metingham on the college founded by John of Norwich in the church of Raveningham, to John Malvern, rector of the almshouse of St. Catherine of Ledbury, to William Selby, to Walter Frost, to the bishop of London, and others, on behalf of John Cheyny in his suit against William Glym about a canonry of Salisbury, and the prebend of Chardstoke, and to many hundred others.

In the eleventh year of Boniface IX. there are letters as in other years of this pontificate granting offices, privileges, dispensations, and indulgences to many hundred persons. The Archbishop of York and the Abbots of Westminster and Evesham are directed to guard the rights and property of New College, Oxford. The usual appointments of notaries public are made. The suit between Thomas Tollerton and Thomas Goldington about the parish church of St. Martin, Ongar, is carried to Rome. A marriage dispensation is granted to Henry and Margaret Pakenham. Thomas Overton, rector of Great Crawley, wins his case for the payment of tithes against the prior of Tykford. St. Bennet Fink, Froad Street, London, is united to the monastery of St. Antony. William Tamworth is directed to have divine service in the chapel of St. Mary the Virgin on Bristol Bridge. The master and brothers of the hospital of St. John Baptist at Bath are allowed to bury bodies of parishioners of St. Michael in their church and cemetery. A canon of Limerick, and rector of a parish church, who has obtained an Archdeaconry without licence is deprived because he has taken fees for practising as a doctor of medicine. Several chapels of ease are allowed to be built. To those who help to repair the wooden bridges of Harkedon and Kerdington indulgences are granted. The cellarer, sacristan, and other officials of the Coventual Church of Norwich are corrected. Alice wife of John Marston of London is to be sentenced for plotting against her husband's life, and for committing adultery. The particulars of a mortal quarrel between William Darker and William Atherston, canons of Moxtoke, are given. Robert White is made prior of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in Ireland in place of Peter Holt. The prior and convent of Bruton, and the abbess and convent of Lacock make proof of their rights of patronage in several parishes. The prior and convent of Farley are exempted from ordinary jurisdiction. Walter Rede has leave to set up and teach a grammar school in any part of the kingdom. An indulgence is granted to all who pray for the souls of John and Isabella Jewe of Bath. The warden, chaplain, and scholars of St. Nicolas, Salisbury, are confirmed in their rights over certain churches and chapels. The master and chaplains of the chantry or college of St. Mary, St. David's, are confirmed in their rights over certain benefices. Henry Chichele, canon of Lincoln, is provided with canonries of Salisbury, Lichfield, and St. Martins-le-Grand, London, the parish church of Bryngton, and a canonry and prebend of Shaftesbury. John Prene, J.U.D., Dean of Dublin, has a suit against Thomas Everdon. On behalf of John Russell, vicar of St. Nicolas, Abingdon, are confirmed certain ordinances made by Ralph, Bishop of Salisbury. Richard Clement, priest of St. David's, having cut off a man's hand, who resisted him when endeavouring to hinder a grave crime, is rehabilitated and absolved. The founders of the priory of Snape give their manors of Snape and Aldeborough to the monastery of Colchester.

A vacancy in the living of Reymeston gives rise to suits which are carried to Rome in the twelfth year of Boniface IX., in which year are many entries relating to Ireland. To the sub-prior and monks of St. Pancras at Lewes are confirmed the assignments made by Prior John Oke, of various tithes and pensions in several churches and manors. The churches united to the monastery of Glastonbury are enumerated, and the rights of the monastery over them confirmed by witnesses. The churches, chapels, tithes, pensions, parcels of land, and other possessions of the monastery of St. Mary, Abingdon, are enumerated at great length, with names of tenants, and tithe payers. The privileges granted to John Dygon, canon of Plympton, by the prior and convent are confirmed; a list is given of the dishes daily allowed him. Further assignments made to the sub-prior and monks of St. Pancras, Lewes, are confirmed in detail. The confirmation by the Bishop of Ely of the appointment of Chancellor of the University of Cambridge is declared to be no longer obligatory. John Parker, beneficed in the diocese of Canterbury, is absolved from penalties attaching to the homicide of his servant, who had struck him in the face with a sheaf of arrows, some of which had been carelessly broken. Isabella daughter of Thomas Duke of Gloucester is ordered to be removed from the convent of St. Clare, near the Tower of London, and after examination by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bp. of London is to make choice of living in the world, or returning to the convent. Robert,

Bishop of Meath, is allowed to retain the parish church of Kildalk; and other privileges are granted to him. Indulgences are granted to those who repair the royal highways of Wottonway and Elbrigway, between Gloucester and London. John Elvestowe, a poor clerk, in the service of certain judges is dispensed from irregularity contracted by having to dictate and write out sentences of death, and other cases of irregularity contracted by being concerned in trials or arrests of persons, afterwards sentenced to capital punishment, are dispensed. Cases relating to Comorbania, and other local matters in Ireland, are decided. A large number of clergy are allowed to hold two or more benefices; and to many leave of absence for purposes of study or for other reasons is granted. Various privileges granted to the Abbey of Tavistock are confirmed. A dispute between the Abbot of Ramesey and the rector of Somersham about a piece of meadow land is ordered to be settled; the names of the occupiers of the land are given. The union of the parish church of Spalding to the monastery is confirmed on the testimony of certain witnesses. Bell-ringing in the tower of the parish church of St. Peter, Winchcombe, appears to have annoyed the religious of a neighbouring monastery. A dispute between Adam Usk, rector of Kemsing, and Walter Ammeney, about a canonry of Abergwilli is decided. Many like cases are ordered to be heard and adjudged.

In the thirteenth year of Boniface IX., Robert Wytton, canon of London, claims the prebend of Twyford, vacant by the death of John Danby, against John Hyldiard. Thomas More, John Wakeryng, and John of Nottingham, canons of York, and Richard Branketre, canon of Salisbury, are provided with prebends. To many beneficed clergy leave to exchange benefices, and other privileges and faculties are granted. Thomas Chandos, canon of Lincoln for sixty years, rector of Wath, is permitted to receive eighty marks a year on resigning the living. Walter Pusey, rector of Knole magna, is allowed to hold other benefices. To Robert Hallam, archdeacon of Canterbury, is addressed a brief on the suit between the Archbishop and archdeacons of Canterbury about the wills of citizens and others of the diocese. To the parishioners of Frome, amongst whom are many merchants, leave is given to have a daily mass said at the altar of St. Nicolas in the parish church and one of the smaller bells rung. The statutes of Clare College, Cambridge, are confirmed. Privileges are granted to the warden and chaplains of St. Mary's Hospital, Bridge-end, Nottingham. The parish church of Kemsyng and the chapel of Zele are united to the monastery of St. Saviour's, Bermondsey. Letters of Pope Lucius, 3 Kal: April 1183, to the prior and convent of St. Mary Magdalen, at Lanercost, are confirmed. Privileges are granted to the abbess of Godstow. A marriage case, in which John Colvyle, Emma Gedeneye, and William Talmage are concerned, presents some points of interest. John Frannceys and Thomas Stanley, canons of York, are concerned in obtaining the prebend of Masham, from which John Boor, on whom it has been conferred by the ordinary, is removed. William Nicol, vicar of Bradworthy, is to resign the vicarage of Holne. Richard Palmer is presented to the rectory of St. Clements, London. Leave of non-residence for purposes of study is granted to many beneficed clergy.

In the fourteenth year of Boniface IX. a large number of presentations are made to benefices in Ireland. The provision made by John Ilbergh in the college of St. Michael, Cambridge, for two scholars and a chaplain, having become insufficient, permission is given to apply it wholly to the two scholars. The suit between the bishop and the prior of Norwich on the appointment and remand of officials is brought to Rome. Privileges relating to the management and appropriation of their rents are granted to the master and scholars of St. Michael's College, Cambridge, and the parish church of Grundesburgh is united to the college. John Pygot, having exchanged livings with John of Newbury, has a dispute with Robert Selby about the rectory of Rosse in Holderness. The union of four parish churches to the college founded in Oxford by Thomas bishop of Durham for sixteen persons, of whom eight were to be monks of Durham and eight secular clergy, is confirmed. The manor of Waddon and parish church of Croydon are united to the monastery of Bermondsey.

In the fifteenth year of Boniface IX. several persons are appointed notaries public. Thomas Brake, rector of Oundell, has got into trouble by cutting down and carrying off trees and brushwood in the woods of the abbot of Peterborough. William of Chester, canon of the priory of Newburgh, on account of an impediment in speech is not obliged to sing mass in public. The dispute between the Abbot of Kirkstede and William Louth about the election of abbot is decided. Many persons are presented to benefices in Ireland and Wales. Permission to use portable altars is granted to a large number of persons in England.

Papers of the first four years of Eugenius IV. have been examined and abstracts made.

The abstracts from the Regesta are intended, as was explained in former Reports and letters, to serve as an indication to students of what is to be found in this portion of the Vatican Archives, so that those who wish to have documents copied in full may make application for what they want.

A series of volumes of Supplicationes addressed to Clement VI. is being examined, and copies or full abstracts of those of the first two years of that pontificate will be sent to England in January 1890. The following is a single specimen :—

In a petition addressed to Clement VI. by the Abbot and Convent of Selby, they state that they wish to repair their church and rebuild their chapter house, dormitory, treasury, and other buildings lately destroyed by fire ; that they are suffering from floods which extend for three miles round the abbey, and in trying to keep these within bounds have spent more than two hundred pounds in works since swept away ; that they suffer from the presence of vessels and their crews, who are forced to pass that way on account of the floods ; that they have nevertheless to pay the customary dues and pensions to the King and the Archbishop of York and certain students, amounting to 140*l.* annually ; and further, that they are put to inconvenience and expense by the number of poor pilgrims and travellers going to Scotland, and they therefore petition that the parish church of Drayton be united to the monastery.

It will be some time before the object of the Commission, which is as described in my instructions, to obtain a knowledge of all documents and papers relating to the history of Great Britain, preserved in the libraries and archives in Rome, can be carried out.

While your agent is at work on one period, a volume, or bundle, or indication of a series of papers relating to another period is brought to him by an official or by some friend. He has found by experience that it is not safe to neglect either the one or the other, as the opportunity of examining the papers may be lost. He has, therefore, been unable to examine and copy papers in chronological order.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's obedient humble servant,
(Signed) W. H. BLISS.

Recorded Papers, 1849–50. 6 bundles.
Register and Digest, 1849–50. 2 volumes.

§ IV. CALENDARS. .

PATENT ROLLS:

I have stated in previous Reports that I had made arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the mediæval Patent Rolls, and that identical instructions had been given to the different officers employed upon the work. Reserving the reign of Henry III. for future treatment, the object of my scheme is to provide an English Calendar to these invaluable documents from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. inclusive. The work has been started at four points:—

Edward I.—The Calendar beginning with the tenth year of the reign was sent to the printers shortly before the end of 1890.

Edward II.—Four sheets of the Calendar beginning with the first year of the reign had been passed for press by the end of 1890.

Edward III.—The whole of the Calendar dealing with the first seven rolls of the reign had been passed for press by the end of 1890, and the Index was in course of preparation.

Richard II.—Some progress was made with the Calendar beginning with the first year of the reign.

Certain initial difficulties having been overcome, I hope that this important series of Calendars will proceed steadily.

ANCIENT DEEDS:

The first volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds mentioned in previous Reports was issued in 1890. (See § X.)

The materials for a second volume of equal size were almost ready at the end of the year.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE:

Further progress has been made with the Calendar of mediæval Letters, Diplomatic Documents, Papal Bulls, and the like. The first volume will deal with the reigns of Richard I., John, and Henry III.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII.:

Mr. J. Gairdner, who has been assisted by Mr. R. H. Brodie, has proceeded with the important Calendar of all historical documents in England relating to the reign of Henry VIII. The first part of Volume XII. was issued in 1890. (See § X.) The second part of the volume was in the press at the end of the year.

STATE PAPERS, RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH:

The fifth volume of Mr. H. C. Hamilton's Calendar was issued in 1889. (See § X.) A sixth volume was in the press at the end of the year.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I.:

A volume of Mr. W. D. Hamilton's Calendar of Domestic State Papers, extending from October 1644 to June 1645 was issued in 1890. (See § X.) Another volume was in the press at the end of the year.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES:

Mr. W. N. Sainsbury has made further progress with a Calendar of Documents relating to the East Indies in 1630 and succeeding years.

HOME OFFICE PAPERS:

A large amount of material has been collected for a Calendar of Home Office Papers of the reign of William and Mary preserved in the Public Record Office.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.

RETURN OF MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT :

The Index to the second volume of the Return of Members of Parliament issued in 1878 has been much retarded by the serious illness of the officer who was engaged upon it. It was, however, almost ready for publication at the end of the year 1890.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress has been made with the tabular Index of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive. It now awaits final revision.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery before the accession of Elizabeth, has been temporarily suspended in consequence of pressure of other work.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The similar List of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, but not noticed in the three volumes issued by the Record Commission in 1827-1832, has been continued. At the end of the year 1890, it was almost ready for despatch to the printers.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS :

Further progress has been made with the exhaustive List of the Accounts of Ministers appointed to collect rents and other issues of land^a. Part of the First Section, dealing with all Ministers' Accounts prior to the reign of Henry VII., was in the press at the end of the year 1890.

COURT ROLLS :

Further progress has been made with the comprehensive List of all the Manorial Rolls preserved in the Public Record Office, which has been mentioned in previous Reports. It will, I hope, go to press in the course of the present year.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURT OF REQUESTS :

Further progress has been made with the tabulated List of the Bills, Answers, &c. of the Court of Requests, hitherto unnumbered and inaccessible to the public, as mentioned in previous Reports.

DECLARED ACCOUNTS :

A List of all the Declared Accounts of the Pipe Office which it is proposed to retain in the Public Record Office, mentioned in my last Report, has been revised and prepared for press.

JUDICIAL ROLLS :

Further progress has been made with the comprehensive list of Judicial Rolls mentioned in my last Report.

ANCIENT PETITIONS :

In the course of the arrangement of the miscellaneous documents of the Chancery mentioned in previous Reports, a large number of ancient Petitions to the King, to the King and Council, and to the Council, have been found in various places. These have now been brought together and added to the class hitherto known as "Parliamentary Petitions." On the other hand, many documents which had been placed by error among the Parliamentary Petitions have been transferred to their proper classes. This re-arrangement has caused so many changes that it has been thought expedient to re-number all the Petitions and to prepare an alphabetical index to them which will entirely supersede the list printed in the Thirty-Fourth Report (App. pp. 1-162). The effect of these changes has been nearly to double the number of documents in this class.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the four previous years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described, especially with regard to the early records of the Chancery and the Exchequer.

The classes hitherto known as Parliamentary Petitions, Privy Seals, Signed Bills, Letters Missive, and Royal Letters, have been found to contain many documents which ought properly to be elsewhere, and it has been deemed expedient to make numerous transfers from one class to another, as well as to add to these classes from miscellaneous bundles, files, and portfolios.

Some account of this important work will be given in a future Report, and also some examples of the different kinds of warrants for the use of the Great Seal and the Privy Seal, and for certain issues from the Exchequer.

The Assize Rolls, the Gaol Delivery Rolls, and certain other judicial rolls have been re-arranged and numbered consecutively with a view to the preparation of the List mentioned in § V. Considerable additions have been made to these classes from various collections of miscellaneous documents hitherto inaccessible to the public.

Large additions have also been made to the class of Ancient Deeds.

§ VII. OPERATIONS BY WORKMEN.

—	Rolls, Files, or Suits.	Bundles.	Membranes.	Leaves.	Volumes.
Numbered -	662	1,960	48,423	7,365	1,257

The classes to which most attention has been given have been Ancient Deeds, Series A. B. C. and D., Petitions (Various), Privy Seals and Signed Bills (Richard II.—Henry VIII.), Assize Rolls, Certificates of Residence, Court Rolls (Various), Log Books, Duchy of Lancaster Pleadings, State Papers, Ireland (Elizabeth), War Office Pay Lists, Treasury Board Papers (George, I.), &c., &c.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

I stated in my last Report (p. 13) that in December, 1889, I wrote a letter drawing the attention of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury to the unsatisfactory condition of the range of houses in Chancery Lane belonging to this Department. After a careful investigation of all the circumstances, their Lordships concurred in the view expressed in that letter, and they were pleased to suggest that the Office of Works should be requested to confer with me as to the extension of the General Repository of Records designed by the late Sir James Pennethorne. Some plans were accordingly prepared, and various questions connected with them were under consideration at the end of 1890.

I stated in my last Report (p. 12) that 116 electric lights had been put up in the Search Rooms and some of the adjoining corridors, lobbies, and lavatories. The supply of the necessary current from the main of the Metropolitan Electric Supply Company was provided at the beginning of 1890, and the result has been highly satisfactory.

Considering the frequent applications that are made for permission to have documents in the Public Record Office reproduced by photography, it has been thought desirable to provide a studio, and the Commissioners of Your Majesty's Works have erected a small building for the purpose on the vacant land adjoining Fetter Lane.

The duties of the Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of the above-mentioned Act, have been carried on as heretofore.

The new Rules made by the Master of the Rolls "for the disposal of documents which are not of sufficient value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office," were again laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 11th of February 1890, and having lain before both Houses the full term of sixty days, as prescribed by the Act, were approved by your Majesty in Council on the 30th of June following. They are as follows:—

"I, the Right Honourable WILLIAM BALIOL, BARON ESHER, of Esher, in the county of Surrey, Master of the Rolls, in exercise of the power conferred upon me by the first section of the Public Record Office Act, 1877, do hereby make the Rules following:—

1. The documents of Courts mentioned in the third section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838, and of departments of the Government, or otherwise within the meaning of the Act, shall be inspected by Officers specially appointed for the purpose by the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, upon the recommendation of the Master of the Rolls, to retain office during his pleasure.

2. The Inspecting Officers shall be not less than three in number. One shall be the Deputy Keeper of the Records, one an Assistant Record Keeper. If neither of these be a barrister of seven years' standing, there shall be besides these a barrister of not less than seven years' standing.

3. The Inspecting Officers shall keep minutes of their proceedings, for the information, if necessary, of the Master of the Rolls and the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and mention therein every document, or class of documents, which they may examine.

4. The Inspecting Officers shall prepare one schedule at least in every year "of the documents for the time being proposed to be disposed of, containing a list of the documents, and such particulars as to their character and contents as may be calculated to enable the Houses of Parliament to judge of the expediency of disposing of such documents" in the proposed manner.

5. When the documents of any department of the Government deposited in the Public Record Office are to be taken into consideration, the head of that department shall appoint some Officer specially conversant with such documents to act with the Inspecting Officers.

6. When documents existing, or, in ordinary course, about to exist, in the Office of any department of the Government are to be taken into consideration, the head of that department shall appoint some Officer specially conversant with such documents to prepare a schedule of the documents for the time being proposed to be disposed of, containing a list and particulars as aforesaid, and such Officer shall submit the same to the Inspecting Officers.

7. The Officer or Officers charged with the preparation of any schedule shall take every precaution against the inclusion therein of any documents which can reasonably be considered of legal, historical, genealogical, or antiquarian use or interest, or which give any important information not to be obtained elsewhere.

8. Every schedule prepared as aforesaid shall, when settled, be signed by the Inspecting Officers, and every schedule dealing with documents of any department of the Government shall, when settled, be signed by the Inspecting Officers and the Officer appointed to act with them in the matter.

9. Every schedule signed as aforesaid shall be submitted for the approval of the Master of the Rolls, and every schedule dealing with documents of any department of the Government shall, when signed as aforesaid, be submitted for the approval of the Master of the Rolls and the head of that department.

10. Every schedule approved by the Master of the Rolls, or by the Master of the Rolls and the head of a department of the Government, shall be laid before the two Houses of Parliament, as provided by the Act.

11. When a schedule of documents existing in the Public Record Office, prepared and approved as aforesaid, shall have lain before both Houses of Parliament for a period of not less than four weeks, the Inspecting Officers shall take measures for the disposal of the documents mentioned therein in the proposed manner.

12. When a schedule of documents existing, or in ordinary course about to exist in the office of any department of the Government, prepared and approved as aforesaid, shall have lain before both Houses of Parliament for a period of not less than four weeks, the head of that department shall take measures for the disposal of the documents mentioned therein in the proposed manner.

13. The mode of disposal shall be by destruction, unless the Master of the Rolls shall direct the disposal thereof by transfer to the curators, trustees, or other governors of a library in Great Britain or Ireland. The proposed mode of disposal of the documents included in each schedule shall be mentioned in the schedule. When the documents are to be transferred to the curators, trustees, or other governors of a library, the particular library shall be named in the schedule. When the documents are to be destroyed, such destruction shall be effected under the direction of the Controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office.

14. These Rules shall take effect in place of the existing Rules, and the three Inspecting Officers already appointed, and now holding office, shall, during the pleasure of the Master of the Rolls, be the Inspecting Officers for the purposes of these Rules, that is to say:—

Henry Churchill Maxwell Lyte, Esquire, Companion of the Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Deputy Keeper of the Records.

Joseph Redington, Esquire, an Assistant Record Keeper.

Luke Owen Pike, Esquire, Barrister-at-Law.

15. Nothing contained in these rules shall be construed to affect the disposal of any documents mentioned in any schedules which have already lain, for a period of four weeks, before both Houses of Parliament, and such schedules shall have the same effect as if the rules in accordance with which they were made continued to be in force.

Schedule No. 9 of Documents of Courts mentioned in the third section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838, which was presented to both Houses of Parliament on 29th June, 1888, and afterwards withdrawn, was altered so as to allow certain of the documents included in it to be transferred to the curators of the Bodleian Library in accordance with the thirteenth of the foregoing rules. It was, however, too late to lay the Schedule before the Houses of Parliament and the matter will be referred to in my next Report.

It was stated in my last Report that consideration had been given to certain records of the Oxford Circuit. Further attention has since been bestowed on these records, and has resulted in the preparation of a Schedule of those unworthy of preservation in the Public Record Office. The Schedule was laid before the House of Commons on the 30th of June and before the House of Lords on the 1st of July last, and remained before the two Houses for the time required by the Act.

As the result of the examination of the War Office and Ordnance Documents deposited in the Public Record Office, referred to in my last Report, a second Schedule was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 26th of June, and lay before them for the full time of four weeks, and the waste documents included therein were sent to the Stationery Office in August for destruction. In the preparation of this Schedule the Inspecting Officers were again assisted by Mr. Hastie, who, as stated in my last Report, was nominated for the purpose by the War Department.

The amount of the waste thus disposed of was 34 tons 17 cwt. of paper, and 12 cwt. of parchment.

A very careful examination has been made of the Admiralty Log Books and Journals, with a view to the preparation of a Schedule of those which are not worthy of preservation in the Public Record Office, as well as to ascertain what better arrangement of the rest could be made to render them more accessible. The result arrived at will appear in a subsequent Report.

Proposals have been received by the Inspecting Officers with regard to certain of the County Courts Records.

A draft of a portion of a proposed Schedule of valueless documents in the Department of the Charity Commissioners has been under examination by the Inspecting Officers. Mr. Enderby of that office was nominated to prepare the Schedule and attended at the Public Record Office to confer with the Inspecting Officers in relation to it.

Mr. Edward Belshaw, having been nominated by the Department of Science and Art to confer with the Inspecting Officers for the settlement of a Schedule of valueless documents in that department, attended at the Public Record Office, and progress was made with the consideration of the Schedule.

Mr. Rigg of the Royal Mint attended at the Public Record Office in September last, to enquire as to the preparation of another Schedule of Documents connected with that Department. He was advised in respect to the same, but the Inspecting Officers have not been informed of any further progress in the matter.

A draft Schedule of Documents in the custody of the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen was brought under the consideration of the Inspecting Officers in November last.

Some correspondence has taken place as to documents in the Land Registry Office.

Various War Office and Ordnance documents in the Public Record Office, other than those above referred to, have been under consideration.

The destruction of valueless documents of the different Government Departments, in accordance with the recommendations in the several schedules relating to them, has continued to be carried on under the direction of the Controller of Her Majesty's Stationery Office.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

The following seven volumes were issued during the year 1890:—

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS AND MANUSCRIPTS relating to English Affairs preserved at Venice and elsewhere in Northern Italy. Vol. VII. 1558–1580. Edited by Rawdon Brown and the Right Hon. G. Cavendish Bentinck, M.P.

The entries in this volume down to the end of the year 1564 were edited by Mr. Cavendish Bentinck from translations made by Mr. Rawdon Brown, who was engaged upon this Calendar from 1862 until his death in 1883; for the abstracts and translations of documents dated between 1565 and 1580 inclusive, Mr. Bentinck made himself solely responsible.

During the whole of the period covered by this volume there was no ambassador from the Signory resident in England. The information to be derived from the Venetian archives is therefore comparatively scanty. Fortunately, however, Mr. Rawdon Brown discovered at Mantua a very interesting series of letters written from London, during the first six months of the reign of Elizabeth, by a person signing himself "Il Schifanoja." Many incidental notices of English affairs are also to be found in the despatches of the Venetian ambassadors in France and in Spain. A letter of the year 1575, from four gentlemen of the retinue of Giovanni Michiel, gives a curious account of their visit to Windsor, and their interviews with Elizabeth and her ministers.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS :—COMMITTEE FOR COMPOUNDING, &c., 1643–1660. Part II. Cases. Edited by Mary Anne Everett Green.

Part I, published in 1889, contained an abridged account of the general proceedings of this committee during the whole period of its existence. Part II. is entirely occupied with the cases of individual “delinquents,” or Royalists, who were brought before the Committee between the years 1643 and 1646, in order that they might compound for their estates. All petitions and orders on the cases, with other papers needful for its history, are calendared, but certificates, particulars of estates, dispositions, letters, reports, and the like, are merely indicated by marginal references, which will enable topographers and genealogists to obtain further details by reference to the original books and papers preserved in the Public Record Office. Even on this limited scale, the Calendar of cases will occupy three volumes, or parts, and the index to the general proceedings and the cases will occupy one more. Mrs. Green has in her brief preface called attention to the fact that clergymen and lawyers were fined at higher rates than others, on the score that they ought to be better informed as to the merits of the contest between Charles I. and the Parliament.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, of the reign of Charles I. 1644–1645. Edited by William Douglas Hamilton, F.S.A., of the Public Record Office.

The papers described in this volume extend over nine months only, viz. from the beginning of October 1644 to the end of June 1645, but the period to which they refer is specially important. Most of them are of a military character. In them will be found particulars concerning the new model army of Sir Thomas Fairfax, and the campaign of 1645, which ended in the decisive battle of Naseby. Some intercepted letters, known as the Sherburn collection, from their having been taken in the fight near Sherburn, are inferior in interest to those only which were taken at Naseby, and published in “The King's Cabinet opened.” Several letters of Henrietta Maria have also been found among the State Papers, and they are printed for the first time under their respective dates. Some papers relating to the quarrel between the Earl of Manchester and Cromwell supplement those which were printed by the Camden Society in 1875.

CALENDAR OF LETTERS AND PAPERS, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII., preserved in the Public Record Office, in the British Museum, and elsewhere in England. Vol. XII. Part I. 1537. Edited by James Gairdner, an Assistant Record Keeper.

This volume deals with the first five months of 1537. At the beginning of the year, the North of England was still in a state of rebellion, and the papers illustrate the efforts made by the King to regain his authority without appearing to concede too much. The position of the rebels was at one time so strong that they were almost able to dictate their own terms. Hence Henry's conference with Aske, to whom a safe conduct to London was given. The failure, however, of the rebels to take Hull or Scarborough foreshadowed the collapse of their undertaking.

Other remarkable episodes of this date were Cardinal Pole's visit to Henry, under instructions from the Pope either to bring him back to his obedience or to fan the flame of rebellion, and the calling of a council of bishops and divines to determine matters of doctrine.

This volume contains also many particulars concerning the examination of the monks of Whalley, the proceedings against the monks of Furness, the condemnation and execution of the abbot of Kirkstead, Thomas Moigne, and other rebels in Lincolnshire, and other measures taken by Sir William Parr against certain of the regular clergy.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND of the reign of Elizabeth. Vol. V. 1592-1596. Edited by Hans Claude Hamilton, F.S.A., late an Assistant Record Keeper.

The present volume contains abstracts of papers illustrating the project for a grand rebellion in Ireland, which was supported by the King of Spain in revenge for the defeat of the Armada. A prime mover in the matter was McGawran, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Armagh, and several men of importance swore to aid the Spanish Navy. The Earl of Tyrone at one time made a show of much grief at being accused of disloyalty, and in the autumn of 1593 he professed to be doing all in his power against the Queen's enemies. By degrees, however, he came out more boldly as an enemy of the English Government. In September 1595, he wrote to King Philip that if he would send 2,000 or 3,000 soldiers with money, the faith of the Church would be restored, and the kingdom of Ireland secured for him. The volume published last year closes before the actual outbreak of Tyrone's rebellion. Preparatory to this, it gives accounts of alternate fights and parleys at a very critical period.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF ANCIENT DEEDS in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records, Vol. I.

The Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds which was mentioned in my last four Reports has been continued during the past year, and a volume has been issued, giving abstracts of 5,397 deeds, viz. :—

Series A.—Nos. 1 to 1,819. Ancient Deeds of the Treasury of the Receipt of the Exchequer, formerly preserved at the Chapter House, Westminster.

Series B.—Nos. 1 to 1,798. Ancient Deeds of the Court of Augmentations.

Series C.—Nos. 1 to 1,780. Ancient Deeds of the Court of Chancery, formerly preserved at the Tower of London and the Rolls Chapel.

Most of the Deeds described in this volume are conveyances of land, but there are among these also agreements, bonds, acquittances, wills, and other documents concerning private persons, ranging in date from the twelfth century to the sixteenth.

CALENDAR OF LETTERS, DESPATCHES, AND STATE PAPERS relating to Negotiations between England and Spain, preserved in the Archives at Simancas and elsewhere. Edited by Don Pascual de Gayangos. Vol. VI. Part I. Henry VIII. 1538–1542.

In July 1538, when this volume begins, Eustace Chapuys was still the Emperor's representative in England, but he was assisted by Diego de Mendoza, who had come over for the purpose of arranging a marriage between Henry and the dowager Duchess of Milan. The lengthy account by the two envoys of their negotiations in this matter, which is preserved in the imperial archives at Vienna, is one of the remarkable papers noticed in the volume. It was not until March 1539, when the political relations of England with Spain, France, and the Pope had become strained, that Chapuys received orders to ask for his passport, and Henry's ambassador in Brussels, Wriothesley, was peremptorily commanded to return home. Chapuys was succeeded at the English court for a short time by the Dean of Cambray, Philip Maioris, but he returned to London in July 1540. Don Pascual de Gayangos has, in the preface to this volume, called special attention to the correspondence of Marillac, who was the French ambassador to Henry between 1538 and 1543, as illustrating English affairs at that period.

§ XI. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

CHRONICLES OF THE REIGNS OF STEPHEN, HENRY II., AND RICHARD I. Edited by Richard Howlett, F.S.A., Barrister-at-Law. Vol. IV. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

In this volume, which concludes the series, is printed, for the first time in England, the chronicle of Robert of Torigni, with some additional matter supplied by a monk of Bec, and designated by the editor as the Continuatio Beccensis. Robert of Torigni was elected abbot of Mont St. Michel in 1154, and he continued in that office until his death in 1186. He was in some respects well qualified to compile a chronicle, for he went twice to England, and his monastery was visited from time to time by kings, nobles, and ecclesiastics of every grade, who were able to keep him informed of current events. Mr. Howlett does not, however, claim for him a very high rank among monastic annalists.

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUND'S ABBEY. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A., Fellow of the Royal University of Ireland. Vol. I. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

This volume contains the Passio Sancti Eadmundi by Abbo of Fleury, two accounts of the miracles ascribed to St. Edmund, written respectively by Herman the Arch-deacon and Abbot Samson, and containing many illustrations of mediæval life, the story of the infancy of St. Edmund, by Geoffrey de Fontibus, and the chronicle of Jocelin de Brakelonde, which supplied material for a great part of Carlyle's Past and Present. The Appendix contains various documents and extracts connected with the subject of the work.

FLORES HISTORIARUM. Edited by the Rev. H. R. Luard, D.D., Fellow of Trinity College, and Registry of the University, Cambridge. Vols. I., II., and III. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

The chronicle, or series of chronicles, contained in these volumes, and now published for the first time in its integrity and from the earliest manuscript, has hitherto passed under the name of Matthew of Westminster. No English chronicle, if we may judge from the number of manuscript copies of it which still exist, and from the use made of it by subsequent writers, has been more popular. The question of its authorship has been discussed during the present century by such eminent scholars as Sir Francis Palgrave, Sir Frederick Madden, and Sir T. Duffus Hardy, without any satisfactory result, and the present editor finds himself unable to speak with any certainty on the matter.

In the preface to Volume I., Dr. Luard gives a critical account of the different manuscripts which exist, and explains the circumstances under which the chronicle was attributed to a person said to have been called Matthew of Westminster. In the preface to Volume III. he discusses the historical value of the additions which the anonymous compiler made to original authorities such as Roger of Wendover and Matthew Paris.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1890 has been 1,651, making a total of 51,108.

At the end of the year there were nine works belonging to this series in the press, and three others in course of preparation, all of which, with one exception, were undertaken before my appointment to be Deputy Keeper of the Records.

In the Press:—

ICELANDIC SAGAS, AND OTHER HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS relating to the Settlements and Descents of the Northmen on the British Isles. Vols. III.—IV. Translated by Sir George Webbe Dasent, D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1859.)

CHARTULARY OF THE ABBEY OF RAMSEY. Vol. III. Edited by the late William Henry Hart, F.S.A., and the Rev. Ponsonby Annesley Lyons. (Publication sanctioned in 1882.)

CHARTERS AND DOCUMENTS, ILLUSTRATING THE HISTORY OF THE CATHEDRAL AND CITY OF SARUM, 1100—1300, forming an Appendix to the Register of St. Osmund. Vol. III. Edited by the late Rev. W. H. Rich Jones, M.A., F.S.A., and the Rev. W. D. Macray, M.A., F.S.A., Rector of Ducklington. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

RANULF DE GLANVILL; TRACTATUS DE LEGIBUS ET CONSUETUDINIBUS ANGLIÆ, &c. Edited and translated by Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C., D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A., Barrister at Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

CHRONIOLE OF HENRY KNIGHTON, Canon of Leicester, to the death of RICHARD II. Edited by the Rev. Joseph Lawson Lumby, D.D. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

REÇUEIL DES CRONIKES ET ANCHIENNES ISTORIES DE LA GRANT BRETAGNE A PRESENT NOMME ENGLETERRE, par JEHAN DE WAURIN. Vol. V. 1443-1461. Edited by the late Sir William Hardy, F.S.A., and Edward L. C. P. Hardy, F.S.A., Barrister at Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

A COLLECTION OF THE CHRONIOLES OF GREAT BRITAIN NOW CALLED ENGLAND, by JOHN DE WAURIN. Edited and translated by Edward L. C. P. Hardy, F.S.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

THE TREATISE "DE PRINCIPUM INSTRUCTIONE," of GIRALDUS CAMBRENSIS; with an Index to the first four volumes of the "Works of Giraldus Cambrensis," edited by the Rev. J. S. Brewer. Edited by George F. Warner, Assistant Keeper of the Department of MSS., British Museum. (Publication sanctioned in 1883.)

THE HISTORIANS OF THE CHURCH OF YORK AND ITS ARCHBISHOPS, Vol. III. Edited by the Rev. James Raine, M.A., Canon of York, and Secretary of the Surt Society. (Publication sanctioned in 1872.)

THE RED BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER. Edited by Hubert Hall, F.S.A., of the Public Record Office. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

In course of Preparation :—

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF MANUSCRIPTS RELATING TO THE HISTORY OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. Vol. IV.; 1327, &c. Edited by the late Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy, D.C.L., Deputy Keeper of the Records, and C. Trice Martin, B.A., F.S.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUND'S ABBEY, Vol. II. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

PARLIAMENTARY PETITIONS, &c. of the Reign of Edward I. Edited by F. W. Maitland, M.A., Barrister at Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1889.)

The material reduction of the amount voted in Parliament for the publication of documents connected with the history of this country prior to the reign of Henry VIII. has, in combination with other causes, prevented the undertaking of any fresh work since 1885, except the Chartulary of the Abbey of St. Thomas the Martyr, Dublin, and the Parliamentary Petitions mentioned above.

§ XII. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series.
Vol. I. A.D. 1542-1547. Vol. II. A.D. 1547-1550.
Edited by John Roche Dasent, M.A., Barrister-at-Law.

The First Series of Acts of the Privy Council was published between the years 1834 and 1837, in seven volumes, under the editorship of Sir Harris Nicolas, K.C.M.G., and under the authority of the Commissioners of the Public Records of the Kingdom. It gave the Proceedings and Ordinances of the Privy Council from the tenth year of Richard II. (A.D. 1386) to the thirty-third year of Henry VIII. (A.D. 1542), and the work has been recently resumed at the latter point, with the sanction of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury.

The Second Series differs from the First in that it is printed in ordinary type, without abbreviations, and that an exhaustive index is included in each volume.

§ XIII. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the archives of the Vatican and other palaces, and has forwarded to this Office various transcripts and abstracts.

In October 1890, I went to Rome, with the approval of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury, and there spent some time examining certain volumes preserved at the Vatican. With a view to making the results of Mr. Bliss's researches more accessible to students, I have arranged that he shall prepare a Calendar of those entries in the Regesta of the mediæval popes which illustrate the history of Great Britain and Ireland. This Calendar, which will begin with the pontificate of Innocent III. (A.D. 1198-1216) is now in course of progress.

VENICE :

A Calendar of State Papers and Manuscripts at Venice and elsewhere in Northern Italy relating to English affairs between the years 1558 and 1580, begun by the late Mr. Rawdon Brown and continued by the late Mr. G. Cavendish Bentinck, M.P., was published last year, as stated in § X. The Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury have been pleased to sanction the employment of Mr. Horatio F. Brown to collect materials for another volume, and prepare them for press.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, and VIENNA :

Don Pascual de Gayangos has continued his researches. The Seventh Part of his Calendar was published in 1890, as mentioned in § X.

§ XIV. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has, as in former years, been conducted at Rolls House, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commissioners.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 30th day of June 1891.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE,
Deputy Keeper of the Records.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) Esher, M.R.

THE FIFTY-THIRD REPORT
RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg to submit to Your Majesty a Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1891; pursuant to the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94. § 17.

The department has during that time lost the services of no less than seven officers—Mr. P. Turner, Mr. P. S. L. Hunt, Mr. H. E. Lawrance, Mr. A. C. Ewald, Mr. J. Redington, Mr. W. N. Sainsbury, and Mr. W. D. Hamilton.

Mr. P. Turner was appointed a Junior Clerk in March 1841, promoted to the Second Class as a Senior Clerk in June 1860, and again promoted to be an Assistant Record Keeper in January 1877. In the course of his long official career, he prepared many valuable calendars and indexes, among which I may specially notice the Calendar of Enrolments on the Plea Rolls of the county of Chester, successive instalments of which were printed in the Twenty-sixth and following Reports of the Deputy Keeper. Latterly he was chiefly occupied in examining and certifying office copies, a branch of the work of this Department for which his great palæographical skill made him very suitable. He retired from the public service on March 31, 1891.

Mr. P. S. L. Hunt was appointed a Junior Clerk in January 1841, promoted to the Second Class as a Senior Clerk in May 1861, and again promoted to be an Assistant Record Keeper in July 1885. His industry is attested by several very laborious calendars, such as that of Exchequer Depositions taken by commission, which was printed in the Thirty-eighth and four following Reports of the Deputy Keeper. Latterly he was chiefly occupied with a List of Bills, Answers, &c., of the Court of Requests. (See § V.) He retired from the public service on March 31, 1891.

Mr. H. E. Lawrance was appointed a Junior Clerk in September 1874, and gave high promise of becoming a very efficient officer. The principal work done by him alone has been the elaborate index to the Return of Members of Parliament (see § V.). He was engaged on the Calendar of Patent Rolls of the reign of Edward III. when his health broke down so completely that he had to retire from the public service.

Mr. J. Redington was one of the school of transcribers under the Record Commission before the passing of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94. He was appointed a Junior Clerk in the Public Record Office in April 1840, promoted to the Second Class in October 1857, and again promoted to be an Assistant Record Keeper of the First Class in October 1866. During a long and honourable official career, he has rendered valuable service to this Department in various ways. In 1878 and 1879, he edited two volumes of a Calendar of Home Office Papers of the reign of George III. covering the period from that King's accession in October 1760 to the end of 1769; and, between the years 1868 and 1889 inclusive, he edited six volumes of a Calendar of Treasury Papers covering the period between A.D. 1557 and 1728.

Mr. Redington's long experience and sound judgment made him eminently fitted to serve upon the committees appointed from time to time to weed out departmental documents not worthy of permanent preservation, and in 1882 he was appointed one of the inspecting officers under the rules made by the Master of the Rolls and approved by Your Majesty in Council for the execution of the first section of the Act of 40 & 41 Vict. c. 55. In this capacity he continued to serve until his retirement on December 31, 1891.

Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury was appointed an Extra Clerk in the State Paper Office in November 1848, and he continued there until the consolidation of that office with the Public Record Office in 1854. He was promoted to the Second Class as a Senior Clerk in August 1862, and again promoted to be an Assistant Record Keeper in November 1887. After the death of Mr. A. Kingston in April 1885, Mr. Sainsbury had the superintendence of the Departmental Search Room, and of the correspondence connected therewith. He also, between the years 1860 and 1889 inclusive, edited seven volumes of a Calendar of State Papers of the Colonial Series, of which three deal with America and the West Indies from A.D. 1574 to 1674, and four deal with the East Indies from A.D. 1513 to 1629. Another volume is now in the press (see § IV.), and although Mr. Sainsbury ceased to be a member of the permanent staff of this Department on December 31, 1891, arrangements have been made, with the sanction of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury, by which he will continue to act as editor of the Colonial Calendar.

Mr. W. D. Hamilton was appointed a Temporary Clerk to assist the Commissioners of State Papers in September, 1846, and he continued to serve in the State Paper Office until the consolidation of that Department with the Public Record Office in 1854. He was promoted to the Second Class as a Senior Clerk in July 1868, and he retired on December 31, 1891. During the greater part of his official career, Mr. Hamilton has been engaged upon a Calendar of the Domestic State Papers of the reign of Charles I., at one time as an assistant to the late Mr. John Bruce, and afterwards as sole editor. This important work is now nearly completed, and as Mr. Hamilton has an exceptional knowledge of the period, arrangements have been made, with the sanction of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury, by which he will continue to act as editor.

The vacancies among the Assistant Record Keepers caused by the retirement of Mr. P. Turner and Mr. P. S. L. Hunt were filled in April 1891, by the promotion of Mr. L. O. Pike and Mr. S. R. Scargill-Bird, and their places and that vacated by the death of Mr. A. C. Ewald, were filled by the promotion of three Junior Clerks, Mr. R. F. Isaacson, Mr. G. J. Morris, and Mr. E. G. Atkinson. For the filling of the places thus vacated, and that vacated by the retirement of Mr. H. E. Lawrance, an open competitive examination was held by the Civil Service Commissioners in June last, with the result that Mr. R. C. Fowler, Mr. S. Waive, Mr. J. V. Lyle, and Mr. M. S. Giuseppi were appointed Junior Clerks.

Letters have been received from the Foreign Office stating that the Marquis of Salisbury was of opinion that the Regulations with regard to the access of strangers to the Foreign Correspondence preserved at the Public Record Office might be revised, and greater liberality exercised without inconvenience to the public service. By his direction accordingly the Foreign Correspondence, which was, in 1879, thrown open to the public down to the year 1760, was in 1891 made accessible under certain conditions down to the year 1802, with a few reservations.

§ III. TRANSFERS.

PATENT ROLLS :

I have stated in previous Reports that I had made arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the mediæval Patent Rolls, and that identical instructions had been given to the different officers employed upon the work. Reserving the reign of Henry III. for future treatment, the object of my scheme is to provide an English Calendar to these invaluable documents from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. inclusive. The work has been started at four points:—

Edward I.—Twenty sheets of the Calendar beginning with the tenth year of the reign had been passed for press by the end of 1891.

Edward II.—Eighteen sheets of the Calendar beginning with the first year of the reign had been passed for press by the end of 1891.

Edward III.—The Calendar dealing with the first seven rolls of the reign was published 1891. (See § X.)

Nine sheets of another volume had been passed for press by the end of the year.

Richard II.—Considerable progress has been made with the Calendar.

Certain initial difficulties having been overcome, I hope that this important series of Calendars will proceed steadily.

ANCIENT DEEDS:

Eight sheets of a second volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds, mentioned in previous Reports, had been passed for press by the end of 1891.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE:

Further progress has been made with the Calendar of mediæval Letters, Diplomatic Documents, and the like. The officer in charge of it has, however, had to devote most of his time to examining and certifying copies.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII.:

Mr. J. Gairdner, who has been assisted by Mr. R. H. Brodie, has proceeded with the important Calendar of all historical documents in England relating to the reign of Henry VIII. The second part of Volume XII. was published in 1891. (See § X.)

STATE PAPERS, RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH:

Twenty sheets of a sixth volume of the Calendar of these documents had been passed for press by the end of 1891.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I.:

A volume of Mr. W. D. Hamilton's Calendar of Domestic State Papers, extending from July 1645 to December 1647, was completed at press in 1891. (See § X.)

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES:

Thirty-nine sheets of Mr. W. N. Sainsbury's Calendar of Documents relating to the East Indies in 1630 and succeeding years had been passed for press by the end of 1891.

HOME OFFICE PAPERS:

The Calendar of Home Office Papers of the reign of William and Mary, preserved in the Public Record Office, has been suspended in consequence of the death of the editor, Mr. A. C. Ewald, already mentioned.

CLOSE ROLLS:

A Calendar of the mediæval Close Rolls has been begun on a system analogous to that adopted for the Calendar of the Patent Rolls. The rolls of the reign of Edward II. have been undertaken first, partly because it may hereafter be found desirable to print the earlier rolls in extenso, and partly because the Calendar of Documents relating to Ireland, which is mainly based upon the Patent Rolls and Close Rolls, stops at the end of the reign of Edward I. A volume dealing with the first six years of the reign of Edward II. has made such good progress that twenty-six sheets had been passed for the press by the end of 1891. It will be issued very shortly.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.

RETURN OF MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT :

The Index to the second volume of the Return of Members of Parliament issued in 1878 was completed in 1891, and published by order of the House of Commons (169), together with a reprint of the Return of Members of Parliament for 1890.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress has been made with the tabular Index of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery before the accession of Elizabeth, has again been laid aside in consequence of pressure of other work.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The similar List of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, but not noticed in the three volumes issued by the Record Commission in 1827-1832, has been continued. Several sheets of it have been printed.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS :

Further progress has been made with the comprehensive List of the Accounts of Ministers appointed to collect rents and other issues of lands. A considerable part of the First Section, dealing with all Ministers' Accounts prior to the reign of Henry VII. has been printed.

COURT ROLLS :

Further progress has been made with the similar List of all the Manorial Rolls preserved in the Public Record Office, which has been mentioned in previous Reports.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURT OF REQUESTS:

Further progress has been made with the tabulated List of the Bills, Answers, &c. of the Court of Requests, hitherto unnumbered and inaccessible to the public, as mentioned in previous Reports. The work has, however, been suspended since the retirement, in March 1891, of Mr. P. S. L. Hunt, the officer who was engaged upon it.

DECLARED ACCOUNTS:

A List of all the Declared Accounts of the Pipe Office which are to be retained in the Public Record Office has been sent to press. The volume will also include a List of the Declared Accounts of the Audit Office preserved here.

PLEA ROLLS:

Further progress has been made with the comprehensive list of Plea Rolls and other Rolls of proceedings in courts of law in England and Wales.

ANCIENT PETITIONS:

The alphabetical Index to the class of Ancient Petitions mentioned in my last Report (p. 8) has been completed and sent to press.

Petitions addressed to the King, to the King and Council, to the Council, to the Parliament, to the Chancellor, and to certain other officers of State, in the thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth centuries, were generally preserved on the Chancery Files, sometimes, apparently, in separate bundles, sometimes intermixed with other documents of the period. Many of those which were at the Tower of London in 1657 had disappeared before 1775, when search was made for them in connexion with the publication of the Rolls of Parliament.

In course of time, petitions of this sort were removed from the Chancery Files, collected together, and formed into a distinct class under the name of "Parliamentary Petitions." A very large number of them were transcribed for the Commissioners on the Public Records with a view to publication, but the numbers which they then bore were afterwards superseded by an arrangement, neither chronological nor alphabetical, in which the documents were numbered from 1 to 9563. To this collection an Index, more or less alphabetical, was published in the Thirty-fourth Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Records, in 1873.

Within the last six years, several thousands of petitions analogous to the others have been found elsewhere, especially among the Miscellanea of Chancery hitherto unsorted.

These have now been added to the class to which they belong, but on examination it has been found that the class of so-called "Parliamentary Petitions," as constituted twenty years ago, comprised a great number of documents of a very different character. Many of them in fact belonged properly to other existing classes, and before adding the newly-found documents to the class of Petitions, it appeared desirable to remove all the extraneous matter therefrom. 1,746 documents have accordingly been withdrawn and distributed in the manner shown by tables in the Appendix to the Index, and the removal of these has necessitated a re-numbering of the whole collection, which will henceforth be known as "Ancient Petitions."

Casual Gascon petitions, having been intermixed with English petitions in the old collection, have been retained in the new collection, and a small batch of Gascon petitions, which used to form a separate class, has been incorporated.

On the other hand, in order to relieve the new collection of Petitions of a very large number of documents of a purely formal character (generally subsidiary to the Patent Rolls and Close Rolls), petitions from ecclesiastics for licence to elect, for royal assent to elections, and for restitution of temporalities, and also for writs de excommunicato capiendo, and the like, have been formed into a separate class, under the name of "Ecclesiastical Petitions."

In addition to 15,579 "Ancient Petitions" now brought together, as shown below, there are among the "Privy Seals and Signed Bills" many thousand petitions to the King for the issue of Letters Patent and the like, which have been retained in that class because, bearing either the Royal Sign Manual, or a memorandum of delivery to the Chancellor for execution, known as the "Livery Clause," they are direct warrants for the use of the Great Seal. A few others have also been retained in that class because they are attached to the writs of Privy Seal by which the Chancellor was ordered to give effect to them.

Other petitions to the King or the Council, generally endorsed with an order to the Keeper of the Privy Seal, may be found in the collection of warrants for the use of the Privy Seal.

Petitions to the Chancellor in his judicial capacity, between the reigns of Richard II. and Philip and Mary, inclusive, constitute the class of documents known as "Early Chancery Proceedings."

Petitions found among the records of the Exchequer, and relating directly to the ordinary business of that Department, have not been added to the class of Ancient Petitions.

Petitions to the Treasurer found among the records of the Chancery, and being of the nature of warrants to the Chancellor have also been excluded.

The documents in the class of "Ancient Petitions" have been brought together in the following manner:—

Petitions to the King, to the King and Council, to the Council, to the Parliament, and the like.

Nos.	1 to	7768.	From the so-called "Parliamentary Petitions."
"	7769	" 9971.	From the unsorted Miscellanea of Chancery.
"	9972	" 11851.	From the "Chancery Files."
"	11852	" 12791.	From the "Privy Seals."
"	12792	" 13888.	From the "Chancery Miscellaneous Portfolios."
"	13889	" 13999.	From the "Royal Letters."
"	14000	" 14635.	"Gascon Petitions."
"	14636	" 14731.	From the unsorted Miscellanea of Chancery.
"	14732	" 14740.	From a collection of Autographs.
"	14741	" 14763.	From the unsorted Miscellanea of Chancery.
"	15450	" 15570.	" " "

Petitions to the Chancellor, in his executive capacity.

Nos.	14764 to	14806.	From the so-called "Parliamentary Petitions."
"	14807	" 15064.	From the "Chancery Files."
"	15065	" 15291.	From the unsorted Miscellanea of Chancery.
"	15310	" 15324.	From the "Chancery Miscellaneous Portfolios."
"	15571	" 15578.	From the unsorted Miscellanea of Chancery.

Petitions to various Officers of State.

Nos.	15292 to	15303.	From the "Chancery Files."
"	15304	" 15309.	From the so-called "Parliamentary Petitions."
"	15325	" 15338.	From the "Chancery Miscellaneous Portfolios."
"	15339	" 15449.	From the unsorted Miscellanea of Chancery.
"	15579		" " "

Thus the general effect of the re-arrangement of the petitions has been in the first instance to reduce the number from 9,563 to 7,817, but afterwards to increase it to 15,579.

In addition to the above-mentioned petitions formerly preserved at the Tower of London, there are at the Public Record Office about a thousand petitions found among the records of the Exchequer, but in other respects similar to the Ancient Petitions of the Chancery. These have been formed into a supplementary class under the name of "Ancient Petitions—Exchequer," and they are included in the Index, with an E prefixed to their respective numbers. They have been brought together in the following manner :—

- E* 1 to 417. From the "Ancient Miscellanea of the Exchequer, Q.R."
- E* 418 „ 666. From the unsorted Miscellanea of the Exchequer.
- E* 667 „ 786. From the "Ancient Miscellanea of the Exchequer, Q.R."
- E* 787 „ 866. From the Miscellanea of the Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer.
- E* 867 „ 968. From the "Ancient Miscellanea of the Exchequer, Q.R."
- E* 969. From the so-called "Paper Documents" of the Treasury of the Receipt.
- E* 970 to 972. From the "Ancient Miscellanea of the Exchequer, Q.R."
- E* 973 „ 978. From the Miscellanea of the Treasury of the Receipt.
- E* 979 „ 995. From the "Ancient Miscellanea of the Exchequer, Q.R."

Of the foregoing the following documents were found together, having in some cases formed original files :—E 1 to 26; E 27 to 45; E 46 to 106; E 107 to 248, petitions of the Parliament which met at Westminster, 1 July, 30 Edward I.; E 249 to 261, Gascon petitions of a Parliament which met at Westminster, 33 Edward I.; E 262 to 279; E 279 to 291; E 292 to 339; E 340 to 355; E 356 to 417; E 670 to 675; E 678 to 689; E 690 to 708; E 713 to 786.

Rolls containing copies of petitions, and documents showing the proceedings taken after the receipt of petitions are not included in the class of Ancient Petitions.

Inasmuch as some of the original petitions are in French, others in Latin, and others again in English, there is great diversity in the spelling even of the most ordinary proper names, but it has not been considered desirable to retain all the varieties in the Index, and the modern form has generally been adopted.

The Index does not profess to give all the names contained in the Petitions, or to afford more than one reference to each document.

The re-arrangement of the petitions has been carried out by Mr. H. Rodney, who has also compiled the Index, with some assistance from Mr. C. G. Crump and other officers of this Department.

For the convenience of those who have taken references from documents among the so-called "Parliamentary Petitions," an Appendix is added to show how that class has been distributed.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the five previous years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described, especially with regard to the early records of the Chancery and the Exchequer.

The classes hitherto known as "Parliamentary Petitions," "Privy Seals," "Signed Bills," "Letters Missive," and "Royal Letters," belonging to the Chancery, have been found to contain many documents which ought to be elsewhere, and it has been deemed expedient to make numerous transfers from one class to another, as well as to add to these classes from sacks, bundles, files, and portfolios of a miscellaneous character.

On a previous page of this Report (§ V.) I have given some account of the recent operations upon the class of "Ancient Petitions," and these are fairly typical of operations upon other classes, particulars of which will be given in a future Report. The general result will be greatly to increase the number of documents accessible to the public.

The work of examination and classification has been conducted mainly by Mr. S. R. Scargill Bird and Mr. H. Rodney, the latter of whom has made a preliminary inspection of the contents of 769 large sacks from the Chapter House, Westminster, 23 large sacks from the Stone Tower, Westminster, more than 300 boxes and parcels from the office of the Queen's Remembrancer of the Exchequer, 50 sacks and packages from the roof of the Rolls Chapel, about 1,100 bundles of "Chancery Files," and 303 bundles of "Chancery Brevia," besides overhauling the contents of five cellars, and of boxes and bundles in various parts of the office. Documents of secondary importance being reserved for future arrangement, large additions have been made to the classes of "Judicial Rolls," "Court Rolls," "Ministers' Accounts," "Subsidies," "Inquisitiones post mortem," and "Ancient Deeds." A considerable time must, however, necessarily elapse before manuscripts thus brought to light, after centuries of neglect, can be permanently assigned to their proper places and made accessible to the public.

As specimens of historical documents hitherto entirely unknown, I give in the Appendix to this Report copies of some relating to a conspiracy against Henry V., and abstracts of some others relating to Perkin Warbeck. They were found last summer among miscellaneous records packed away in large sacks and boxes in a dark basement.

The classes to which most attention has been given have been Ancient Deeds, Series A. and C., Petitions (Various), Royal Letters, &c., Assize Rolls, Coroners' Rolls, Ministers' Accounts, Certificates of Residence, Receipt and Issue Rolls, Feet of Fines, Log Books, Audit Office, Declared Accounts, Star Chamber Proceedings, Treaties, Court Rolls, Duchy of Lancaster Pleadings, Treasury Board Papers, Privy Signet Bills, &c., &c.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

A letter was received from the Secretary of Your Majesty's Office of Works in February 1891, stating that the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury had signified their approval generally of the plans prepared by that Department for the enlargement of the permanent buildings of the Public Record Office, and had authorised a provision of 3,000*l.* in the Civil Service Estimates for the year 1891-92, on account of the proposed block of buildings facing Chancery Lane. This provision was intended for the temporary accommodation of the documents at that time stored in the old houses in Chancery Lane belonging to the Rolls estate.

A further communication on the same subject was received in the following month, to the effect that if the houses in question were demolished by February 1892, a contract for the new building could be entered into in March. A statement was added that, "the completion of the block would occupy about three years, after which the portion of the new buildings connecting the present Repository with the Chancery Lane block would be taken in hand."

In pursuance of these arrangements, the two official residences known as Nos. 6 and 12, Rolls Yard, were evacuated last autumn, and the houses numbered 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, and 20, were emptied. Some of the books and documents formerly preserved therein have been transferred to the General Repository of Records. Others have been temporarily stored in the basement of the late Judges' Chambers on the Rolls Estate, and in the roof of the Rolls Chapel. A great quantity of others, not considered worthy of permanent preservation, have been destroyed, as mentioned in § IX. The remainder, amounting in all to 124 van-loads, have been temporarily removed to the late Barge Dock at Somerset House, as mentioned in § III.

The materials of the houses numbered 5 to 20, Rolls Yard, were on 21 December sold by auction by order of Your Majesty's Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings, and the demolition of them was begun on the following day. Nos. 6 to 20 had a frontage to Chancery Lane of about 292 feet, and averaged about 36 feet in depth. Nos. 3 and 4, being occupied partly by the Official Referees to the Supreme Court of Judicature and partly by persons attached to the staff of this Department, were not included in the sale, but arrangements were made for their demolition a few months later.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of the above-mentioned Act have continued their duties in accordance with the Rules of which Your Majesty's approbation was declared by Order in Council on the 30th of June 1890.

Schedule No. 9 of Documents of Courts mentioned in the third section of the Public Record Office Act, 1838, which had been submitted to the two Houses of Parliament on the 29th of June 1888, under the Rules then in force, was again laid before the House of Lords on the 26th and before the House of Commons on the 27th of February 1891, under new Rules. After it had lain the requisite time before the two Houses, 119 sacks of Documents were, in accordance with the intention expressed in it, transferred (on the 11th of May 1891) to the Curators of the Bodleian Library at Oxford, and others were removed under the direction of the Controller of Your Majesty's Stationery Office for destruction.

The Schedule of Documents in the Department of Science and Art, with the consideration of which some progress had already been made, as stated in my last Report, was approved by the Master of the Rolls and by the Head of the Science and Art Department. It was laid before the two Houses of Parliament on the 20th of February 1891, and lay on the respective tables for the required period of four weeks.

A Schedule of Documents in the Department of the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for England, which were not considered of sufficient value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office, was prepared by Mr. Cox, of the Ecclesiastical Commission Office, and submitted to the Inspecting Officers. After having been fully considered and amended by them, it was approved by the Master of the Rolls and the Head of the Ecclesiastical Commission Department, and was laid before the House of Commons on the 13th, and before the House of Lords on the 14th of April 1891. It lay for the required period of four weeks on the tables of the respective Houses.

Two Schedules of Documents of the Department of the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral have been prepared—one of Documents which have been removed to the Public Record Office; the other of Documents existing or accruing in the Admiralty Department. The two relate largely to the same subject matter; that is to say, to certain Journals and Log Books of ships of the Royal Navy, which are superfluous, because the whole of the information which they contain, or contained, exists in a more authoritative form in other Journals and Log Books which are to be preserved. In the discussion of these Schedules the Inspecting Officers had the advantage of the assistance of Capt. Wharton, R.N., F.R.S., Your Majesty's Hydrographer, and of Commander Goalen, R.N. The relative value of the various Journals and Log Books was considered in relation to the Instructions and Regulations for the Royal Navy, a statement as to which had been drawn up, from the historical point of view by one of the Inspecting Officers. Both Schedules were approved by the Master of the Rolls and by the First Lord of the Admiralty. That relating to Documents which have been removed to the Public Record Office was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 12th of June 1891, and lay on the tables of the respective Houses for the required period of four weeks. A considerable portion of the waste has already been taken away under the direction of the Controller of Your Majesty's Stationery Office. Those Log Books and Journals which are to be preserved will eventually be re-numbered.

A Third Schedule of Documents, removed from the Office of Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the War Department to the Public Record Office, but not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation therein, was laid before the House of Lords on the 23rd, and before the House of Commons on the 26th of June 1891.

In the preparation of this Schedule the Inspecting Officers of this Department had, as before, the useful assistance of Mr. Hastie, of the War Office. The Schedule, having lain before the two Houses for the required period of four weeks, the documents were removed for destruction.

A fourth schedule of War Office documents in the Public Record Office has also been prepared, with the assistance of Mr. Hastie, and has received the approval of the Master of the Rolls, and of your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the War Department.

A schedule of documents existing or accruing in the office of your Majesty's Civil Service Commissioners was prepared by Mr. Humphreys of that Department, and submitted to the Inspecting Officers. When finally settled it was approved by the Master of the Rolls and the Civil Service Commissioners. It was laid before the two Houses of Parliament on the 2nd of July 1891, and remained on the tables of the respective Houses for the required period of four weeks.

Under the direction of the Board of Trade, Mr. J. Clark Hall, the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, prepared a schedule of documents existing or accruing in his office, which was submitted to the Inspecting Officers. As originally drawn, it included several classes of records which afford the only means of tracing the careers of seamen, together with other information, and the Inspecting Officers were unable to approve it in that form. The documents will be retained.

The schedule, as amended, was approved by the Master of the Rolls and by the President of the Board of Trade, and was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 10th of July 1891.

Preparations have been made to facilitate the drawing of future schedules both of documents which have been removed to the Public Record Office and of documents existing or accruing elsewhere. A large collection of Home Office documents brought into the Public Record Office in 1870 has been under examination by two clerks, under the direction of Mr. Moran of the Home Office, in order that they might be roughly classified, and afterwards brought under the examination of the Inspecting Officers. Considerable progress has been made with this work.

Some classes of documents of the Exchequer and Audit Department deposited in the Public Record Office have been cursorily inspected by the Inspecting Officers in conjunction with Messrs. Hoblyn and King of the Exchequer and Audit Office.

Certain bills and vouchers connected with the Ordnance Survey have been inspected, but operations on them have been suspended pending the removal of a technical difficulty.

A proposal was made as to the weeding of documents relating to the Boundary Commission (Representation of the People Act), 1867. Upon inspection, however, it was ascertained that the whole bulk of these records was small, and arrangements were made for their transfer to the Public Record Office. They will be deposited with the records of other temporary commissions, and the value of particular papers will be considered on some future occasion.

As mentioned in my last Report, the subject of the records of County Courts had already been under consideration, and, in consequence of a representation from the Superintendent of County Courts at the Treasury, some further attention was given to the proposal which had been made. In this case, however, as in that of documents in the Registry of Friendly Societies a question of jurisdiction arose.

The Master of the Rolls in order to meet these difficulties made, with the required approval, an additional rule which was laid before the two Houses of Parliament on the 20th of April, 1891. Further proceedings in relation to this additional rule will be mentioned in a future Report.

The work of destruction and of weeding under powers obtained in schedules of previous years has been continued.

The total amount of waste removed from the Public Record Office to the Stationery Office for destruction during the year 1891 was 61 tons 8 cwt. and 3 quarters. The total of net profits of the waste from all departments (after deduction of expenses) had in 1890 already reached the sum of nearly 5,000*l.* per annum, as appears in the Third Report of the Controller of Your Majesty's Stationery Office.

The utility of the Public Record Office Act, 1877, has been conspicuously shown in the year 1891, not only in the removal of documents of insufficient value to be kept in the Public Record Office, but also in the bringing to light of documents not previously known to exist.

Among worthless bills and vouchers of the Ordnance Department were found many muster rolls and pay lists which make good deficiencies previously existing in the records of the Royal Artillery Record Office at Woolwich. These have been restored to their proper places in the series. Some muster rolls and pay lists of the French Emigrant Engineers were also discovered and rendered accessible.

Owing to the different circumstances in which the Census Enumeration Books of different years came into existence, there was a correspondence between some departments of the Government as to the value of the Enumeration Books of the Census of 1851 and of the Census of 1861. An opinion was strongly expressed in one department, and somewhat less strongly in another, that the books are not worth preserving. This opinion, however, was not shared by the Registrar General or by the Inspecting Officers, and a communication to that effect was sent to Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

The following four volumes were issued during the year 1891 :—

CALENDAR OF LETTERS AND PAPERS, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII., preserved in the Public Record Office, in the British Museum, and elsewhere in England. Vol. XII. Part II. 1537. Edited by James Gairdner, an Assistant Record Keeper.

This part contains abstracts of the letters and papers dated between June and December, 1537. By the end of May in this year the rebellion in the North had been completely suppressed, and the majority of the rebels executed. A few of the most distinguished of these, however, did not meet their fate until June, and some of the earlier papers refer to the executions of lords Darcy and Hussey, and of Percy, Constable, Bigod and Aske; Darcy was executed on Tower Hill, but the others were sent into Yorkshire and Lincolnshire as a warning to the districts in which they had committed their offences against the government. Many details are given of the circumstances under which a new treatise on the fundamental truths of religion—entitled the Institution of a Christian Man, and commonly known as “the Bishops’ Book”—was approved and signed by the whole body of bishops and other divines. The Council of the North was first established in the latter half of this year, and among other documents relating to its formation is one containing very grave reasons against the appointment of Bishop Tunstall, of Durham, as its first president.

Among the foreign papers there are many letters of Cardinal Pole, after the failure of his mission to England.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS:—COMMITTEE FOR COMPOUNDING, &c., 1643–1660. Part III. Cases. 1647—June 1650. Edited by Mary Anne Everett Green.

Part I., published in 1889, contained an abridged account of the general proceedings of this committee during the whole period of its existence. Part III., like Part II., is entirely occupied with the cases of individual “delinquents,” or Royalists, who were brought before the Committee in order that they might compound for their estates. All petitions and orders on the cases, with other papers needful for its history, are calendared, but certificates, particulars of estates, dispositions, letters, reports, and the like, are merely indicated by marginal references, which will enable topographers and genealogists to obtain further details by reference to the original books and papers preserved in the Public Record Office. Part IV. will contain the completion of this part of the work, and the index to the general proceedings and to the cases.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, of the reign of Charles I. 1645–1647. Edited by William Douglas Hamilton, F.S.A., of the Public Record Office.

The State Papers calendared in the present volume carry on the history of the reign of Charles I. from the Parliament's victory at Naseby in June 1645 to the final collapse of the Royalist cause and the imprisonment of the King in Carisbrooke Castle towards the close of the year 1647. They are less complete than the Papers contained in the two preceding volumes, chiefly on account of the disappearance of the Entry Books containing the correspondence of the Committee of both kingdoms during this period. Of the regular series of State Papers there are only five volumes for the period, but they comprise many valuable and interesting documents, including letters of the King and Queen, and intercepted correspondence, frequently in cipher. To the skill of Colonel J. S. Rothwell, R.A., the editor, and indeed all historical students, are indebted for the keys to much of the ciphered correspondence described in this volume.

CALENDAR OF THE PATENT ROLLS, preserved in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records. Edward III. A.D. 1327–1330.

This volume is the first instalment of the series of Calendars of the Patent Rolls mentioned in previous Reports and on a previous page of the present Report. (§ IV.) It has been prepared under my immediate supervision by Mr. R. F. Isaacson, Mr. G. S. Morris, and Mr. H. E. Lawrance, LL.B., officers of this Department, and the Index has been prepared by Mr. C. H. Woodruff, B.C.L. I have supplied a short preface giving some account of previous attempts to deal with the Mediæval Patent Rolls, and explaining in some detail the system which has been adopted for the present series of Calendars.

§ XI. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following five volumes were issued during the year 1891 :—

JOHAN DE WAURIN. Vol. V. 1443-1471. Edited by the late Sir William Hardy, F.S.A., and Edward L. C. P. Hardy, F.S.A., Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

This volume completes the text of Waurin's Chronicles to be published in the series of Chronicles and Memorials. In the earlier pages of it are described the arrest and murder of the Duke of Gloucester, and the banishment of the Duke of Suffolk. Among later events noticed are the entry of Edward IV. and his expedition against the bastard of Fauconberg.

A COLLECTION OF THE CHRONICLES OF GREAT BRITAIN NOW CALLED ENGLAND, by JOHN DE WAURIN, 1422-1431. Edited and translated by Edward L. C. P. Hardy, F.S.A., Barrister at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

This volume is a translation of the third volume of the French text published in the Series of Chronicles and Memorials.

THE TREATISE "DE PRINCIPUM INSTRUCTIONE," of GIRALDUS CAMBRENSIS: with an Index to the first four volumes of the "Works of Giraldus Cambrensis," edited by the Rev. J. S. Brewer. Edited by George F. Warner, Assistant Keeper of the Department of MSS., British Museum. (Publication sanctioned in 1883.)

This treatise has survived, so far as is known, in a single copy only, preserved among the Cotton MSS. in the British Museum, and estimated by its editor to have been written about the year 1300. Some use of it was made by Higden, and extracts from it have been printed elsewhere, but the entire work may be regarded as now made available for the first time. The motive of Giraldus for publishing his treatise is frankly avowed in his Preface; it was directed against the princes of his time—in other words against Henry II. and his sons—with a side-glance also at those prelates, or princes of the church, whose conduct he considered was equally open to censure.

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. Year XV. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

The cases in the present volume, as illustrated by their corresponding records, are full of information touching social life in England in the early years of the reign of Edward III. In a mercantile suit, the defendant had to render an account, in which was included among the articles bought for the plaintiff some jewels and two crystal phials full of precious relics, from which it appears that there was a recognised traffic in such relics. From another suit may be learned what was regarded as fitting sustenance for a person of the rank of an esquire, to whom the King had granted a corrody in a monastery, full particulars of such corrody being set forth in the record. In relation to another corrody claimed by Edward III. of the Prior of Hayling, the history of the Priory from the time of William the Conqueror is unfolded. In an action of debt, it was alleged that a clergyman had bound himself to pay to the plaintiff 1,000*l.* in St. Paul's Church, London. The editor in his Introduction dwells at considerable length on the origin and meaning of the payment of Merchet, bringing to light many interesting facts relating to Villainage and the history of the people.

CHARTERS AND DOCUMENTS ILLUSTRATING THE HISTORY OF THE CATHEDRAL, CITY, AND DIOCESE OF SALISBURY, 1109-1300. Selected by the late Rev. W. Rich Jones, F.S.A., and edited by the Rev. W. D. Macray, F.S.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

This volume may be regarded as a Supplement to the Register of St. Osmund already published in the series of Chronicles and Memorials. It furnishes information about the endowment of the cathedral church of Salisbury and of several parochial churches in the diocese. Many royal and episcopal charters, and a few papal bulls are included in the collection of selected documents. The records of the election of bishops in 1263, 1271, and 1284, show the different forms of procedure followed by the canons of Salisbury after the receipt of the royal licence to elect, and there are other documents whose interest is not purely local.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1891 has been 926, making a total of 52,034.

At the end of the year, there were seven works belonging to this series in the press, and four others in course of preparation, all of which, with one exception, were undertaken before my appointment to be Deputy Keeper of the Records.

In the Press:—

ICELANDIC SAGAS, AND OTHER HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS relating to the Settlements and Descents of the Northmen on the British Isles. Vols. III.-IV. Translated by Sir George Webbe Dasent, D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1859.)

CHARTULARY OF THE ABBEY OF RAMSEY. Vol. III. (Publication sanctioned in 1882.)

RANULF DE GLANVILL; TRACTATUS DE LEGIBUS ET CONSUETUDINIBUS ANGLIÆ, &c. Edited and translated by Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C., D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

CHRONICLE OF HENRY KNIGHTON, Canon of Leicester, to the death of RICHARD II. Edited by the Rev. Joseph Rawson Lumby, D.D. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUND'S ABBEY, Vol. II. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

THE RED BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER. Edited by Hubert Hall, F.S.A., of the Public Record Office. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

THE HISTORIANS OF THE CHURCH OF YORK AND ITS ARCHBISHOPS, Vol. III. Edited by the Rev. James Raine, M.A., Canon of York, and Secretary of the Surtees Society. (Publication sanctioned in 1872.)

In course of Preparation :—

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF MANUSCRIPTS RELATING TO THE HISTORY OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. Vol. IV.; 1327, &c. Edited by the late Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy, D.C.L., Deputy Keeper of the Records, and C. Trice Martin, B.A., F.S.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A., Barrister at Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

A COLLECTION OF THE CHRONICLES OF GREAT BRITAIN NOW CALLED ENGLAND, by JOHN DE WAURIN. Edited and translated by Edward L. C. P. Hardy, F.S.A., Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1857.)

The material reduction of the amount voted in Parliament for the publication of documents connected with the history of this country prior to the reign of Henry VIII. has, in combination with other causes, prevented the undertaking of any fresh work for this series since 1885, except the Chartulary of the Abbey of St. Thomas the Martyr, Dublin, and the Parliamentary Petitions mentioned above.

§ XII. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series
Vol. III. A.D. 1550-1552. Edited by John Roche
Dasent, M.A., Barrister-at-Law.

The Register printed in the present volume covers the period during which was fought out the final struggle between the Duke of Somerset and his rival the Earl of Warwick. The former constantly attended the meetings of the Council, at which his name always preceded the names of the other members, and he seems to have taken the most prominent part in the deprivation of Bishop Gardiner, in the committal of Bishop Hooper to the Fleet for refusing to wear the usual vestments at his consecration, and in the imprisonment of the Bishops of Chichester and Worcester. Warwick was not so regular in his attendance, but reference was often made to him in matters of high political importance. The chief matters of historical interest illustrated by this volume are very fully indicated in the preface.

GUIDE TO THE PRINCIPAL CLASSES OF DOCUMENTS PRESERVED IN THE PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE, by S. R. Scargill-Bird, F.S.A.

The want of a general inventory, or descriptive catalogue of the vast collection of archives preserved in the Public Record Office has long been felt not only by the public but also by the officers of this Department.

§ XIII. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the archives of the Vatican, and has forwarded to this Office various transcripts and abstracts.

It was stated in my last Report that I had arranged that he should prepare a Calendar of those entries in the Regesta of the mediæval popes which illustrate the history of Great Britain and Ireland. Considerable progress has been made with this important work, and by the end of the year 1891, five sheets of the first volume had been passed for press.

VENICE :

Mr. Horatio F. Brown has continued his researches in the Venetian archives, and has transmitted to this Office a considerable amount of material for another volume of the Calendar of State Papers and Manuscripts relating to English affairs existing at Venice and elsewhere in Northern Italy.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, and VIENNA :

- Don Pascual de Gayangos has continued his researches. The Second Part of Volume VI. of his Calendar, being the Twelfth Part of the whole work was well advanced at press at the end of the year 1891.

§ XIV. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has, as in former years, been conducted at Rolls House, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commissioners.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 30th day of July 1892.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE,
Deputy Keeper of the Records.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) Esher, M.R.

APPENDIX II.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST HENRY VII.

1. Special Commission of Oyer and Terminer for London to Nicholas Alwyn, mayor, John Fyneux knt., Thomas Bryan knt., William Hody knt., Thomas Tremayle, William Danvers, Robert Rede, John Vavasour, Thomas Wode, Gilbert Talbot knt., Thomas Bourghchier knt., Richard Guldeford knt., Walter Hungerford knt., John Rysley knt., James Tyrell knt., Richard Croftys knt., John Sapcotys knt., and Robert Sheffield knt.

Westminster, 13 Nov. 15 Hen. VII.

ii. Writ to the Sheriffs of London notifying the above Commission.

Westminster, 13 Nov. 15 Hen. VII.

iii. Precept of the Commissioners to the Sheriffs for the return of a grand jury of 24 persons from each ward and 24 from the city and suburbs at the Guildhall on Monday before the feast of St. Clement the Pope. London, 14 Nov. 15 Hen VII.

iv. Three jury panels on long strips of parchment, the first containing 88 names of which 15 are marked as sworn, the second 75 names, none marked as sworn, the third 94 names, of which 17 are marked as sworn.* The first and third are endorsed with a notification that the jurors returned a verdict isto eodem die and have day further to Wednesday before the feast of St. Clement the Pope.

Precept to the sheriffs of London for the return of 24 jurymen at the Guildhall on Friday after the feast of St. Clement the Pope (the said jurymen to be selected from the vicinage of All Hallows Berkyng in Tower Ward and of the parish of St. Mary Wolnoth in Langburne Ward) for the trial of Walter Bluet of London, gent., Thomas Masborowe of London, bowyer, Thomas Astwode, of London, gent., Roger Ray of London, yeoman, and John Fynche of London, haberdasher, for treason.

London, 18 Nov. 15 Hen. VII.

 Over the names of each of the accused is written in another hand "cul., cat. null.," indicating that after his conviction it was found he had no chattels.

v. Panel of the petty jury for the parish of All Hallows Barking in Tower Ward, containing 81 names of which 12 are marked as sworn. Endorsed with verdict of guilty against all the defendants and that they have no lands or goods.

vi. Precept to the sheriffs of London for the return of 24 jurymen at the Guildhall on Monday after St. Andrew's day (to be selected from the vicinage of All Hallows Barking in Tower Ward) for the trial of John Williams of London, yeoman, for treason. London, 30 November, 15 Hen. VII.

vii. Panel of the petty jury for the parish of All Hallows Barking in Tower Ward, containing 68 names, none of whom are marked as sworn: endorsed with a notification that the session was dissolved and no further proceedings taken against the said John Williams at that time.

viii. Indictment of Edward Dyxson of London, draper, Thomas Pounte of London, yeoman, Thomas Ody of London, yeoman, William Lounde of Wansted, Essex, chaplain, Edmund Carre of London, broker, William Basset of London, yeoman, John Walshe of London, clerk, who with other traitors in confederacy with Peter Warbek of Tournay, born under the obedience of the Archduke of Austria and Burgundy, conspired the death of the King. And for that treasonable purpose the said Dyxson and Carre met together 12 July, 14 Hen. VII at London in the parish of St. Mary Wolnoth in Langburn Ward, and Dyxson showed Carre that he and other traitors would snatch Warbek and the earl of Warwick out of the Tower of London and set them at large, and promised him for certain that divers servants of Simon Dygby would assist in this; to which Carre treasonably assented and promised Dyxson that he would assist for his part, and thereupon took a certain book out of his purse and swore upon it that he would be true and secret. And the said William Lounde, to effect the said treasonable purpose, at Westminster 2 Aug. 14 Hen. VII. said to Thomas Strangwysh, "I pray you recommend me to Luke Longford and tell him that at my last departure from Peter Warbek I cut a certain thing called aggettes which then hung super liripipio meo and gave them to the said Peter;" which token the said Strangwysh feloniously showed to Longford in the parish of All Hallows Barking in Tower Ward, and Longford there and then showed it to Peter for his comfort. And the said William Lounde on the said 2 Aug. 14 Hen. VII. in the said parish and ward for the said treasonable purpose, desired one Thomas Astwode to recommend him to Peter by the token that he, the said William, had sent him (Peter) a piece of gold called a "dukke" which he bent with his teeth. And the said Thomas Pounte and Thomas Astwode of London, gent., were conversing together in the ward and parish aforesaid, 2 June 14 Hen. VII., and Astwode asked Pounte whether if it were need he could associate to himself one or two good fellows of gentle condition. Pounte asked, "For what purpose?" and Astwode replied, "You shall know hereafter." And afterwards Pounte, 6 July 14 Hen. VII. came to Astwode and asked him when the said felony was proposed [to be executed]. Astwode replied that he could not then attend to him. And the said Pounte and the said William Basset on the said 2 Aug. last were together in the parish and ward aforesaid treasonably conversing, and the said William then and there traitorously asked the said Pounte if he would help the said Peter and the Earl of Warwick out of the Tower of London. Pounte traitorously said that he would help the Earl but not Peter, and asked what they would do with the two when they got them out of the Tower; to which Basset traitorously replied, "I will provide for them a ship, which William Proude and Edward Dyxson will help to get filled with woollen cloths and the Earl will cross the sea in that ship." And the said Thomas Ody to accomplish the said felonious purpose on 2 Aug. 14 Hen. VII. asked the said Thomas Astwode, "Will not this world mend?" and swore "By the mass, I am in want of money and I care not what do, either to fight or to rob in order to have money." And he swore by the mass, "I would like Peter Warbek to be at large, because then money would be current, and it is not now." And he feloniously said to Peter, "If you were known for such a man's son as you think yourself to be, I suppose many men in England would be glad to do you good." And the said John Walshe to accomplish the said felonious purpose on the said 2 Aug. 14 Hen. VII. at London in the parish of All Hallows Berkyng in Tower Ward asked the said Astwode how all those in the Tower of London, especially Peter, were, and Astwode said, "Well"; and Walshe then and there feloniously said, "If I and the said Peter were now in Ireland, knowing him as I now know him, we would make another kind of rumor (faceremus alium modum de rumore) than was lately made." To whom the said Astwode then and there said, "Sir John, how do you know him?" And the said John mischievously and feloniously said, "I know that the said Peter is the second son of King Edward IV." And thus the said Edward Dyxson, Thomas Pounte, Thomas Ody, William Lounde, Edmund Carre, William Basset, and John Walshe were then and there aiding and comforting the said Peter Warbek the King's enemy against their allegiance.

Endorsed is a memorandum that the inquisition was taken at the Guildhall on Saturday the feast of St. Andrew before Nicholas Alwyn Mayor and the other commissioners (whose names are all given except those of Sir John Rysley knt., Sir Richard Croftys, and Sir John Saxpootys), "ad inquirend' &c., ut in prima inquisitione &c." The names of the 32 jurors are also given.

ix. Indictment of John Fynche* of London, haberdasher, for having conspired with other false traitors to deprive the King of his royal power and set up Edward, Earl of Warwick as king; to accomplish which wicked purpose he 25 Aug. 15 Hen. VII. at London, viz. in the parish of All Hallows, Honylane, in Chepeward, consulted Thomas Warde, clerk, Dr. Alcock and others professing to be versed in prophecies, how and when he and other traitors might obtain their felonious purpose and what would become of the said Earl. And by the words he had from the said Thomas Warde and from certain persons named, Rede of Bristol and Hurt of Nottingham, and from such clauses as the said Fynche had read in prophecies touching the said Earl, he then and there treasonably hoped that he would shortly be King of England. And further the said Fynche feloniously received a certain figure (imaginem) of St. Mary painted on linen cloth sent to him by the said Earl to accomplish the premises by the hands of Robert Cleymond, and desired the said Cleymond then and there to recommend him to the said Earl and tell him that the said Thomas Warde had revealed to him that the said Earl would shortly go at large. And further the said Fynche 6 Feb. 18 Hen. VII. at London, viz. in the parish of All Hallows, Honylane, in Chepeward, in his own house, traitorously revealed a certain pro-phcey to the said Robert Cleymond and Thomas Astwode, viz. that the bear would shortly beat his chains within the city of London; and likewise desired the said Cleymond that he would encourage the said Earl to be of good cheer, traitorously saying that he hoped to hear [in] the street of Chepe many crying "A Warwick! A Warwick!" with badges (signis) called Ragged Staves; and then and there despatched to the Earl by Cleymund two pairs of gloves and a pot of spice called "grenegynger" for his comfort. And thus the said Fynche and others compassed the destruction of the King.

x. Indictment of John Williams,* of London, yeoman, and Thomas Astwode, of London, gent., for having conspired with other false traitors to deprive the King of his royal power and set up Edward, Earl of Warwick as king; to accomplish which wicked purpose, the said John Williams, 10 July, 13 Hen. VII. at London, viz. in the parish of All Hallows, Barking, Tower Ward, feloniously brought the said Thomas Astwode to the said Earl (to whom he was then unknown) saying, "My Lord, I have brought you hither this man who loves you well and he has lately escaped a great danger, for he was to have lost his head lately, and yet he loves you." And further the said John Williams then and there falsely and traitorously said, "My Lord, you may be sure of me and of Thomas Astwode at all times." And the said Earl then and there favorably received the said Thomas Astwode, saying, "Now, I have a special friend." And the said Astwode then and there said, "My Lord, I love you, and I will place myself in as great peril as I ever was in before to do you good and help to put you in your right, in which I hope once to see you"; on which the Earl thanked him. Moreover the said Williams on the said day and in the same parish and ward feloniously brought to the said Earl one Reginald Chambre a favorer of the said Earl, and he spoke with the said Earl then and there. And thus the said Williams and Astwode compassed the death of the King.

xi. Indictment of Thomas Astwode,† of London, gent., for having conspired with other false traitors to deprive the King of his Crown and set up Peter Warbek of Tournay, born under the obedience of the Archduke of Austria and Duke of Burgundy as King of England; to accomplish which wicked purpose the said Astwode 24 Aug. 15 Hen. VII. in the parish of All Hallows, Barking, in Tower Ward feloniously received a certain token, viz. a cross painted on parchment, sent by a certain John Watson, clerk, to the said Peter Warbek for his relief and aid, and then and there delivered it to Robert Cleymond to be taken to the said Peter. And further the said Astwode, the same day and in the same parish and ward, feloniously received by the hands of a certain Jacques (cujusdam Jacobi) of Flanders, clerk, a letter from the said Peter directed to himself, desiring him to recommend the said Peter to one William Lounde, chaplain, and to request him urgently by a privy token before agreed upon between them to be friendly and helpful to the said Peter in the accomplishment of the matters aforesaid. And the said Astwode, in pursuance of the said letter on the same day and year and in the same parish and ward, feloniously went to the said William Lounde and showed him of the whole purpose aforesaid, and procured him to assist the said Peter. And thus the said Astwode aided and comforted the said Peter, the King's enemy.

Endorsed is a memorandum that the inquisition was taken at London in the Guildhall before the Commissioners (who are all named except Croftys and Sapootys) on Friday after the feast of St. Clement the Pope, 15 Hen. VII., and giving the names of the 32 jurors.

xii. Indictment of the Earl of Warwick, Astwode, and Cleymond, as in Report III. of the Deputy Keeper of Public Records, App. II., pp. 216-7 (from "The Jurors find" to the end of m. 4). Over the Earl's name is written in another hand: "Mittitur coram prefato Senescallo Anglie ut in billa precedente, &c."; and over that of Astwode, "Tu et s^{us}. (Trahat^{ur} et suspendatur) prout alibi patet in s^{ess}o."

Endorsed: "Bella verra" (Billa vera).

* Over his name is written in another hand: "Po. se, et habet diem usque diem Lune prox. post festum Sancti Andree Apostoli sequen. Ad quem diem sessio dissolvitur et pars committitur Constabulario Turris London, salvo custodienda, &c." xiii. Indictment of Edward, Earl of Warwick,* late of Warwick, Walter Bluet,† of London, gent., John Audeley, of London, gent., Thomas Astwode,† of London, gent., Robert Cleymond, of London, gent., Roger Ray,† of London, yeoman, Edmund Carre, of London, broker, William Proude,‡ of London, draper, Edward Dyxson, of London, draper, Thos. Masborowe,† of London, bowyer, Thomas Strangwyshe,‡ of London, gent., John Fynche,† of London, haberdasher, and Luke Longford, of London, gent., for assisting Peter Warbek, the King's enemy.

† Over his name is written in another hand: "S^{us} prout patet alibi in ista sessione."

The presentment of the jury is in the same form as in the Baga de Secretis, Pouch II., m. 5 (see Report III. of the Deputy Keeper of Public Records, App. II., 217), but with further additions. After setting forth the ineffectual attempt of Warbek at Penzance, on 7 September, 13 Hen. VII., it states that he was kept prisoner in the Tower until the above-named persons, on 2 August, 14 Hen. VII., at London, in the parish of All Hallows, Barking, in Tower Ward, unanimously conspired to deliver him and depose the King. The conversations between the Earl and Cleymond are reported, and the fact recorded that the Earl, on 4 August, made a hole in the vault of his chamber to communicate with Peter (as in Report), and told him to be of good cheer. And the said Walter Bluet on the said day and year, and in the parish and ward aforesaid, delivered to Peter a file to cut and break the iron bar of the window of his prison, and a hammer to break and unloose the chains wherewith he was bound. And the said Luke Longford the said day and year, in the parish and ward aforesaid, feloniously sent to the said Peter a closed letter, in which was enclosed a long white thread, by means of which he could receive through the said window letters from the said Luke and other traitors touching their treasonable intentions. And the said Peter the said day and year, in the parish and ward aforesaid, feloniously and treasonably delivered to the said John Audeley a certain book called A B C, otherwise called "a Crosse Rowe," and under each letter in the said "Crosse Rowe" was written a character or sign, to the end that the said Audeley should write back to him by the said character or sign his felonious and treasonable purpose, so that in case any persons unused to such characters should see the said letters, they should not understand their purport; which book the said Audeley for that purpose feloniously received from the said Warbek. And the said Thomas Astwode, on the same day and year, and in the same parish and ward, feloniously and treasonably delivered to the said Warbek a certain book of prognostication, comforting him by the same book to execute the more speedily and easily his said purpose. And likewise, when the said Peter had broken his iron shackle, the said Astwode, the said day and year, and in the parish and ward aforesaid, caused a new iron shackle to be made and feloniously delivered it to the said Peter in order that the breaking of the first might be unknown. And the said Robert Cleymond, the said day and year, and in the parish and ward aforesaid feloniously received a certain letter from one Jacques (Jacobus) of Flanders, clerk, to the intent that he should deliver it to Warbek; in which letter was contained that the said Jacques advised the said Peter to be of good cheer, and not do himself any harm for anything that Simon Digby should say; which letter the said Robert Cleymond then and there read and treasonably delivered to the said Peter Warbek, and he received another letter from Peter to be directed to the said Jacques to comfort him in his felonious purposes. And the said Roger Ray the day and year aforesaid, and in the parish and ward aforesaid, feloniously received two letters directed to the said Peter Warbek from a certain Luke Longford, and delivered them to the said Warbek then and there. And the said Edmund Carre, William Proude, Edward Dixson, Thomas Astwode, and Thomas Masborowe, the same day and year, were together at the parish of St. Mary Wolnoth, in Langburne Ward, London, and then and there the said Edmund Carre took a certain book out of his purse and feloniously swore upon the same book that he would be true and secret to their fellowship, and would conceal and keep their counsel. And each of the others made a similar oath upon the said book then and there. And the said Thomas Strangwyshe, the said day and year at London, viz. in the parish of St. Dunstan in the West, in the Ward of Faryngdon Without, showed a certain Richard Pynkeney of all the said felonious and treasonable purpose, causing him to swear upon a book to conceal the said counsel, and asked him if he would be one of their company. And the said John Fynche, the said day and year at the aforesaid parish of All Hallows Barking, feloniously delivered to the said Cleymond a certain roll of prophecy to the intent that he should deliver it to the said Earl, desiring the said Cleymond that the Earl should look at it. And the said John Fynche, the day and year, and in the parish and ward aforesaid feloniously and treasonably went to a certain Dr. Alcock, clerk, to promote the said treasonable purpose and to inquire of him what would happen to the said Earl. And so the said Earl, Bluet, and the others were adherents and abettors of the said Warbek, the King's enemy.

Endorsed is a note of the taking of the inquisition at the Guildhall before the mayor and the other commissioners (the names of Tremayle and Wode omitted here) on Monday before the feast of St. Clement the Pope, 15 Hen. VII. with a list of 15 jurors by whom a true bill was found.

xiv. Indictment of the Earl of Warwick, Thomas Astwode and Robert Cleymond as in Report III. of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records, App. II. pp. 216-7 (m. 4 only). At the head of the document is written in another hand: "Mittitur coram Johanne Comite Oxon., Senescallo Anglie quoad Comitem Warr., die Jovis prox. ante festum Sancti Clementis Pape anno xv. R. H. vij. terminandⁱ, &c."

Endorsed: Billa vera. Per Johannem Knappe et socios suos.

xv. Another copy of § xiii. with the names of the accused in a different order, that of Longford coming immediately after Bluet; and with the following notes added over particular names in another hand, viz.:—1. Over the name of the Earl of Warwick:—"Mittitur coram Senescallo Anglie simili modo ut in altera billa quo ad Comitem Warr., etc." 2. Bluet: "Po. se. cul. cat. null. terr' nec ten. T^a et sus." 3. Audeley: "Committitur Const' Turr. salvo custodiendⁱ." 4. Astwode et Ray: "Po. se. cul. cat. null' terr' nec ten. T^a et sus." 5. Proude: "Cogn' resp. judicium et committitur prefat' const'." 6. Masborowe: "Po. se. cul. cat. null' terr' nec ten. resp. judicium." 7. Strangwyshe: "Cogn'. T^a et sus." 8. Fynche, "Po. se. cul. cat. null' terr' nec ten. resp. judicium quoad istud jud' et in alto jud' sequ' cogn', et t^a et sus, super eodem."

Endorsed is a note of the taking of the inquisition before the mayor and the other Commissioners (the names of Tremayle and Wode omitted) on Monday before the feast of St. Clement the Pope, 15 Hen. VII., with a list of 17 jurors by whom a true bill was found. N.B.—The names of this jury are quite different from those in § xii.

xvi. True bill found against William Walker of Wansted, Essex, chaplain, for having on the 20 June, 14 Hen. VII. said to one Thomas Astwod that a certain gentleman had reported to him that the King would leave Greenwich for the Wardrop in London and go thence from place to place as "his giestes" were appointed, but he would never return to London alive; which false and seditious saying was a great comfort and joy to the King's enemies and a sorrow to his true subjects.

(2.) Record of the special sessions of Oyer and Terminer setting forth—

i. The Commission of the 13 Nov. and precept to the Sheriffs for the return of the grand jury.

ii. The indictment (giving the names of the jury by whom it was found) against Bluet, Astwode, Ray, Proude, Masborowe, Strangwyshe and Fynche; on which they were brought the same Monday before the justices at the Guildhall by Simon Dygby, deputy of the Constable of the Tower. Being asked separately how they would acquit themselves Proude and Strangwyshe confessed the treasons imputed to them; the others put themselves upon their country. Whereupon Dygby was ordered by the justices to bring the whole of the prisoners before them at the Guildhall on Friday after the feast of St. Clement the Pope. On which day came before the said Commissioners (whose names are recited with the omission of Croftys and Sapcotys only) William Proude, Thomas Strangwyshe, Walter Bluet, Thomas Astwode, Roger Ray, Thomas Masborowe and John Fynche led to the bar by Simon Dygby ; and the jury find the said Bluet, Astwode, Ray, Masborowe and Fynche guilty, and that they have no lands or goods. Judgment against Strangwish, Bluet, Astwode and Ray, that they be led to the Tower and thence severally drawn through the middle of the City of London to the gallows at Tyburn and there hanged, with the other usual additions in cases of treason ; their heads and quarters to be disposed of at the King's pleasure. And because the judges were not yet advised of their judgment touching Proude, Masborowe and Fynche they were remitted to prison in the Tower.

iii. The indictment of John Fynche as above, with the names of two juries by whom it was found at the Guildhall before the Commissioners (whose names are given with the omission of Croftys and Sapcotys), on Friday after the feast of St. Clement the Pope. On which the said John Fynche was produced by Simon Dygby, deputy Constable of the Tower, and being brought to the bar confesses his guilt. Judgment, that he be taken back to the Tower and thence drawn through the middle of the City of London direct to the gallows at Tyburn and there hanged, &c. as in cases of treason.

THE FIFTY-FOURTH REPORT
OF
RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg to submit to Your Majesty a Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1892, pursuant to the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94. § 17.

The vacancies among the Assistant Record Keepers caused by the retirement of Mr. J. Redington and Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury, in December 1891, were filled by the promotion of two Senior Clerks, Mr. R. D. Trimmer and Mr. J. M. Thompson, and their places and that of Mr. W. D. Hamilton, who also retired in December 1891, as stated in my last Report, were filled by the promotion of three Junior Clerks, Mr. E. Salisbury, Mr. R. H. Brodie, and Mr. H. Hall. A fourth vacancy among the Junior Clerks was caused by the transfer to the Exchequer and Audit Department of Mr. S. Waine, who had been appointed a Junior Clerk in July 1891. As, however, the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury would not allow more than two of these vacancies to be filled, two new Junior Clerks only were appointed, Mr J. Pedder and Mr. F. C. Drake, who had respectively obtained the eighth and the ninth places in an open competitive examination for the First Division of the Civil Service held in November and December 1891. Mr. Drake was transferred to the India Office in August 1892, and the vacancy thus caused had not been filled by the end of the year.

The attention of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury has been called to the inconvenience arising from such transfers and to other matters connected with the organisation of this Department.

§ IV. CALENDARS.

PATENT ROLLS :

I have stated in previous Reports that I had made arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls, and that identical instructions had been given to the different officers employed upon the work. Reserving the reign of Henry III. for future treatment, the object of my scheme is to provide an English Calendar to these invaluable documents from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. inclusive. The work has been started at four points :—

Edward I.—Thirty-two sheets of the Calendar, embracing the period between the tenth and twentieth years inclusive, had been passed for press by the end of 1892. The index was also in type.

Edward II.—Thirty-two sheets of the Calendar, embracing the period between the first and sixth years, had been passed for press by the end of 1892.

Edward III.—The progress of this work has been delayed by an unfortunate fire at the printing offices of Messrs. Eyre and Spottiswoode in April 1892. Twenty-eight sheets of the second volume for this reign had been passed for press by the end of the year.

Richard II.—Twelve sheets of the first volume for this reign had been passed for press by the end of 1892.

Certain initial difficulties having been overcome, I hope that this important series of Calendars will proceed steadily.

ANCIENT DEEDS :

Seventeen sheets of a second volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds, mentioned in previous Reports, had been passed for press by the end of 1892.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

Further progress has been made with the Calendar of mediæval Letters, Diplomatic Documents, and the like. The officer in charge of it has, however, had to devote a great deal of his time to other work.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII.:

Mr. J. Gairdner, who has been assisted, as before, by Mr. R. H. Brodie, has proceeded with the important Calendar of all historical documents in England relating to the reign of Henry VIII. The first part of Volume XIII. was published in 1892. (See § X.)

STATE PAPERS, RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH:

Twenty sheets of a sixth volume of the Calendar of these documents had been passed for press by the end of 1892. The officer engaged upon this work has also re-arranged the Irish Papers down to the reign of George II.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I.:

Mr. W. D. Hamilton has passed for press the whole text of a volume dealing with the last 13 months of the reign of Charles I. The Preface and the Index were in type, awaiting revision, at the end of the year. After the completion of this volume, Mr. Hamilton will calendar some supplementary papers belonging mostly to the earlier part of the reign.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES:

Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury's Calendar of Documents relating to the East Indies and Persia between the years 1630 and 1634 inclusive was published in 1892. (See § X.) Mr. Sainsbury has also passed for press twenty sheets of another volume dealing with documents relating to America and the West Indies.

CLOSE ROLLS:

A Calendar of the Close Rolls of the first six years of the reign of Edward II., prepared by Mr. W. H. Stevenson, was published in 1892. (See § X.) Twenty-seven sheets of the succeeding volume have also been passed for press.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM:

Considerable progress has been made with a Calendar of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery and Exchequer in the reign of Henry VII.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM:

The tabular Index of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive, has been almost completed.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery, before the accession of Elizabeth, has undergone some revision with a view to the publication of a first instalment of it at an early date.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The similar List of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, but not noticed in the three volumes issued by the Record Commission in 1827-1832, has been completed. Ten sheets of it have been printed. The List has been continued down to the reign of James I.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS :

The comprehensive List of the Accounts of Ministers appointed to collect rents and other issues of lands prior to the reign of Henry VII. has been completed in manuscript. Forty-seven sheets of it had been passed for press by the end of 1892.

COURT ROLLS :

The similar List of all the Manorial Rolls in the Public Record Office which are open to public inspection has also been completed in manuscript. Seven sheets of it had been passed for press by the end of 1892.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURT OF REQUESTS :

This work has been suspended since the retirement, in March, 1891, of Mr. P. S. Leigh Hunt, the officer who was engaged upon it.

PLEA ROLLS :

Further progress has been made with the comprehensive list of Plea Rolls and other Rolls of proceedings in courts of law in England and Wales. The earlier part of it has been sent to press.

SUBSIDY ACCOUNTS :

Large additions having been recently made to the class of Accounts and other documents relating to the assessment and collection of Tallages, Scutages, Aids, Subsidies, Loans and the like, from the unsorted MSS. in this Office, a new inventory has been begun, dealing with the different counties in alphabetical order, and showing which of the documents give the names of the persons assessed.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the previous six years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described, especially with regard to the early records of the Chancery and the Exchequer.

Large additions have been made to the series of Ancient Deeds and to other classes of documents which are being brought together from various points of the office.

The contents of many rooms in the Repository have been re-arranged and re-labelled, with a view to the more rapid production of documents required for use in the Search Rooms.

These very necessary operations have been conducted mainly by Mr. H. Rodney and Mr. M. S. Giuseppi under the direction of Mr. Scargill-Bird.

The classes to which most attention has been given have been Chancery Proceedings, Ancient Deeds, Series A. B. C., and D., Inquisitiones post mortem, Supplementary, Petitions (Various), Privy Signet Bills, Series I. and II., Warrants for Privy Seals, Parliamentary Proxies, Royal Letters, Coram Rege Rolls, Domestic State Papers, Chancery Registrars' Minute Books, Feet of Fines, Certificates of Residence, Court Rolls, Ministers Accounts, Subsidy Rolls, Welsh Plea Rolls, War Office Pay Lists, &c., &c.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

The materials of the houses numbered 5 to 20, Rolls Yard, having been sold by auction on 21 December, 1891, by order of Your Majesty's Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings, as stated in my last Report, they were removed in the early part of the year 1892. Nos. 3 and 4, Rolls Yard, were also demolished, after the removal of the Official Referees to the Supreme Court of Judicature, who occupied several rooms in them. The site of a new block of the Public Record Office facing Chancery Lane having thus been entirely cleared, the foundations were laid in the latter part of the year, and arrangements were made for the commencement of the superstructure in 1893.

Several minor improvements have been made in the General Repository of Records.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of the above-mentioned Act have continued their duties in accordance with the Rules of which Your Majesty's approbation was declared by Order in Council on the 30th of June 1890.

Mr. J. Redington having retired at the end of 1891, Mr. R. F. Isaacson and Mr. G. J. Morris, Senior Clerks in this Department, were appointed Inspecting Officers.

The fourth Schedule of Documents removed from the Office of Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the War Department to the Public Record Office, but not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation therein, which was mentioned in my last Report as having received the approval of the Master of the Rolls and of the said Secretary of State, was submitted to the two Houses of Parliament on the 11th of February, 1892, and a copy of it lay on the table of each House for the required period of four weeks.

A Schedule of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, which were not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office, was prepared by Mr. Ashley of the National Debt Office, and submitted to the Inspecting Officers. One of the Inspecting Officers went to the National Debt Office and inspected the documents there. The Schedule was fully considered and amended, and was then approved by the Master of the Rolls and by the Comptroller General of the National Debt Office. It was submitted to the two Houses of Parliament on the 20th of May, 1892, and a copy of it lay on the table of each House for the required period of four weeks.

A Schedule of Documents existing or accruing in the Offices of the Inspector General in Bankruptcy and the Acting Comptroller in Bankruptcy, acting under the directions of the Board of Trade, and in the offices of the Official Receivers in Bankruptcy, acting under the general authority and directions of the Board of Trade, which documents were not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office, was prepared in the Bankruptcy Department of the Board of Trade, and submitted to the Inspecting Officers. Mr. Hough, one of the Inspectors in Bankruptcy, attended at the Public Record Office, and one of the Inspecting Officers went to the Bankruptcy Department of the Board of Trade; after the Schedule had been considered and amended it was approved by the Master of the Rolls and by the President of the Board of Trade. As, however, the Session of Parliament was nearly at an end, the presentation of the Schedule to the two Houses was deferred.

A Schedule of Documents existing or accruing in the office of the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales was formally prepared by Mr. Endersby, of that Department, and submitted to the Inspecting Officers. After full consideration and amendment it was approved by the Master of the Rolls and by the Chief Charity Commissioner. As, however, the session of Parliament was nearly at an end the presentation of the Schedule to the two Houses was deferred.

The large collection of Documents removed from the Office of Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department to the Public Record Office in the year 1870, and mentioned in my last Report, has been further examined, and a rough list has been made by clerks under the direction of Mr. Moran, of the Home Office. There are in all 2,651 bundles of papers. A digest of the rough list was made by one of the Inspecting Officers so as to show the various heads under which the documents may be classified, and specimens of the various classes were inspected. A Schedule was afterwards prepared in concert with Mr. Moran, and was submitted to the Master of the Rolls at the end of the year 1892.

Further proceedings in relation to this Schedule will be mentioned in my next Report.

At the request of the Senior Registrar in Bankruptcy, one of the Inspecting Officers examined a number of documents, relating mostly to obsolete proceedings in Bankruptcy, for which there was no longer any room in the buildings at the disposal of the Registrar. Many were in great confusion, but others were ascertained to be capable of a division into classes. A list was eventually made of the latter, and specimens of them were examined in detail by the Inspecting Officer. It did not appear that they were of sufficient public value for preservation in the Public Record Office; and as they had also become useless for reference in the Registrar's Office, a Schedule was prepared in which the destruction of them was suggested. This Schedule was still under consideration at the end of the year 1892.

Enquiries more or less relating to the functions of the Inspecting Officers continue to be made, from time to time, as well with regard to destruction as with regard to making documents which are worthy of preservation more easy of access.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

The following six volumes were issued during the year 1892:—

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS:—COMMITTEE FOR COMPOUNDING, &c., 1643-1660. Part IV. Cases. 1650-1653.

Part V. Cases. 1654-1659 with Introduction, Addenda, and Index. Edited by Mary Anne Everett Green.

These two volumes complete the abridgment of the proceedings of the Committee for compounding with "delinquents," or Royalists, mentioned in my previous Reports. The greater part of the concluding volume is composed of an index to the whole series, upon the value of which for topographical and biographical purposes no comment need be made; in Mrs. Green's introduction, also contained in this volume, will be found an account of the most interesting or remarkable "cases" which came under the notice of the Committee.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES, East Indies and Persia, 1643-1630. Edited by W. Noel Sainsbury, late an Assistant Record Keeper.

This volume forms the fifth of the series relating to the East Indies, three other volumes in the same series having been issued relating to America and the West Indies. During the period covered by it, the government of the East India Company devolved upon Sir Morris Abbott, a brother of the Archbishop, of whose ability and judgment the Court minutes of the Company and the general correspondence here printed afford remarkable testimony. Gambling and private trade among the servants of the Company were among the chief difficulties to be contended with. Curious details are given of the appointments and subsequent careers of some of the preachers despatched to India at the Company's charge. In Surat, during 1631, the sufferings of the merchants and natives from the raging famine, pestilence and mortality are vividly described by eye witnesses. Differences with the Dutch and Portuguese in India were frequent, leading in one instance to a pitched fight between the latter and the Company's soldiers, of which a full relation is given. Of the Shah of Persia at that time some interesting anecdotes are told, and also of the Earl of Denbigh's journey into the country of the Great Mogul in 1630, which he undertook with the express permission of Charles I. Of Charles as a patron of the arts we have evidence in his pleasure signified to the Company that their factors should furnish him with some "varieties" from India and Persia, and in the mention made in the Court minutes of some statues and pictures brought home for the King; the factors were also commanded "to endeavour their utmost" to procure Charles some "Arab and Persian manuscript books." The calendar contains also much valuable information about Baffin, Fox, and other explorers in search of "a North-west passage."

CALENDAR OF LETTERS AND PAPERS, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII., preserved in the Public Record Office, in the British Museum, and elsewhere in England. Vol. XIII. Part I. 1537. Edited by James Gairdner, an Assistant Record Keeper.

The period covered by this volume extends from January to July, 1538. A second part will complete the year and contain an index to both parts. To most readers, perhaps, the chief interest will be found in the new particulars given of the steps taken for the complete suppression of the monasteries. At the beginning of the year, Dr. Legh was visiting Muchelney, in Somersetshire, and St. Werburgh's, Chester, whilst his old colleague, Dr. Layton, was busy in the eastern counties. In spite of the king's denial, conveyed to some monasteries through Cromwell, that a total suppression of them was intended, the work went quietly on, and many houses, such as Boxley, in Kent, Kingswood, in Wilts, Coggeshall and Abingdon, surrendered without a struggle, feeling no doubt that an immediate surrender with certain pensions was far better than prolonged subjection to the harassing interference of Cromwell's visitors. The proceedings of Richard Ingworth, recently made Bishop Suffragan of Dover, to whom Cromwell entrusted the work of visiting the houses of the different orders of the friars throughout the country, are also full of interest.

During June and July three delegates from the princes assembled at the diet of Brunswick were entertained in England, their instructions being to discuss matters of theology with our bishops and divines, in order to arrive at a common agreement on points of faith; but their mission was hardly successful. Henry's foreign policy was at this time much affected by the new matrimonial schemes open to him by the recent death of Lady Jane Seymour; to the Regent of the Netherlands he suggested a union between himself and the Duchess of Milan, while to the French Court he professed a great desire to marry the Duchess of Longueville. The reconciliation between the Emperor and Francis, brought about by the Pope's mediation in June 1538, was, however, a great blow to Henry, and much documentary evidence is here produced of his futile attempts to prevent it.

CALENDAR OF LETTERS AND STATE PAPERS RELATING TO ENGLISH AFFAIRS, preserved principally in the Archives of Simancas. Volume I. Elizabeth 1558-1567. Edited by Martin A. S. Hume, F.R. Hist. S.

The materials for this volume are chiefly taken from the correspondence of Philip II. with his ambassadors at the English Court, which was published in Madrid a few years ago under subsidy from the Spanish Government, but the present editor has found that the Spanish compilers of the text somewhat deficient in the care and knowledge required for such a work, and much collation and correction has had to be done. Gaps in the correspondence have been filled in by letters from Philip's Flemish agents who were sent over here to assist the Spanish ambassadors. These ambassadors during the period covered by the first volume were the Count de Feria, Alvaro de la Quadra, Bishop of Aquila, and Diego Gusman de Silva. In their correspondence it may almost be said that the innermost working of the tortuous Spanish policy of the period is for the first time laid bare to English students and some valuable new light is thrown upon the events of the earlier years of Elizabeth's reign, upon which the editor's introduction treats very fully.

CALENDAR OF THE CLOSE ROLLS, preserved in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records. Edward II. A.D. 1307-1313.

The mediæval Close Rolls contain entries of the most varied kind, illustrating the history of every branch of the public administration, and also copies of deeds, agreements and awards concerning private persons which were exhibited in Chancery for enrolment. Those covering the period between the sixth year of John and the eleventh year of Henry III. were printed literatim by order of the Record Commissioners in 1833 and 1834; but the value of the subsequent rolls has not been appreciated for want of printed calendars, and the present work has been undertaken to supply the deficiency. The text and the index of the first volume for the reign of Edward II. have been prepared by Mr. W. H. Stevenson, and I have supplied a short preface explaining in some detail the system which has been adopted for this series of calendars, which is intended to proceed alongside of the analogous calendar of Patent Rolls.

§ XI. LISTS AND INDEXES PUBLISHED.

No. 1. INDEX OF ANCIENT PETITIONS of the Chancery and the Exchequer.

An account of this work was given in my last Report.

§ XII. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following volume was issued during the year 1892 :—

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUND'S ABBEY. Vol. II. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1885). It contains :—

- (1.) "Annales Sancti Edmundi," a chronicle by an unknown hand, breaking off at the year 1212.
- (2.) A narrative of the election of Hugh de Northwold as abbot, in 1215.
- (3.) A letter from Robert, abbot of Thorneye, concerning the office of Sacristan.
- (4.) A Metrical Life of St. Edmund, written in French, about A.D. 1240, by Denys Piramus.
- (5.) A narrative of the election of Simon de Luton as abbot, in 1257.
- (6.) An account of the expulsion of the Franciscan Friars from Bury, in 1257 and 1263.
- (7.) Notes on the deeds of the Sacristans.
- (8.) A narrative of the election of Thomas de Totyngton as abbot in 1302.
- (9.) An account of the great riot in 1327, and the sack of the monastery.

There is also a short Appendix, and a Glossary to the life of St. Edmund.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1892 has been 681, making a total of 52,715.

At the end of the year, there were eight works belonging to this series in the press, and one other in course of preparation, all of which, with one exception, were undertaken before my appointment to be Deputy Keeper of the Records.

In the Press :—

ICELANDIC SAGAS, AND OTHER HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS relating to the Settlements and Descents of the Northmen on the British Isles. Vols. III.-IV. Translated by Sir George Webbe Dasent, D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1859.)

THE HISTORIANS OF THE CHURCH OF YORK AND ITS ARCHBISHOPS. Vol. III. Edited by the Rev. James Raine, M.A., Canon of York, and Secretary of the Surtees Society. (Publication sanctioned in 1872.)

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. Vol. VII. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

CHARTULARY OF THE ABBEY OF RAMSEY. Vol. III. (Publication sanctioned in 1882.)

RANULF DE GLANVILL; TRACTATUS DE LEGIBUS ET CONSUETUDINIBUS ANGLIÆ, &c. Edited and translated by Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C., D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

CHRONICLE OF HENRY KNIGHTON, Canon of Leicester, to the death of RICHARD II. Edited by the Rev. Joseph Rawson Lumby, D.D. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

THE RED BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER. Edited by Hubert Hall, F.S.A., of the Public Record Office. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

PARLIAMENTARY PETITIONS, &c. of the Reign of Edward I. Edited by F. W. Maitland, M.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1889.)

In course of Preparation :—

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUND'S ABBEY, Vol. III. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

The material reduction of the amount voted in Parliament for the publication of documents connected with the history of this country prior to the reign of Henry VIII. has, in combination with other causes, prevented the undertaking of any fresh work for this series since 1885, except the Chartulary of the Abbey of S. Thomas the Martyr, Dublin, and the Parliamentary Petitions mentioned above.

§ XIII. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series.
Vol. IV. A.D. 1552-1554. Vol. V. A.D. 1554-1556.
Edited by John Roche Dasent, M.A., Barrister-at-Law.

The publication of two volumes of the Register of the Privy Council during the year 1892 shows that this work is proceeding steadily. Although some of the more important entries have already appeared in print, they are now given in their proper places, together with a great amount of historical information hitherto entirely inaccessible to students.

§ XIV. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the archives of the Vatican, and has forwarded to this Office various transcripts and abstracts.

It was stated in my last two Reports that I had arranged that he should prepare a Calendar of those entries in the Regesta of the mediæval popes which illustrate the history of Great Britain and Ireland. Considerable progress has been made with this important work, and by the end of the year 1892, twenty-four sheets of the first volume had been passed for press. It will embrace the period between A.D. 1198 and 1304 inclusive. Materials have also been collected for portions of the second and third volumes.

VENICE :

Mr. Horatio F. Brown has continued his researches in the Venetian archives, and has transmitted to this Office a considerable amount of material for another volume of the Calendar of State Papers and Manuscripts relating to English affairs existing at Venice and elsewhere in Northern Italy.

By the end of the year 1892, however, only seven sheets had been passed for press, the work having been very materially retarded by the destruction of a great quantity of manuscript in the fire at the printing offices of Messrs. Eyre and Spottiswoode.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, and VIENNA :

Don Pascual de Gayangos has continued his researches. By the end of the year 1892, thirty-five sheets of the Second Part of Vol. VI. of his Calendar, being the Twelfth Part of the whole work, had been passed for press. The publication of a volume dealing with the years 1558 to 1567, has been mentioned already (§ X.).

§ XV. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has, as in former years, been conducted at Rolls House, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commissioners.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 3rd day of May 1893.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE,

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) ESHER, M.R.

THE FIFTY-FIFTH REPORT OF THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg to submit to Your Majesty a Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1893, pursuant to the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94. § 17.

The principal changes in the staff of the Department have been due to the retirement of Mr. James Gairdner, the senior Assistant Record Keeper. Mr. Gairdner was appointed a Junior Clerk in July 1846, promoted in February 1859, and again in November 1866. Ever since 1856, he has been engaged upon documents of the reign of Henry VIII., and after the death of the Rev. J. S. Brewer in 1879, he became editor of the Calendar of "Letters and Papers, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII., preserved in the Public Record Office, the British Museum and elsewhere in England." Eleven volumes, or parts, of this important undertaking have been published under his careful supervision, and he has also edited for the series of "Chronicles and Memorials," two works, entitled respectively "Memorials of the reign of Henry the Seventh" (1858), and "Letters and Papers illustrative of the Reigns of Richard III. and Henry VII." (1863). Mr. Gairdner ceased to be a member of the permanent staff of this Department in March 1893, but the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury have sanctioned an arrangement by which he will continue to act as virtual editor of the Calendar with which he has so long been associated.

The vacancy among the Assistant Record Keepers caused by Mr. Gairdner's retirement was filled by the promotion of Mr. J. E. E. S. B. Sharp, and the vacancy thus caused among the Senior Clerks was filled by the promotion of Mr. H. Rodney.

Mr. J. Pedder, who was appointed a Junior Clerk in 1892, was in January 1893 transferred to the Local Government Board, and as there was a vacancy among the Junior Clerks at the end of 1892, mentioned in my last Report, three fresh appointments were made during the year, the candidates selected being Mr. C. Johnson, B.A., Mr. A. E. Stamp, B.A., and Mr. H. E. Headlam late of the Legacy Duty Department.

From the Home Office :—

20 boxes of Papers of the Local Government Act Commission.

From the Patent Office :—

49 bundles of Specifications, 1878 and 1879.

From the Treasury :—

33 parcels of Papers, 1866.

4 volumes of Registers, 1866.

4 volumes of Minute Books, 1866

From the West Indian Encumbered Estates Office :—

25 boxes of Papers.

PATENT ROLLS :

I have stated in previous Reports that I had made arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls, and that identical instructions had been given to the different officers employed upon the work. Reserving the reign of Henry III. for future treatment, the object of my scheme is to provide an English Calendar to these invaluable documents from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. inclusive. The work has been started at four points :—

Edward I.—A volume, embracing the period between the tenth and twentieth years inclusive, was published in 1893. (See § X.) Twenty sheets of another volume were also passed for press by the end of the year.

Edward II.—The whole text of a volume, embracing the first six years, had been passed for press by the end of 1893. The index was also set up in type.

Edward III.—A volume, embracing the period between the fourth and eighth years, was published in 1893. (See § X.) A considerable amount of material for another volume was also prepared.

Richard II.—Twenty-eight sheets of the first volume for this reign were passed for press by the end of the year.

Certain initial difficulties having been overcome, I hope that this important series of Calendars will proceed steadily.

ANCIENT DEEDS :

Thirty-two sheets of a second volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds, mentioned in previous Reports, had been passed for press by the end of 1893.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

Further progress was made with the Calendar of mediæval Letters, Diplomatic Documents, and the like.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII.:

Mr. J. Gairdner, who was assisted, as before, by Mr. R. H. Brodie, proceeded with the important Calendar of all historical documents in England relating to the reign of Henry VIII. The second part of Volume XIII. was published in 1893. (See § X.)

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

A volume dealing with the period between July 1596 and December 1597, was published in 1893. (See § X.)

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I.:

Mr. W. D. Hamilton completed at press a volume dealing with the last thirteen months of the reign of Charles I. (See § X.)

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES :

Mr. W. Noel Sainsbury completed at press a volume dealing with documents relating to America and the West Indies, of the years 1675 and 1676, with Addenda for the period between 1574 and 1674. (See § X.)

CLOSE ROLLS :

A Calendar of the Close Rolls from the seventh to the eleventh year of Edward II., prepared by Mr. W. H. Stevenson, was published in 1893. (See § X.) Twenty-nine sheets of the succeeding volume had also been passed for press by the end of the year.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress was made with a Calendar of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery and Exchequer in the reign of Henry VII. The earlier part of it will be sent to press this year.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM:

The tabular Index of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive, has been completed. The names have yet to be arranged in alphabetical order.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS:

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery, before the accession of Elizabeth, has undergone some revision with a view to the publication of a first instalment of it at an early date.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS:

The similar List of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, but not noticed in the three volumes issued by the Record Commission in 1827-1832, has been completed. A considerable part of it has been printed. The List has been continued down to the reign of James I.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS:

The comprehensive List of the Accounts of Ministers appointed to collect rents and other issues of lands prior to the reign of Henry VII. has been completed in manuscript. The greater part of it had been passed for press by the end of 1893.

COURT ROLLS:

The similar List of all the Manorial Rolls in the Public Record Office which are open to public inspection has also been completed in manuscript. A considerable part of it had been passed for press by the end of 1893.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURT OF REQUESTS:

This work has been suspended since the retirement, in March, 1891, of Mr. P. S. Leigh Hunt, the officer who was engaged upon it.

PLEA ROLLS:

The list of Plea Rolls and other Rolls of proceedings in courts of law in England and Wales has been completed, and the greater part of it has been printed.

SUBSIDY ACCOUNTS :

Large additions having been recently made to the class of Accounts and other documents relating to the assessment and collection of Tallages, Scutages, Aids, Subsidies, Loans and the like, from the unsorted MSS. in this Office, a new inventory has been begun, dealing with the different counties in alphabetical order, and showing which of the documents give the names of the persons assessed.

RENTALS AND SURVEYS :

A List of these documents has been begun upon a system analagous to that adopted for the Lists of Ministers' Accounts and Court Rolls.

ENROLLED ACCOUNTS :

A List of Accounts, other than those of Sheriffs, enrolled upon the early Pipe Rolls and Chancellor's Rolls has been begun.

EARLY ACCOUNTS :

A similar List of original Accounts, formerly preserved at the Treasury of the Receipt and in the Office of the Queen's Remembrancer, has been begun.

SHERIFFS :

Considerable progress has been made with a List of Sheriffs, based upon entries in the Pipe Rolls, the Fine Rolls, and other documents.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the previous six years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described, especially with regard to the early records of the Chancery and the Exchequer.

Large additions have been made to the series of Ancient Deeds and to other classes of documents which are being brought together from various parts of the office.

The contents of many rooms in the Repository have been re-arranged and re-labelled, with a view to the more rapid production of documents required for use in the Search Rooms.

These very necessary operations have been conducted mainly by Mr. H. Rodney and Mr. M. S. Giuseppi under the direction of Mr. Scargill-Bird.

The classes to which most attention has been given have been Ancient Deeds (Series B., E., D.D., and C.C.), Depositions, Guild-Certificates, Warrants for Privy Seals, Chancery and Exchequer Proceedings, Certificates of Residence, Pipe Rolls, Feet of Fines, Colonial Letters and Papers, Domestic State Papers, Duchy of Lancaster and other Court Rolls, War Office Casualty Returns and Effects Papers, Star Chamber Proceedings, Remembrance Rolls, Memoranda Rolls, Originalia Rolls, Court of Request Orders and Decrees, Treasury Records, &c., &c.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

A sum of 35,000*l.* was voted by the House of Commons for the financial year 1893-94 towards the erection of a new block of the Public Record Office, the total cost of which is estimated at 79,650*l.* The foundations having been laid in 1892, the superstructure was begun by Messrs. Foster and Dicksee in March, and considerable progress had been made with it by the end of the year 1893.

Your Majesty's Commissioners of Works and Public Buildings have taken measures for the improvement of the drainage of the Public Record Office, which was in an unsatisfactory state.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of the above-mentioned Act have continued their duties in accordance with the Rules of which Your Majesty's approbation was declared by Order in Council on the 30th of June 1890.

The Schedule of Documents existing or accruing in the Offices of the Inspector General in Bankruptcy and the Acting Comptroller in Bankruptcy, acting under the directions of the Board of Trade, and in the Offices of the Official Receiver in Bankruptcy, acting under the general authority and directions of the Board of Trade, which was mentioned in my last Report, was laid before the House of Commons on the 2nd, and before the House of Lords on the 9th February, 1893, and a copy of it lay on the table of each House for the required period of four weeks.

A Schedule of Documents existing or accruing in the Office of the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales, which was also mentioned in my last Report, was laid before the House of Commons on the 1st, and before the House of Lords on the 9th of February 1893, and a copy of it lay on the table of each House for the required period of four weeks.

The Schedule of Documents removed from the Office of Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department to the Public Record Office, but not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation therein, which was mentioned in my last Report as having been submitted to the Master of the Rolls at the end of the year 1892, received his Lordship's approval, as well as that of the said Secretary of State. It was laid before the Houses of Commons on the 22nd, and before the House of Lords on the 23rd of February, 1893, and a copy of it lay on the table of each House for the required period of four weeks.

The Schedule of Documents of the High Court of Justice in Bankruptcy, made at the request of the Senior Registrar, and also mentioned in my last Report, was approved by the Master of the Rolls, and was submitted to the two Houses of Parliament on the 16th of February, 1893, and a copy of it lay on the table of each House for the required period of four weeks.

Considerable attention has been given during the year 1893 to the records of the County Palatine of Lancaster, which were removed to the Public Record Office in 1873. A large portion of them had remained in sacks, and the nature of the contents was unknown. Upon inspection it was found that documents belonging to the Chancery of the Palatinate had become intermixed with those formerly in the Office of the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas, and those formerly in the Office of the Clerk of the Crown. It was necessary to ascertain what documents of each Court actually existed before any attempt could be made to distinguish those worthy of preservation from those of little or no value. The records have now been roughly sorted, and assigned to their respective Courts.

A Schedule of Documents removed from the Office of the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of the same Palatinate which are not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office has been prepared, and has been approved by the Master of the Rolls. Further proceedings in relation to it will be mentioned in my next Report.

A Schedule of Documents removed from the Office of the Registrar of the Chancery of the County Palatine and a Schedule of Documents from the Office of the Clerk of the Crown for the same County are also in preparation.

Further assistance has been rendered by Clerks acting under the direction of Mr. Moran, of the Home Office. They have sorted and arranged various miscellaneous Papers, and those which appear to be of no value will be included in a second Schedule of Home Office Documents which have been removed to the Public Record Office.

As in previous years, so in the year 1893, the work of the Inspecting Officers has incidentally had the effect of bringing to light documents of value which were not previously known to exist. Thus, in the process of sorting the Journals and Log-Books of the Royal Navy for the purposes of the Schedule laid before the two Houses of Parliament in 1891, the Journals of various ships not mentioned in any List have already been discovered, and deficiencies in the series of Journals of other ships have been made good. Moreover, a copy of a Report on Log-Books and Journals in relation to Admiralty Rules and Instructions of various periods, which had been drawn up by one of the Inspecting Officers to serve as a guide in the construction of the Schedule, was applied for by the Admiralty, as containing information not previously known in that Department.

Again, in the preliminary sorting of Records of the County Palatine of Lancaster, many documents of interest and value have already been found, and the original expectation that the disposal of documents which are of insufficient value for preservation would render those of greater value more accessible, is being fulfilled.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

CALENDAR of entries in the PAPAL REGISTERS, illustrating the history of Great Britain and Ireland. Edited by W. H. BLISS, B.C.L., Vol. I.—1198–1304.

The Papal Regesta preserved in the Vatican Archives are contained in more than 2,000 volumes, placed in the order of successive pontificates, and covering the period from the end of the twelfth century to the end of the sixteenth. They contain contemporary, or nearly contemporary, copies of bulls, letters, and similar documents addressed to royal, noble, ecclesiastical, and other persons throughout the world; diplomatic correspondence, commissions to legates and nuncios, orders concerning ecclesiastical appointments, confirmations of monastic endowments and privileges, dispensations to laymen as well as to clerks, and a vast amount of miscellaneous matter.

The present Calendar gives abstracts of those entries in the Regesta which illustrate the history of Great Britain and Ireland.

CALENDAR OF THE PATENT ROLLS, preserved in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records.

Two volumes of this new series were published in 1893 :—

Edward I. 1281–1292.—This volume was prepared by Mr. J. G. Black, with some assistance from Mr. R. F. Isaacson and Mr. G. J. Morris, all of the Public Record Office.

Edward III. 1330–1334.—This volume was prepared by Mr. R. F. Isaacson.

CALENDAR OF THE CLOSE ROLLS, preserved in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records.

One volume of this new series was published in 1893 :—

Edward II. 1313–1318.—This volume was prepared by Mr. W. H. Stevenson.

CALENDAR OF LETTERS AND PAPERS, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII., preserved in Her Majesty's Public Record Office, the British Museum, and elsewhere in England. Vol. XIII. Part II. Edited by James Gairdner, late an Assistant Record Keeper.

This part of the thirteenth volume carries on the Calendar from the beginning of August until the end of December, 1538, and contains a full index to both parts of the volume. The suppression of the monasteries was still going on till the end of this year. In connexion with the surrender of Vale Royal Abbey, in Cheshire, a singular circumstance is brought to light. Two days after the date of the supposed surrender of this Abbey, the original of which, apparently signed by the abbot, the prior, and thirteen others, is in the Public Record Office, a letter was written to Cromwell by the abbot, protesting that neither he nor his monks had ever consented to surrender, and a comparison of the abbot's supposed signature to the surrender with the abbot's own letter shows the hands to be quite different. However, whether the surrender was genuine or forged, the result was the same as in all other cases. The letters of Richard Ingworth, Bishop of Dover, and Cromwell's special visitor of the houses of Friars, recounting his proceedings in various parts of the country with regard to these houses, are of great interest, and form new material for the most part for the history of the suppression. The difficulties threatening to beset Henry from abroad, in consequence of the meeting between Francis and the Emperor at Aigues-Mortes, and of the ten years' truce between them, brought about by the Pope's mediation, are illustrated by the steps the King thought it necessary to take for the defence of the country. The delegates from Germany sent to discuss theological matters with the English bishops and divines did not return home after their not very successful mission until October. The institution of parish registers dates from this year, and appears to have been a by no means popular innovation, for it was looked upon merely as a means to facilitate an alleged intention of the King to impose a tax on all marriages, baptisms, and burials. After the proclamation against Anabaptists, two of them were burned at Smithfield and one at Colchester, and four others recanted and bore faggots at St. Paul's. The circumstances connected with the trial of Sir Geoffrey Pole, the Cardinal's younger brother, and with many other obscure points in the history of this period, receive fresh elucidation.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS relating to Ireland, of the Reigns of Henry VIII., Edward VI., Mary, and Elizabeth, preserved in the Public Record Office. Vol. VI. 1596-1597. Edited by E. G. Atkinson.

This volume, edited by Mr. Atkinson, a senior clerk in this Department, is in continuation of the five previous volumes of State papers from the time of Henry VIII., edited by Mr. Hans C. Hamilton, a late Assistant Record Keeper. It covers a period of eighteen months only, from July 1596 to the end of 1597, just before Ireland was fast drifting into what is historically known as Tyrone's rebellion. The papers show the constant negotiations going on between Hugh O'Neill, and the English authorities, not perhaps with any hope for peace, but with the object of gaining time, as O'Neill was expecting help from Spain, and the English were making all haste to recruit their forces in Ireland. In May 1597, Sir William Russell was succeeded in the government of the country by Lord Burgh, but the latter died in October. Petty skirmishings with the rebels were constant, but few of the actions described in the papers were of any importance, except the defeat and death of Feagh M'Hugh at Ballinacor, the passage of the Blackwater by Lord Burgh, the successful campaign of Sir Conyers Clifford in Connaught, and his brilliant retreat from Ballyshannon, and the rout of Sir John Chichester's forces outside Carrickfergus.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, Domestic Series, of the Reign of Charles I., preserved in the Public Record Office. Vol. XXII. 1648-1649. Edited by William Douglas Hamilton, F.S.A.

The papers calendared in this volume bring the regular series of the reign of Charles I. to a close. The original documents are scantier than those for any year preceding 1648, the great bulk of this volume being made up of the proceedings and letters of the Derby House Committee. The influence of this committee in shaping the course of events was no longer what it had been previously; its proceedings, therefore, have not the same political significance. The army was gradually gaining the ascendancy over the power of Parliament, and consequently over the authority of its committees. Many new and interesting particulars of the King's residence in the Isle of Wight are here to be found; the estimates preserved with reference to the daily allowance for his diet are a curious contribution to the history of prices. Perhaps the most important original letters printed in this volume are those from John Crewe, a Member of Parliament, and one of the Commissioners sent to conduct the last attempt made by the House to come to terms with Charles.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II., preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by Mary Anne Everett Green.

This Calendar has been resumed after a lapse of twenty-seven years, owing to the services of its editor having been required to complete calendars of domestic papers of Elizabeth's reign and of the period of the Commonwealth. The time covered by this volume is eleven months only, namely, from November 1667 to September 1668. Some of the earlier papers illustrate the disgrace of Lord Clarendon, and the proceedings taken in both Houses with a view to his imprisonment; this was evaded by his flight to France, notwithstanding the professed attempts of the authorities to prevent him from leaving the kingdom. The only letter written by the Earl noticed in this volume gives a full account of the remarkable attack made upon him by some English sailors at or near Bourbon, from which he narrowly escaped with his life. Many papers show that the enthusiasm evoked by the restoration of the monarchy had quite evaporated, and that the relations between the King and his subjects were becoming the reverse of friendly; the chief grievances of the latter were publicly stated to be heavy taxation.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, Colonial, America and West Indies, 1675-1676, with Addenda, 1574-1674, preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by W. Noel Sainsbury, late an Assistant Record Keeper.

A large portion of this volume is taken up with Addenda from 1574 to 1674, many documents having been brought together from various sources since the publication of the previous volume of the calendar in 1889.

The number of volumes of the series of Calendars sold for your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1893 was 605, making a total of 20,362.

§ XI. LISTS AND INDEXES PUBLISHED.

NO. 2. LIST AND INDEX OF THE DECLARED ACCOUNTS FROM THE PIPE OFFICE AND THE AUDIT OFFICE, PRESERVED IN THE PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE.

The practice of declaring accounts before the Lord High Treasurer of England, or before the Chancellor of the Exchequer and two or more of the other Commissioners of the Treasury, seems to have been introduced in the sixteenth century, and established in the seventeenth. During the period of transition, accounts analogous to these were preserved in the office of the King's Remembrancer of the Exchequer, and these still remain among the records of that department in the Public Record Office.

When the system was in full operation, the practice was as follows:—Two copies of a particular account were prepared in the Audit Office, the one written on paper, and the other on parchment. Both were sent to the Treasury and there declared before the Lord High Treasurer, or before the Chancellor of the Exchequer and two or more of the other Commissioners of the Treasury, and both were alike signed by the proper Auditor, or, in later times, by the Commissioners for Auditing Public Accounts, and by the Lord High Treasurer or the Commissioners of the Treasury as above. The account was at this stage registered at the Treasury in volumes known as "Declared Accounts" and "Auditors' States of Accounts," which are now preserved in the Public Record Office. The copy on paper was then returned to the Audit Office, and the copy on parchment was sent to the office of the King's Remembrancer of the Exchequer, where it was enrolled in a series known as "Enrolments of Public Accounts. (Exchequer Q. R.)" Thence it was forwarded to the office of the Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer, where a brief abstract of it was entered among the "States and Views of Public Accounts." Finally, it was forwarded to the Clerk of the Pipe, who, until the practice was abolished, enrolled an abridgment of it, and retained the original. Thus the Audit Office series of Declared Accounts should consist of documents on paper, and the Pipe Office series should consist of the duplicates on parchment. In some cases, however, accounts on parchment have found their way into the Audit Office.

Inasmuch as the information contained in these documents occurs several times over in the different series, and the making of the parchment copy was abolished by statute 1 & 2 George IV. c. 121. s. 7., it has not been thought necessary to preserve in the Public Record Office both these series of signed accounts; those Declared Accounts from the Pipe Office, of which there are duplicates on paper later than the year 1714, have been transferred to the Bodleian Library under the rules made in pursuance of the Public Record Office Act of 1877.

The abridged enrolments made at the Pipe Office after 1714 have, moreover, been destroyed under the same rules, as being no longer of any use.

The List now published enumerates those Declared Accounts, signed as above mentioned, which have been preserved.

§ XII. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

MEMORANDA DE PARLIAMENTO. 33 Edward I. Edited by F. W. Maitland, M.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1889).

The document which forms the foundation of this volume is one of the earliest, amplest, and most complete of the ancient rolls of Parliament. Although some portions of it are already known by extracts transcribed in the MS. called the Vetus Codex, printed in Ryley's Placita Parliamentaria in 1661, and again in the large edition of Rotuli Parliamentorum, the existence of the original among the records of the King's Remembrancer has been hitherto overlooked. The editor has greatly increased the value of the work by collating the roll with the petitions of the year 1305, and by inserting extracts from various records showing the proceedings taken in consequence.

CHARTULARY OF THE ABBEY OF RAMSEY. Vol. III., Edited by the late William Henry Hart, F.S.A., and the Rev. Ponsonby A. Lyons. (Publication sanctioned in 1882.)

This volume completes the work which has been noticed in previous Reports. Nearly one-half of it is occupied by a very full Index to the whole, prepared by Mr. R. E. G. Kirk.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1893 has been 514, making a total of 53,229.

At the end of the year there were six works belonging to this series in the press, and one other in course of preparation, all of which, with one exception, were undertaken before my appointment to be Deputy Keeper of the Records.

In the Press:—

ICELANDIC SAGAS, AND OTHER HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS relating to the Settlements and Descents of the Northmen on the British Isles. Vols. III.-IV. Translated by Sir George Webbe Dasent, D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1859.)

THE HISTORIANS OF THE CHURCH OF YORK AND ITS ARCHBISHOPS. Vol. III. Edited by the Rev. James Raine, M.A., Canon of York, and Secretary of the Surtees Society. (Publication sanctioned in 1872.)

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. Vol. VII. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

RANULF DE GLANVILL; TRACTATUS DE LEGIBUS ET CONSUETUDINIBUS ANGLIÆ, &c. Edited and translated by Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C., D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

CHRONICLE OF HENRY KNIGHTON, Canon of Leicester, to the death of RICHARD II. Edited by the Rev. Joseph Rawson Lumby, D.D. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

THE RED BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER. Edited by Hubert Hall, F.S.A., of the Public Record Office. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

In course of Preparation:—

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUND'S ABBEY. Vol. III. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

The material reduction of the amount voted in Parliament for the publication of documents connected with the history of this country prior to the reign of Henry VIII. has, in combination with other causes, prevented the undertaking of any fresh work for this series since 1885, except the Chartulary of the Abbey of St. Thomas the Martyr, Dublin, and the Parliamentary Records of 1305 mentioned above.

§ XIII. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series.
Vol. VI. A.D. 1556-1558. Vol. VII. A.D. 1558-1570.
Edited by John Roche Dasent, M.A., Barrister-at-Law.

The first of these volumes completes the proceedings of the Council during the reign of Mary. In the second volume there is a gap of three years, from May 1567 to May 1570, the Register for that period being unfortunately missing.

§ XIV. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME:

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the archives of the Vatican.

It was stated in my last three Reports that I had arranged that he should prepare a Calendar of those entries in the Registers of the mediæval popes which illustrate the history of Great Britain and Ireland. The first volume of this work was published in 1893 (See § X.). Materials have also been collected for the second and third volumes, and instalments of these have been sent to the printers.

VENICE:

Mr. Horatio F. Brown has continued his researches in the Venetian archives. By the end of 1893, twenty-four sheets of a Calendar of documents and entries relating to English affairs, beginning with the year 1581, had been passed for press.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, and VIENNA:

Don Pascual de Gayangos has continued his researches. By the end of the year 1893, a volume dealing with the years 1542 and 1543 had been passed for press, with the exception of the Index.

Major M. A. S. Hume had also almost completed a volume, embracing the years 1568 to 1579.

§ XV. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has, as in former years, been conducted at Rolls House, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commissioners.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this second day of May 1894.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) ESHER, M.R.

THE FIFTY-SIXTH REPORT
OF THE
DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC
RECORDS.

TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg to submit to Your Majesty a Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1894, pursuant to the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94. § 17.

Certain outstanding questions with regard to the organisation of the Department were in January referred to the Consultative Committee established by Your Majesty's Order in Council of 15th August, 1890. Several meetings were accordingly held, the Committee consisting of the Hon. Sir Robert Meade, K.C.B., Mr. W. J. Courthope, and Mr. A. Milner, the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury being represented by Sir R. E. Welby, K.C.B., and the Public Record Office by me. In the end, a scheme was prepared by which the salaries of the Clerks were somewhat improved, and the distinction between Senior Clerks and Junior Clerks was abolished. This scheme received the approval of the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury in May 1894.

A separate enquiry into the organisation of the subordinate establishment of this Office was also conducted by the Hon. Sir C. W. Fremantle, K.C.B., and Mr. H. W. Primrose, C.S.I., who drew up a long and careful report on the subject. Eventually the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury sanctioned their proposal that the permanent subordinate establishment should consist of 36 attendants and repairers, instead of 49 workmen, and that there should be 9 temporary messengers and doorkeepers and 5 porters, selected if possible from Pensioners of the Army, Navy, or Police.

§ IV. CALENDARS.

PATENT ROLLS:

I have stated in previous Reports that I had made arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls, and that identical instructions had been given to the different officers employed upon the work. Reserving the reign of Henry III. for future treatment, the object of my scheme is to provide an English Calendar to these invaluable documents from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. inclusive. The work has been started at five points:—

Edward I.—The text of a volume, embracing the period between the twenty-first and the twenty-ninth years inclusive, was completed at press in 1894, and the index was in the printers' hands at the end of the year.

Edward II.—A volume, embracing the first six years of the reign was published in 1894. (See § X.) Four sheets of a second volume had been set up in type by the end of the year.

Edward III.—Twenty-two sheets of the third volume for this reign were completed at press in 1894, and nine more sheets were in type at the end of the year.

Richard II.—The text of the first volume for this reign was completed at press in 1894. A considerable amount of material for the second volume was also prepared.

Edward IV.—A Calendar for this reign was begun in the later part of the year.

Certain initial difficulties having been overcome, I hope that this important series of Calendars will proceed steadily.

ANCIENT DEEDS:

The second volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds, mentioned in previous Reports, was published in 1894. (See § X.)

Three sheets of a third volume had been set up in type by the end of the year.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE:

Further progress was made with the Calendar of mediæval Letters, and the whole collection has been arranged in approximately chronological order.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII.:

Mr. J. Gairdner, who was assisted, as before, by Mr. R. H. Brodie, proceeded with the important Calendar of all historical documents in England relating to the reign of Henry VIII. The first part of Volume XIV. was published in 1894. (See § X.)

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH:

Fourteen sheets of a new volume, beginning with the year 1598, were passed for press in 1894.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I. :

Mr. W. D. Hamilton having, in 1893, completed the twenty-second volume of this Calendar and brought it down to the end of the reign, undertook to prepare materials for a supplementary volume dealing with papers that had not been previously described. Twenty-one sheets of it had been passed for press by the month of August 1894, when Mr. Hamilton died.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES :

Twelve sheets of a volume dealing with America and the West Indies in and after 1677 were passed for press in the course of 1894.

CLOSE ROLLS :

A Calendar of the Close Rolls from the twelfth to the sixteenth year of Edward II. prepared by Mr. W. H. Stevenson, was practically completed in 1894. Thirty-three sheets of the succeeding volume had also been passed for press by the end of the year.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress was made with the Calendar of Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery and Exchequer in the reign of Henry VII. The printing of the first volume was begun in May 1894, and twenty sheets had been passed for press by the end of the year.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II. :

Seven volumes of this Calendar, embracing the period from 1660 to 1667, were published between the years 1860 and 1866, but the work was suspended for a considerable time. As stated in my last Report, Mrs. Green issued a volume in 1893 dealing with the papers of eleven months from November 1667 to September 1668. This has been followed by a volume which carries the Calendar down to the end of 1669. (See § X.)

The work has also been resumed at a later point, and by the end of 1894, Mr. F. H. Blackburne Daniell had passed for press thirty-seven sheets, comprising the whole text, of a volume dealing with the papers of 1671.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF WILLIAM AND MARY :

A Calendar of the State Papers, Domestic, of the reign of William and Mary has also been undertaken, and the work has been entrusted to Mr. W. J. Hardy, a son of my predecessor. By the end of 1894, he had passed for press thirty-five sheets, comprising the whole text, of a volume dealing with the papers of 1689.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM:

Some progress has been made with the alphabetical arrangement of the tabular Index of the Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS:

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery, before the reign of Elizabeth, has undergone further revision with a view to the publication of a first instalment of it at an early date.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS:

Considerable progress was made in 1894, with the printing of a similar List of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, but not noticed in the three volumes issued by the Record Commission in 1827-1832

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS:

The First Part of the comprehensive List of Ministers Accounts mentioned in my last Report was published in 1894, (See § XI.) An index has to follow.

COURT ROLLS:

Considerable progress was made in 1894 with the printing of a similar List of all the Manorial Rolls in this Office, which are open to public inspection.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURT OF REQUESTS:

This work has been[?] suspended since the retirement, in March, 1891, of Mr. P. S. Leigh Hunt, the officer who was engaged upon it.

PLEA ROLLS:

The list of Plea Rolls and other Rolls of proceedings in courts of law in England and Wales, mentioned in my last Report, was published in 1894. (See § XI.)

SUBSIDY ACCOUNTS:

Considerable progress had been made with the List of these documents which was mentioned in my last Report.

RENTALS AND SURVEYS:

Considerable progress has been made with the List of these documents which was mentioned in my last Report.

ENROLLED ACCOUNTS:

Considerable progress has been made with a List of Accounts, other than those of Sheriffs, enrolled upon the mediæval Pipe Rolls and Chancellor's Rolls, which was mentioned in my last Report.

EARLY ACCOUNTS:

A List of original Accounts of expenditure; formerly preserved at the Treasury of the Receipt and in the Office of the Queen's Remembrancer, has been completed in manuscript.

SHERIFFS:

Further progress has been made with a List of Sheriffs, based upon entries in the Pipe Rolls, and the Fine Rolls, which was mentioned in my last Report.

STATE PAPERS:

A List of volumes of State Papers relating to Great Britain and Ireland and the Channel Islands, preserved in the Public Record Office, has been prepared and printed. (See § XI.)

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the previous seven years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described, especially to the early records of the Chancery and the Exchequer. The number of unsorted documents in the Office has thus been very materially reduced.

Large additions have been made to several classes of documents which are being brought together from various parts of the office, especially to the series of Ancient Deeds.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

A further sum of 35,000*l.* was voted by the House of Commons for the financial year 1894-95 towards the erection of a new block of the Public Record Office, the total cost of which was estimated at 79,650*l.*

Considerable progress was accordingly made by the contractors Messrs. Foster and Dicksee, and I hope to be able to mention the completion of this block in my next Report.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of the above-mentioned Act have continued their duties in accordance with the Rules of which Your Majesty's approbation was declared by Order in Council on the 30th of June 1890.

The Schedule of Documents removed from the Office of the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas of the County Palatine of Lancaster to the Public Record Office, but not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation therein, which was mentioned in my last Report, was laid before the House of Commons on the 12th, and before the House of Lords on the 13th of March 1894, and it lay on the table of each House for the required period of four weeks.

Some further progress has been made with the Schedule of Documents from the Office of the Registrar of the Chancery of the County Palatine of Lancaster, which was also mentioned in my last Report. The completion of it has, however, been deferred because, owing to the manner in which the Documents are arranged, the examination of them requires more than ordinary care and attention.

A Schedule of Documents removed from the Office of the Clerk of the Crown of the County Palatine of Lancaster to the Public Record Office, but not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation therein, having been approved by the Master of the Rolls, was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 19th of June, 1894, and it lay on the table of each House for the required period of four weeks.

The Clerk of the Peace for the City of Birmingham, having addressed an enquiry to Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, in relation to the disposal of Documents which he considered valueless, the matter was referred to this Department by direction of the Secretary of State.

The documents were inspected at Birmingham by one of the Inspecting Officers, who made a Report upon the subject. A Schedule was afterwards prepared, approved by the Master of the Rolls, and laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 16th of April, 1894, and it lay on the table of each House for the required period of four weeks.

Some assistance was again rendered, during the earlier portion of the year, by Clerks acting under the direction of Mr. Moran, of the Home Office, who have finished the sorting of the miscellaneous papers mentioned in my last Report. Considerable progress has been made with the second Schedule of Home Office Documents, which have been removed to the Public Record Office. It has not yet been completed because some documents, in addition to those miscellaneous papers upon which the Home Office Clerks have been engaged, ought probably to be included in it, and further classification will be required.

Considerable attention has been given to certain documents which relate to the practice in the office of the Masters in Ordinary of the High Court of Chancery. There are many which, it is believed, cannot now be of any further use, and a Schedule of them is in course of preparation.

Various applications continue to be made to the Inspecting Officers as well in relation to the disposal of documents which are included in Schedules already laid before the two Houses of Parliament as in relation to the preparation of future Schedules.

The utility of the method pursued, not only in freeing the Department from useless matter, but also in rendering useful documents accessible, is demonstrated year by year; e.g. in making a list of the Logs of the Royal Navy which are to be preserved, several were found which were not specified in the old Lists.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

CALENDAR OF THE PATENT ROLLS, preserved in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records.

One volume of this new series was published in 1894:—

Edward II. 1307–1313.—This volume was prepared by Mr. G. F. Handcock of the Public Record Office.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE OF ANCIENT DEEDS, in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records. Vol. II.

This volume deals with Nos. 1820 to 3836 of the A. series, Exchequer, Treasury of the Receipt; Nos. 1799 to 3870 of the B. series, Court of Augmentations; and Nos. 1781 to 2915 of the C. series, Chancery. The text was prepared by Mr. G. F. Handcock, Mr. E. Salisbury, and Mr. C. H. Woodruff, and it was revised by Mr. J. M. Thompson and to some extent by me.

CALENDAR OF LETTERS AND PAPERS, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII., preserved in the Public Record Office, the British Museum, and elsewhere in England. Edited by James Gairdner, late an Assistant Record Keeper, and R. H. Brodie of the Public Record Office. Vol. XIV. Part I.

This part of the fourteenth volume carries on the Calendar for the last seven months of the year 1539. Among the chief subjects illustrated by documents hitherto unpublished, are the arrest and trial of Sir Nicholas Carew, Master of the Horse; the mission of Cardinal Pole to the Pope to organise a confederation of the Emperor and the King of France against his own sovereign; the schemes for the assassination of the Cardinal; the preparations of Henry VIII. against an expected invasion by the French; and his plans for fomenting dissensions in Germany and Northern Italy; the beginning of his negotiations with the young Duke of Cleves; the intrigues for the return of well-disposed persons to Parliament; and the steps taken to carry out the King's desire "to extinguish diversities of opinion by law."

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II. preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by Mary Anne Everett Green. Vol. IX. 1668-1669.

The first seven volumes of this Calendar were published between the years 1860 and 1866, but the work was suspended for twenty-seven years in order that the editor might deal with the Domestic State Papers of the reign of Elizabeth and of the period of the Commonwealth. The eighth Volume, published in 1893, carried the Calendar down to the end of September 1668, and the ninth deals with the period from October 1668 to December 1669.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, relating to English affairs, preserved principally in the archives of Simancas. Elizabeth, Vol. II. 1568-1579. Edited by Martin A. S. Hume.

The early part of this volume consists of translations of despatches from Guzman de Silva, ambassador from Philip II. to Queen Elizabeth, and of occasional letters from that monarch to him. He was succeeded in August 1568 by Guerau de Spes, who was expelled from England in December 1571. The correspondence for the next five years was conducted by a Spanish merchant named Antonio de Guaras, who was arrested in October 1577, but a regular ambassador was accredited in 1578 in the person of Don Bernardino de Mendoza, whose letters occupy the latter part of the volume.

The number of volumes of the series of Calendars sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1894 was 996, making a total of 21,358.

§ XI. LISTS AND INDEXES PUBLISHED.

No. 3. LIST OF STATE PAPERS RELATING TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND AND THE CHANNEL ISLANDS. PART I.

The main object of this List is to furnish clear references to the various volumes of State Papers of the Domestic Series to the end of the reign of George II., preserved in the Public Record Office. The English papers comprised in it begin with the reign of Edward VI., those of the preceding period being incorporated with the series of "Letters and Papers, Foreign and Domestic, of the reign of Henry VIII." The Scottish and the Irish papers comprised in it, having been separately bound, begin with the reign of Henry VIII.

In re-numbering the whole series of volumes upon a uniform system, care has been taken to make the references agree with those given by the different editors of Calendars published by this Department since 1855. Volumes not yet calendared have been numbered in continuation.

The List has been prepared by Mr. R. A. Roberts of the Public Record Office.

NO. 4. LIST OF PLEA ROLLS OF VARIOUS COURTS.

This is a List of all the Plea Rolls preserved in the Public Record Office, with the exception of Pleas of the Forest, which will be included in a future List of Forest Proceedings.

As some uncertainty exists with regard to the exact date of the separation of the Courts of King's Bench and Common Pleas, the Rolls prior to the reign of Edward I. have been described, according to precedent, as Rolls of the Curia Regis. Under the general title of "Eyre Rolls, Assize Rolls, &c." are included:—

- (1.) Rolls of Justices Itinerant, which generally comprise "Placita de Juratis et Assisis," "Placita Coronæ," and "Placita de Quo Warranto," and in some cases "Placita de Querelis," and "Deliberationes Gaolarum." It was customary to make several copies of these Rolls, one for the King, marked "Rex," and others for the different justices engaged.
- (2.) Rolls of Justices of Assize, who, by the statute 27 Edward I. were empowered to act also as Justices of Gaol Delivery.
- (3.) Rolls of Justices of Oyer and Terminer.
- (4.) A few original commissions to take special assizes of Novel Disseisin, &c. with the proceedings thereon, and Inquisitions and Presentments of juries and other documents subsidiary to the Eyre Rolls and Assize Rolls.

A small collection of Plea Rolls, formerly preserved in the Tower of London, and known as "Tower Assize Rolls" or "Tower Coram Rege Rolls," has been incorporated, some being added to the class of Rolls of the Curia Regis, and the remainder to the class of Eyre Rolls and Assize Rolls.

The List has been prepared by Mr. S. R. Scargill-Bird, an Assistant Record Keeper, with the assistance of Mr. H. Rodney, and the Rolls have been re-numbered under his direction, in such a way as to simplify the references necessary for their production in the Search Room.

NO. 5. LIST OF ORIGINAL MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS. PART I.

This is mainly a List of original Accounts of Bailiffs, Reeves, Farmers, Receivers and other ministers, or officers, appointed to collect the issues of manors and lands in various parts of England, Wales, and Ireland, which did not form part of the "Firma Comitatus," or yearly farm of the different sheriffs. Some of them are scored through, in evidence of their having been enrolled on the Pipe Roll or elsewhere.

The Ministers' Accounts of the Duchy of Lancaster have been given the first place in this List, because a List of them has been already printed in the 45th Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Records, and it appeared desirable to retain the references there assigned to them.

The General Series consists mainly of Accounts formerly preserved among the so-called Ancient Miscellanea of the Queen's Remembrancer's Office, a brief list of which is given in the Appendix to the 20th Report of the Deputy Keeper (pp. 95-111), but with these have been incorporated analogous documents formerly preserved in the Chapter House at Westminster, in the Office of Land Revenue Records, and in the Tower of London.

Some of the smaller series which follow are briefly described in the 20th and 21st Reports of the Deputy Keeper.

The present List comprises only Accounts anterior to the reign of Henry VII., and it will have a separate Index. A List of similar Accounts of later date is in course of compilation.

This first instalment of the work has been prepared by Mr. R. D. Trimmer, an Assistant Record Keeper, with some help from Mr. A. Hughes, and Mr. C. G. Crump of this Office, and others.

§ XII. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The three following volumes were issued during the year 1894 :—

THE HISTORIANS OF THE CHURCH OF YORK AND ITS ARCHBISHOPS. Edited by James Raine, M.A., D.C.L., Chancellor of York. Vol. III. (Publication sanctioned in 1872.)

The documents printed in this volume are for the most part derived from the archives of the Dean and Chapter of York and the registers of the Archbishops. They range in date from the year 930 to the beginning of the sixteenth century. The volume contains also an index to the whole work now completed.

ICELANDIC SAGAS, AND OTHER HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS relating to the Settlements and Descents of the Northmen on the British Isles. Vol. III. The Orkneyingers' Saga, with Appendices. Vol. IV. The Saga of Hacon, and a fragment of the Saga of Magnus, with Appendices. Translated by Sir G. W. Dasent, D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1859.)

These are translations of the two volumes of Icelandic Sagas issued in the original language by the late M. Gudbrand Vigfusson in 1887.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1894 was 822, making a total of 54,051.

At the end of the year there were five works belonging to this series in the press, all of which were sanctioned before my appointment to be Deputy Keeper of the Records.

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. Vol. VII. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

RANULF DE GLANVILL; TRACTATUS DE LEGIBUS ET CONSUETUDINIBUS ANGLIÆ. Edited and translated by Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C., D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

CHRONICLE OF HENRY KNIGHTON, Canon of Leicester. Edited by the Rev. Joseph Rawson Lumby, D.D. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

THE RED BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER. Edited by Hubert Hall, F.S.A., of the Public Record Office. Parts I. II. and III. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUND'S ABBEY. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A. Vol. III. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

§ XIII. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series. Vol. VIII. A.D. 1571-1575. Vol. IX. A.D. 1575-1577. Edited by John Roche Dasent, M.A., Barrister-at-Law.

The publication of these two volumes in 1894 shows that this series is making very satisfactory progress.

§ XIV. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME:

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the archives of the Vatican. Two volumes prepared by him have been in the press during the year 1894, viz. :—

CALENDAR OF ENTRIES IN THE PAPAL REGISTERS, RELATING TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. PAPAL LETTERS, VOL. II. A.D. 1305-1342.

Thirty-seven sheets, comprising the whole of the text, were passed for press between February and November.

CALENDAR OF ENTRIES IN THE PAPAL REGISTERS, RELATING TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. PETITIONS TO THE POPE. VOL. I. A.D. 1342-1419.

Twenty-two sheets were passed for press between March and December.

Mr. Bliss has also prepared some materials for a third volume of the Calendar of Papal Letters.

VENICE:

Mr. Horatio F. Brown has continued his researches in the Venetian archives. By the end of 1894, he had passed for press the whole text and the preface of a Calendar of documents and entries relating to English affairs between the years 1581 and 1591.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, and VIENNA:

Don Pascual de Gayangos has continued his researches, and has prepared the index to a Calendar of documents relating to English affairs in the years 1542 and 1543.

Major M. A. S. Hume has also completed at press a volume, embracing the period from 1568 to 1579. (See § X.) Two sheets of the succeeding volume had also been passed for press by the end of the year.

PARIS:—

Transcripts of certain despatches from French ambassadors in England have been made in order to fill up gaps in the series formed by the late M. Armand Baschet between the years 1870 and 1885.

§ XV. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has, as in former years, been conducted at Rolls House, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commissioners.

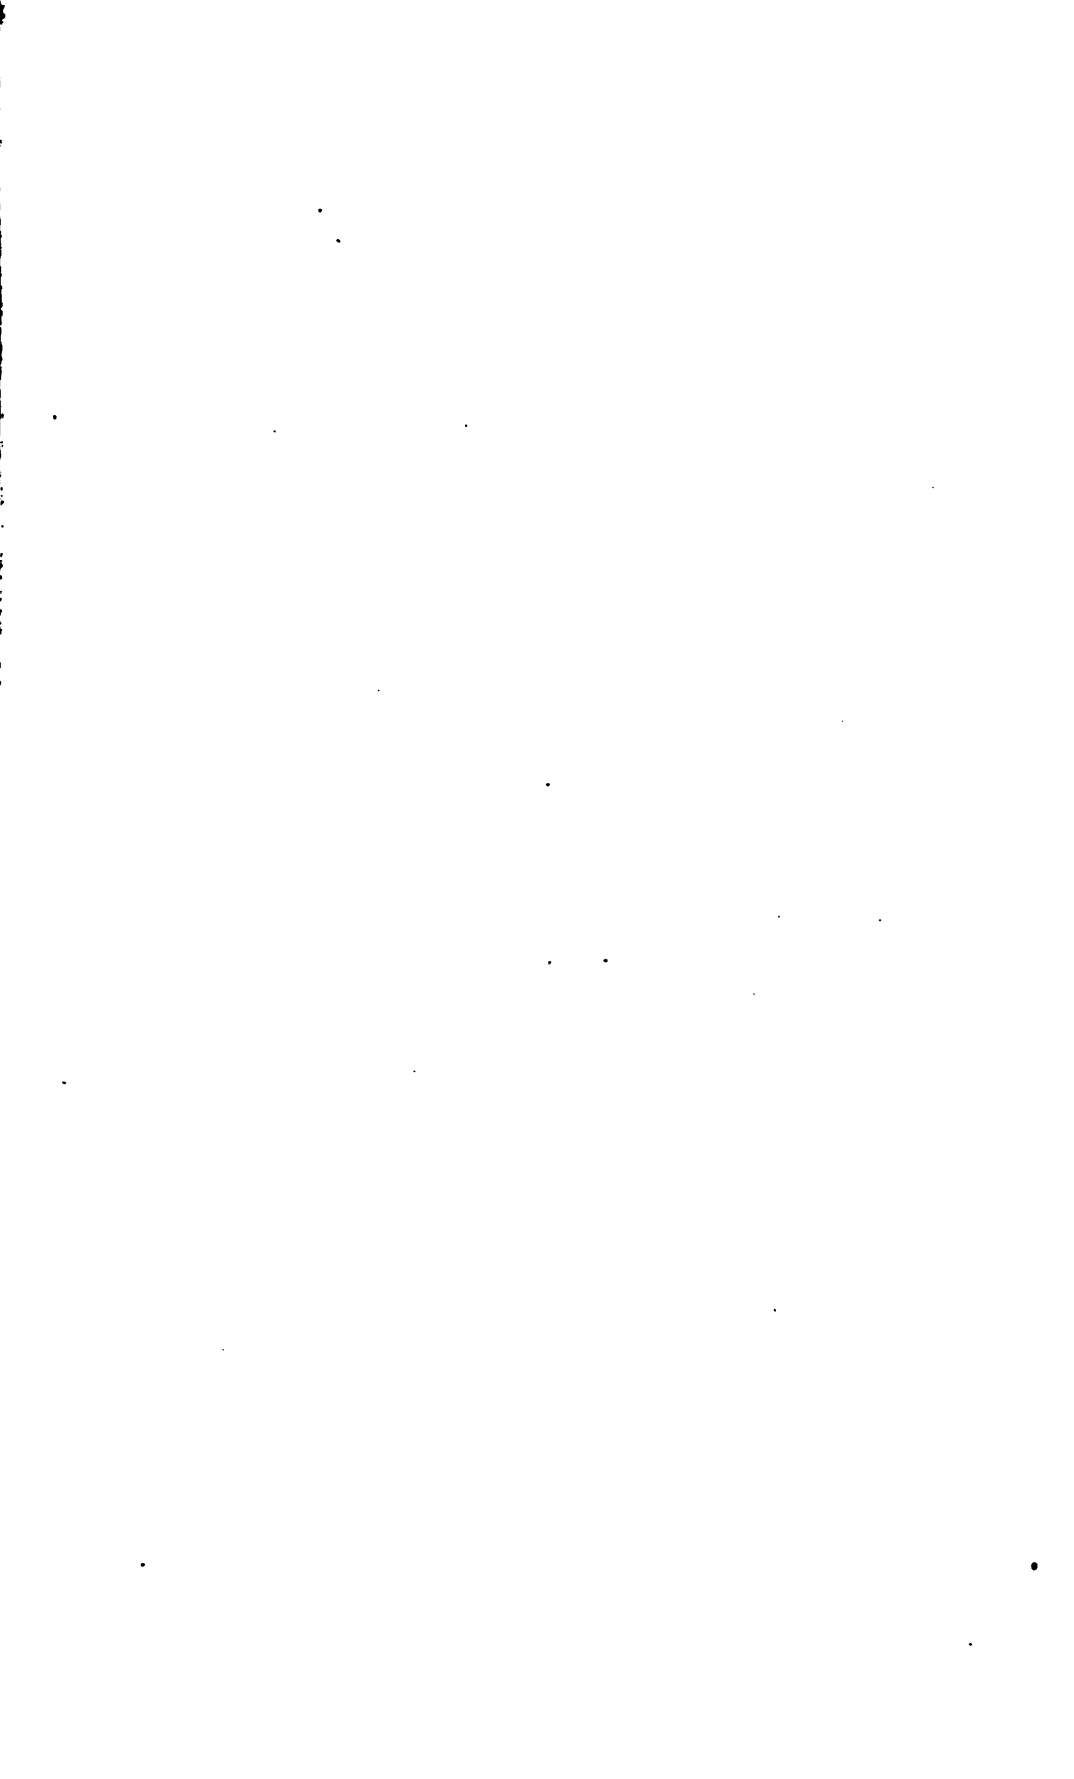

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 5th day of July 1895.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) Esher, M.R.

From the Treasury:—

Treasury Papers, 18 parcels.

Registers, 8 Vols.

§ IV. CALENDARS.

PATENT ROLLS:

I have stated in previous Reports that I had made arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls, and that identical instructions had been given to the different officers employed upon the work. Reserving the reign of Henry III. for future treatment, the object of my scheme is to provide an English Calendar to these invaluable documents from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. inclusive. The work has been started at five points:—

Edward I.—A volume, embracing the period between the twenty-first and the twenty-ninth years inclusive, was published in 1895. (See § X.) Four sheets of the succeeding volume, which will extend to the end of the reign, were completed at press in 1895.

Edward II.—Eighteen sheets of the second volume for this reign were completed at press in 1895.

Edward III.—The third volume for this reign was published in 1895. (See § X.) A considerable amount of material for the fourth volume was also prepared.

Richard II.—The first volume for this reign was published in 1895. (See § X.) Nineteen sheets of the second volume were also completed at press.

Edward IV.—Thirteen sheets of the first volume for this reign were completed at press in 1895.

Certain initial difficulties having been overcome, I hope that this important series of Calendars will proceed steadily.

ANCIENT DEEDS:

Eighteen sheets of the third volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds, mentioned in previous Reports, were completed at press in 1895.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE:

Further progress has been made with the Calendar of mediæval Letters.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII.:

The second part of Vol. XIV. was in the binders' hands at the end of 1895.

Twelve sheets of Volume XV. were also completed at press in the course of the year.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH:

A volume dealing with the years 1598 and 1599 was published in 1895. (See § X.) Materials were also collected for another volume.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I.:

The editorship of the supplementary volume begun by the late Mr. W. D. Hamilton, was entrusted to Mrs. Everett Green, but the work has been again interrupted by her death.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES:

This work was interrupted by the death, in March 1895, of the editor, Mr. W. N. Sainsbury. The task of completing the volume which was then in the press, was entrusted to the Hon. J. W. Fortescue, and he almost brought it to a close by the end of the year.

CLOSE ROLLS:

The third volume of the Calendar of Close Rolls of the reign of Edward II. was published in 1895. (See § X.) The text and the index of the fourth volume were completed at press. Thirty-one sheets of the first volume for the reign of Edward III. were similarly completed.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM:

Further progress was made with the Calendar of Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery and Exchequer in the reign of Henry VII. By the end of 1895, thirty-five sheets of the first volume were completed at press.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II.:

The late Mrs. Everett Green completed her section of this work last year, bringing it down to the end of 1670. (See § X.)

Mr. Blackburne Daniell, completed a volume dealing with the first eleven months of the year 1671. (See § X.) He has also made considerable progress with another volume.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM:

Some further progress was made with the alphabetical arrangement of the tabular Index of Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS:

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery, before the reign of Elizabeth, has undergone further revision, with a view to the publication of a first instalment of it at an early date.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS:

Further progress was made in 1895, with the printing of a similar List of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, but not noticed in the three volumes issued by the Record Commission in 1827-1832.

COURT ROLLS:

A great part of the comprehensive List of Court Rolls preserved in the Public Record Office was passed for press in the course of 1895.

SUBSIDY ACCOUNTS :

Further progress was made with the List of these documents mentioned in previous Reports.

RENTALS AND SURVEYS :

Further progress was made with the List of these documents mentioned in previous Reports.

ENROLLED ACCOUNTS :

The manuscript of a List extending down to the end of the reign of Richard III. was almost completed in December . 1895.

EARLY ACCOUNTS :

Some additions were made to the List of original Accounts of expenditure mentioned in previous Reports. It has not yet been printed, but a fair copy of it was begun for the use of the public in the Search Rooms.

SHERIFFS :

The List of Sheriffs, based upon entries in the Pipe Rolls and the Fine Rolls, which was mentioned in my last two Reports, was completed in manuscript.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the previous eight years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described in existing Calendars and Lists. A List of Early Accounts of the Exchequer having been completed as mentioned in my last Report, the documents, numbering about 15,000, have been re-arranged and labelled so as to correspond with the List. The remainder of the documents formerly known as the Ancient Miscellanea of the Exchequer (Q.R.) have also been classified and re-numbered. In the course of arrangement considerable additions have been made to the Ancient Deeds, the Inquisitiones post mortem, and the County Placita.

The classes to which most attention has been given have been Ancient Correspondence, Decree Rolls, Ancient Deeds, (Series A., A.A., B., B.B., C., C.C., D., D.D., E., F., F.F., L., L.L., L.S.), Depositions, Warrants for Privy Seals, Chancery and Exchequer Proceedings, Surveys and Rentals, Exchequer Accounts, Feet of Fines, Admiralty Letters and Petitions, Colonial Letters and Papers, Court Rolls, Audit Office Declared Accounts, State Papers Domestic, &c., Minister's Accounts, Home Office Papers, &c.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

A further sum of 8,500*l.* was voted by the House of Commons for the financial year 1895–96 towards the erection of a new block of the Public Record Office, the total cost of which was estimated at 79,650*l.* A sum of 7,000*l.* was also voted at the same time for iron presses and furniture for the new block, and the expenses of removing Records into it.

This, the third instalment of the General Repository of Records, was completed in the autumn of 1895, from designs by Mr. John Taylor, C.B. of Your Majesty's Office of Works and Public Buildings, on a site occupied before by twelve houses in Chancery Lane and the southern part of Rolls Yard. In general character it is very similar to the portion previously erected by the late Sir James Pennethorne. Inasmuch, however, as the stone used by him has shown signs of decay, Portland oolite has been substituted for Church Anstone sandstone, and Babbacombe limestone for Kentish rag.

The façade to Chancery Lane is 225 feet long, with a depth of 44 feet at the northern end, and 65 feet at the southern end. The height from the basement floor to the top of the parapet is 84 feet, and there are four ranges of windows. There is a central tower over the gateway, and there are octagonal turrets at the north-western, south-western, and south-eastern angles.

The whole building is of fireproof construction, and the floors have been made on the Fawcett system. Hydrants have been placed on each floor. All the corridors and rooms have been provided with electric light.

The rooms in the northern part of the new block have been fitted with steel presses and slate shelves for the reception of documents of different departments of State. The rooms in the southern part are for the use of the Deputy Keeper, the Secretary, and other members of the staff, who were formerly located in Rolls House. On the ground floor is a Library of printed books for the use of officers of the Department. A room on the first floor, immediately over the gateway, will serve as a museum of documents of special beauty and interest, until the completion of another block of the Public Record Office.

Two statues have been placed in niches over the gateway on the eastern side;—that of Henry III. who founded the House of Converts on this site, and that of Edward III., who united the office of Keeper of the House of Converts with that of Keeper of the Rolls of Chancery.

The removal from Rolls House into the new building was effected in October 1895. Without going into further particulars, it may be well to state that the lightness of the rooms in the latter is of great advantage to those who are occupied in deciphering ancient manuscripts.

In an Appendix to this Report I give some account of the Rolls Chapel, which has been recently demolished.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of the above-mentioned Act have continued their duties in accordance with the Rules of which Your Majesty's approbation was declared by Order in Council on the 30th of June 1890.

Further progress has been made with the Schedule of Documents from the Office of the Registrar of the Chancery of the County Palatine of Lancaster, which has been mentioned in previous Reports. The completion of it has, however, been again deferred, for reasons already stated, and because the various removals of documents, consequent upon the erection of a new block of buildings, involved other work of a more pressing nature.

For similar reasons, the Second Schedule of Home Office documents which have been removed to the Public Record Office, has not yet been quite completed, though it is in an advanced state of preparation. The Inspecting Officers have again had the assistance of Mr. Moran of the Home Office.

The Schedule of Documents of the High Court of Chancery relating to the practice before the Masters in Ordinary, which was mentioned in my last Report as being in course of preparation, required the most careful consideration. It was, however, completed in the year 1895. After having been submitted to Lord Justice Lindley, who agreed with all the thirty-six recommendations contained in it (except one touching the disposal of copies of wills), it was duly approved by the Master of the Rolls.

The Pay Books of the Royal Navy, of which there appear to have been at one time no less than five concurrent series, occupied a great amount of valuable space. After they had been subjected to a very close inspection, it appeared that there was not any reason for preserving more than two of these series. Mr. Follett Pennell, the Deputy Accountant-General of the Navy, was associated with the Inspecting Officers in the consideration of this subject, and employed several clerks of his department to make an independent examination of the documents under his supervision. In the end it was agreed that if one series, known as the Treasurer's, and another known as that of the Ticket Office, were preserved, the rest might safely be destroyed. A Third Schedule of Documents removed from the Office of the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral to the Public Record Office was accordingly prepared. It was submitted to the Master of the Rolls, who gave his approval, and it was also approved by the First Lord of the Admiralty.

Owing to the near approach of the prorogation of Parliament, neither of the two last-mentioned Schedules was laid before the two Houses in the year 1895, but the subsequent proceedings in relation to them will be noticed in my next Report.

Various documents included in Schedules which have already been submitted to the two Houses of Parliament have been found, from time to time, during the process of sorting, and have been duly sent to the Controller of Your Majesty's Stationery Office for destruction.

Suggestions have been received from Your Majesty's Office of Works touching the destruction of documents of the Insolvent Debtors' Court at Somerset House, in order to give more space to the Inland Revenue Department. As, however, the particular documents have not yet been included in any Schedule, and as the Senior Registrar in Bankruptcy had not expressed any desire to have them included, the Inspecting Officers did not take any action in the matter.

In sorting the Journals and Logs of the Royal Navy for the purposes of the Schedule in which those of no value are included for destruction, discoveries continue to be made of valuable Logs, &c. not previously known to exist.

Application having been received from Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, from the President of the Board of Agriculture, and from the Registrar of Friendly Societies, for an extension of the rules made by the Master of the Rolls under the above-mentioned Act, to their Departments, a new rule was made and approved as appears below :—

"I, the Right Honourable William Baliol, Baron Esher of Esher, in the county of Surrey, Master of the Rolls, in exercise of the power conferred upon me by the first section of the Public Record Office Act, 1877, do hereby make the Rule following :—

"The Rules made by me of which Her Majesty declared Her approbation by Order in Council on the 30th day of June 1890 shall extend to documents of the Department of Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, the Board of Agriculture, and of the Registry of Friendly Societies.

"11th June 1895.

"ESHES, M.R.

"The Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury approve of this Rule.

"RICHD. K. CAUSTON.

"W. A. McARTHUR.

"Further approved by the heads of the following departments :

"Foreign Office, KIMBERLEY.

"Board of Agriculture, HERBERT GARDNER.

"Registry of Friendly Societies, EDWARD W. BRABROOK."

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

CALENDAR OF THE PATENT ROLLS, preserved in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records.

Three volumes of this new series were published in 1895 :—

Edward I. 1292–1301.—This volume was prepared by Mr. J. G. Black, B.A. of the Public Record Office.

Edward III. 1334–1338.—This volume was prepared by Mr. R. F. Isaacson of the Public Record Office.

Richard II. 1377–1381.—This volume was prepared by Mr. G. J. Morris, M.A. of the Public Record Office.

CALENDAR OF THE CLOSE ROLLS, preserved in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records.

One volume of this new series was published in 1895:—

Edward II. 1318–1323.—This volume was prepared by Mr. W. H. Stevenson.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II. preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by Mary Anne Everett Green. 1670: With Addenda, 1660–1670.

With this volume the late Mrs. Green brought her work on the State Papers of the reign of Charles II. to a close, in accordance with the arrangement made in 1892, that Mr. F. H. Blackburne Daniell should continue the Calendar from the year 1671 downwards. The Addenda papers fill nearly one hundred pages, and consist of documents which had been misplaced in the collection; or were for other reasons not forthcoming when the earlier volumes in the series were being prepared for press. Among other interesting matter in them, there is a detailed description of the great fire, and an account of the sale of the pictures and furniture of Charles I.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II., January to November, 1671, preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by F. H. Blackburne Daniell, M.A.

The contents of this volume differ slightly from those of the preceding volumes issued under the editorship of Mrs. Everett Green. The Levant Papers are no longer included, but the other documents calendared are largely increased by the addition of the Irish State Papers and of the Signet Books, which consist chiefly of copies of letters to different officials in Ireland.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF WILLIAM AND MARY, 13th February, 1689—April, 1690, preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by William John Hardy, F.S.A.

In this first volume of Calendar dealing with papers relating to events immediately after the Revolution there are few allusions to the all-important changes which had taken place within a few months. The documents relating to the condition of finance, the army, and the navy, are specially deserving of attention. Of greatest historical importance are perhaps the papers relating to General Kirke's expedition for the relief of Londonderry and to the operations of King William's army in Ireland generally, under Schomberg's command; the correspondence about the Jacobite rising in the Highlands, and the death of Dundee. A large number of documents relating to continental affairs have been found in the series of Domestic State Papers, chiefly among those formerly preserved in the 'King's private cabinet, known as "King William's Chest." Noticeable among those of which abstracts appear in this volume are the Earl of Portland's letters on the affairs of Holland, and the details given by the Prince of Waldeck of the progress of the allied forces on the Continent.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH, 1598, January—1599, March, preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by Ernest George Atkinson.

This volume covers a period of fifteen months only, the most important event occurring within the time upon which new light is thrown by the documents being the defeat of Sir Henry Bagenall by the rebels, near Armagh. This and other reported "overthrows" of the Queen's forces seem to have produced the most marked effect in the province of Munster, the President of which, Sir Thomas Norreys, was continually reporting the excesses committed by the rebels, and asking for reinforcements and supplies. The disgraceful treatment by their officers of the English soldiers sent over to quell the rebellion, in the matter of diet, lodging, and care of such of them as were ill or wounded, is illustrated in many curious papers.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS AND MANUSCRIPTS RELATING TO ENGLISH AFFAIRS, existing in the Archives and Collections of VENICE and in other Libraries of NORTHERN ITALY. Vol. VIII. 1581-1591. Edited by Horatio F. Brown.

The papers calendared exist in the the State Archives at the Frari, and in the Marcian Library, at Venice. During the period covered by this volume the Republic maintained no ambassador in London; and the chief sources of information concerning England are the despatches from Spain, France, and Constantinople, the minutes of the Senate, and the series of news books. The three main lines of English history illustrated by these means are the relations between England and France on the subjects of Elizabeth's proposed marriage with the Duke of Alençon, and the death of Mary, Queen of Scots;

Drake's operations in the West Indies, at the Azores, and on the Spanish seaboard, and the destruction of the Armada; and the missions of William Harborne and Edward Barton to the Porte.

CALENDAR OF LETTERS, DESPATCHES, AND STATE PAPERS, RELATING TO THE NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN ENGLAND AND SPAIN, preserved at Simancas and elsewhere. Edited by Don Pascual de Gayangos. Vol. VI. Part II. Henry VIII. 1542-1543.

The long negotiations for a treaty of closer alliance with England, conducted by the Imperial resident Ambassador and his colleagues, form the almost exclusive subject of the present volume. The letters of the Queen of Hungary and of the Emperor to Eustace Chapuys, and those of Chapuys himself, fill the most important part.

CALENDAR OF ENTRIES IN THE PAPAL REGISTERS, RELATING TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. Papal Letters. Vol. II. 1305-1342. Edited by W. H. Bliss, B.C.L.

The text of the present volume has been prepared upon the system described in the preface to the first volume of this series of Calendars. Greater liberty has, however, been taken in the rendering of proper names. The entries in the registers being, for the most part, based upon petitions and other documents from different countries, the scribes constantly misread doubtful letters, having no local or personal knowledge to guide them.

§ XI LISTS AND INDEXES PUBLISHED.

Although considerable progress has been made with several works belonging to this series, as mentioned above (§ V.), no List was completed at press during the year 1895.

§ XII. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following volume was issued in 1895 :—

CHRONICLE OF HENRY KNIGHTON, Canon of Leicester. Edited by the Rev. Joseph Rawson Lumby, D.D. Lady Margaret Professor of Divinity in the University of Cambridge. Vol. II. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.) This volume, which completes the work, deals with the period between the years 1337 and 1395 inclusive, but there is an unfortunate gap for the ten years between 1366 and 1377, and the events of some other years are noticed very briefly. The editor has added a general Introduction and an Index to the two volumes.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1895 was 657, making a total of 54,708.

At the end of the year there were four works belonging to this series in the press, all of which were sanctioned before my appointment to be Deputy Keeper of the Records :—

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. Vol. VII.
 Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A. Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

RANULF DE GLANVILL; TRACTATUS DE LEGIBUS ET CONSUETUDINIBUS ANGLIÆ. Edited and translated by Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C., D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

THE RED BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER. Edited by Hubert Hall, F.S.A. of the Public Record Office. Parts I. II. and III. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUND'S ABBEY. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A. Vol. III. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

§ XIII. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New series
 Vol. X. A.D. 1577-1578. Vol. XI. A.D. 1578-1580.
 Edited by John Roche Dasent, C.B. Barrister-at Law, M.A.

The publication of these two volumes in 1895 shows that this series is making very satisfactory progress.

§ XIV. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME:

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the archives of the Vatican, being engaged upon the following works :—

CALENDAR OF ENTRIES IN THE PAPAL REGISTERS, RELATING TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. PAPAL LETTERS, VOL. II. A.D. 1305-1342.

This was published in 1895. (See § X.)

CALENDAR OF ENTRIES IN THE PAPAL REGISTERS, RELATING TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND.
PETITIONS TO THE POPE. VOL. I. A.D. 1342-1419.

The printing of the text was completed in 1895, and the Index was in type at the end of the year.

CALENDAR OF ENTRIES IN THE PAPAL REGISTERS,
RELATING TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. PAPAL
LETTERS, VOL. III. A.D. 1342-1362.

Two sheets of this were printed in 1895, and three more sheets were in type at the end of the year.

VENICE:

Mr. Horatio F. Brown has continued his researches in the Venetian archives. A volume of his Calendar of documents and entries relating to English affairs was published in 1895. (See § X.) Some material for the next volume was received from him in the latter part of the year.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, and VIENNA:

Don Pascual de Gayangos has continued his researches. Another volume of his Calendar of documents relating to English affairs was published in 1895. (See § X.)

Major Martin A. S. Hume has made considerable progress with his Calendar of documents in Spain relating to English affairs between the years 1580 and 1586.

FRANCE:

Transcripts of certain despatches from French ambassadors in England have been made at Paris, in order to fill up gaps in the series formed for this Office by the late M. Armand Baschet between the years 1870 and 1885.

Mr. J. H. Round has been authorised to prepare a Calendar of early documents in France relating to England. His work will be founded upon the series of transcripts made for the old Record Commission and now preserved in this Office, but an examination of original manuscripts at Paris, in Normandy, and elsewhere will also be necessary.

§ XV. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has, as in former years, been conducted at Rolls House and in the Public Record Office, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts of the reign of Elizabeth from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commissioners.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 15th day of August, 1896.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Statute 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) ESHER, M.R.

APPENDIX.

THE ROLLS CHAPEL.

The building recently known as the Rolls Chapel was originally the Chapel of the House of Converts, which was founded by Henry III. for the reception of Jews who had embraced the Christian faith. The annals of that establishment offer various points of interest; but, in the present Report, I propose to deal with those facts only which concern the Chapel.¹

The earliest specific reference to the House of Converts occurs in a royal charter dated 16th January 1232, by which the founder assigned a yearly sum of 700 marks for the maintenance of the inmates, "and for the construction of their church and their buildings."² Three months later, he made provision for two chaplains celebrating divine service in the chapel which he had caused to be erected (erigi) for the use of the converts, which implies that the building was at any rate begun.³

Matthew Paris, the chronicler of St. Albans, states that Henry III., about November, in the seventeenth year of his reign, 1233, built at his own expense "a certain church proper" and sufficient for a conventual congregation with some adjoining "buildings" at the place where he established the House of Converts in London, not far from the Old Temple.⁴ Opposite to this passage, there is in the margin of the MS. at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, a coloured drawing of a small church, which has been supposed to be an actual representation of the Chapel of the House of Converts as it existed between 1233 and 1259, the year of the chronicler's death.⁵ It certainly corresponds with the building in question in so far as it shows a nave of three bays, with a square turret projecting southward at the eastern end of it, and a short chancel with lancet windows, but other details have evidently been supplied from memory or from imagination. It should, moreover, be observed that the drawing near the corresponding passage in the shorter Chronicle of Matthew Paris, preserved in the British Museum, is somewhat different.⁶ Furthermore, the architectural evidence throws some doubt upon the theory that the turret was part of the original fabric, as will be seen later in this Report.

The original design of the chapel appears to have been altered as early as 1275, for, in that year, Edward I. authorised John de

¹ Many particulars concerning the inmates of the House of Converts have been given by Mr. W. J. Hardy in a paper printed in "Middlesex and Hertfordshire Notes and Queries."

St. Denys, keeper of the House of Converts, to take stone from the side aisles of their chapel of the Holy Trinity, in order to extend the body thereof lengthways (linealiter).¹ The light of the Holy Trinity in the chapel of the Converts is mentioned in the will of one of the chaplains called Hugh le Convers, which was proved in 1274.² The Chapel, however, appears to have been dedicated to the Virgin Mary.³ Edward I. Edward II. and Edward III. alike made grants for the maintenance and adornment of the fabric.⁴

Out of nine persons who were keepers of the House of Converts between 1307 and 1377, no less than eight were also keepers of the Rolls of Chancery,⁵ their secular services to the Crown being thus rewarded, in part at least, out of ecclesiastical revenues, and the arrangement proved so convenient that Edward III. in the last year of his reign, definitely assigned the House of Converts to the clerk for the time being in charge of the Rolls of Chancery, granting the patronage of the offices thus amalgamated to the Chancellor of England or the Keeper of the Great Seal. His letters patent, dated 1377, recite that William de Burstall, the then keeper, had found the House, the Chapel, and other buildings in a ruinous state (quasi totaliter in ruina), and that he had spent a considerable amount of his own money in repairing them.⁶ This union of the two keeperships, so different in character, was, at the request of Burstall and his successor, confirmed in the following reign.⁷ Thenceforward, the Chapel of the House of Converts came to be known popularly as the Rolls Chapel.

Dr. John Yong, Master of the Rolls and Dean of York, who died in 1516, left directions in his will that his body should "be buried in the chapell of the Rollys," and "that a tombe" should "be made over the place of" his "sepulture." Richard Alington of Lincoln's Inn, was buried in the Chapel in 1561, his wife being a sister of Sir William Cordell, Master of the Rolls, and she was probably buried in the same vault in 1604. The next interment recorded is that of Edward, Lord Bruce of Kinloss, Master of the Rolls, who died in 1611. In that year, his successor, Sir Edward Phelips, set up in the windows four panels of fine heraldic glass, and three more, uniform with them in size, were added in the later part of the seventeenth century. Marriages were sometimes performed in the Chapel, as in 1608, when William Cavendish, afterwards Earl of Devonshire, married Christiana, daughter of Edward, Lord Bruce of Kinloss, Master of the Rolls, and in 1615, when Sir Julius Cæsar, Master of the Rolls, married Mrs. Hungate, who was given away by her uncle,

Sir Francis Bacon. The fact that a marriage between John Levingston and Mrs. Marwood took place at the Rolls in February 1619,¹ goes far to discredit the oft-repeated statement that the Chapel was being rebuilt at that time. For this statement there is no authority earlier than that of Thomas Pennant, who in his "Account of London," published in 1805, asserts that the Rolls Chapel "was built by Inigo Jones; begun in 1617, and finished at the expence of two thousand pounds," and proceeds to say that "it was consecrated by George Mountaigne, bishop of London, and the sermon preached by the famous Doctor Donne." Inasmuch as Mountaigne did not become Bishop of London until September 1621, the alleged consecration could not have taken place any earlier, and the Chapel would presumably have been unfit for use in February 1619. It is, however, practically certain that Pennant somehow confounded the Rolls Chapel with the neighbouring Chapel of Lincoln's Inn, for every one of the five statements quoted above with regard to the former proves to be true with regard to the latter. The rebuilding of Lincoln's Inn Chapel was undertaken in 1617, "the consideration of a fit model" for it was "commended to Mr. Inditho Jones," the estimate came to upwards of 2,000*l.*, the new structure was consecrated by Montaigne, Bishop of London, on Ascension Day 1623, and the sermon on that occasion was preached by Dr. Donne, Dean of St. Paul's.² There is, in fact, no evidence whatever to connect Inigo Jones with the Rolls Chapel, and the episcopal registers of the time do not contain any allusion to the alleged consecration. That the building was to a great extent reconstructed in the seventeenth century is unquestionable, but the date of the work is probably forty or fifty years later than that erroneously assigned to it by Pennant.

The existence of two chaplains and of converts from Judaism, four in number, is mentioned for the last time in 1608, and in the reign of Charles I. we read of a preacher at the Rolls during the law term, admitted by the Master of the Rolls with the approbation of the six Clerks of Chancery.³ Although the converts for whose benefit the Chapel had been founded by Henry III. had ceased to exist, the Master of the Rolls did not obtain the exclusive use of it. In 1708, it was reported that the preacher received 10*l.* a term from the Master of the Rolls, and that the salary was made up to about 100*l.* a year by the Masters in Chancery.⁴ As late as the beginning of the present reign, "the Masters, six Clerks, Registrars, and other officers" of the Court of Chancery were entitled to seats in the Rolls Chapel, on payment of fees amounting to about 49*l.* 2*s.* 8*d.* a year, to the preacher, who also received rents for pews let "to persons not entitled to seats."⁵

⁵ 7 Will. IV. and 1 Vict. cap. 46.

Under the Presbyterian régime, it was resolved by the Lords and Commons in Parliament, in December 1645, "that the Chappell of the Rolls, the two Serjeants Innes and the fower Innes of Court shall be a Province of themselves," "that the Presbytery of the Chappell of the Rolls, the two Serjeants Innes and the fower Innes of Court shall be divided into two classis," and "that Lincolnes Inne, Grayes Inne and Serjeants Inne and (sic) Chancery Lane and the Rolls shall be one classis."¹

Almost immediately after the Restoration, the Master of the Rolls was empowered by Act of Parliament to grant leases of portions of his official estate; but "the Chappell of the Rolls" was specifically excepted from the scope of it, and there are indications elsewhere that it was regarded as national property.

At some time in the middle of the seventeenth century, the Rolls Chapel was seriously mutilated. No written record has been found showing the date or the nature of the work done, and we have to rely exclusively upon architectural evidence. From this it appears probable that the chancel was entirely demolished and a new wall built at the eastern end of the nave, that the other three walls were considerably altered, that a new roof was made over the nave, that most of the mediæval windows and doors were blocked up, and that two or three monuments and four or five panels of heraldic glass were taken down and refixed.

Particulars will be given later in this Report, but it may be desirable to suggest here that, if all these changes were made at one time, the date must be sought between 1648 and 1667. That it cannot be earlier than the middle of the seventeenth century seems clear from the general character of certain fragments of stone and marble which were used for filling up two of the windows on the south side. With a little trouble it has been found possible to put together several pieces of an oval shield, surrounded by scroll-work and stiff drapery, which bears the following arms:—On a chevron between three annulets, a crescent, impaling, on a saltire a rose; and this proves to be the shield of George Goring, Earl of Norwich, who married Mary, daughter of Edward Nevill, Lord Abergavenny. Inasmuch as both these persons were buried in Westminster Abbey, it is difficult to account for their arms being found at the Rolls Chapel, except upon the theory that the mason employed to fill up the windows supplemented the material which was ready to hand with useless fragments from his own workshop. However this may be, it is certain that the Countess of Norwich died in 1648 and the Earl in 1663, and so the former year appears to be the earliest possible date of the closing of the windows.

That the chancel had disappeared by 1667, is clear from Hollar's map of London, published in that year,² which is confirmed by the larger map issued by Ogilby and Morgan ten years later. It may possibly have been injured in the Great Fire of London, and consequently demolished. A letter received at Claydon House on the 9th of September 1666, contains the following passage:—"Your friends in Chancery Lane are safe, but the fire was near them, behind the Rowles, where it gott a great check, so that we hope it is stopt."¹ Among other premises which were either burned or pulled down at that time, mention is made of several tenements held by John Howe, gentleman, "situate in Fetter Lane, built upon part of the garden called the Rolls Garden;"² a messuage held by Benjamin Hill, citizen and clockmaker, "built upon a parcell of ground, parcell of the garden called the Rolls Garden;"³ "four new houses," on the west side of Fetter Lane, "over against unto a certain stret called New Street," and extending westwards from 106 to 123 feet "to the wall of the said Rolls Garden;"⁴ and also the St. John's Head tavern in Chancery Lane, upon the estate of the Bishop of Chichester.⁵

In this connexion it may be mentioned that some fragments of wrought stone work not older than the fifteenth century, which were found in the walls of the chapel, show signs of having been exposed to the action of fire. At the same time it is clear from other fragments that the interior cannot have been burned, and Hollar's map, already mentioned, shows trees growing in the Rolls Garden. Furthermore, a date somewhat earlier than 1666 for the removal of the monuments is suggested by the fact that some hexameter lines in praise of Dr. Yong, which are given in Weaver's Funeral Monuments, which was published in 1631, are not mentioned in the first edition of Dugdale's Origines Juridicales which was printed shortly before the Great Fire of London.

Edward Stillingfleet, who afterwards became Bishop of Worcester, was Preacher at the Rolls in 1664. Eleven years later, Gilbert Burnet was appointed to that office, but he was ejected from it under somewhat remarkable circumstances. Having occasion to preach in the Chapel on the Fifth of November 1684, on the anniversary of the discovery of the Gunpowder Plot, he took as his text "Save me from the lion's mouth, thou that hast heard me from the horns of the unicorns." According to his own positive statement he "made no reflection" on "the two supporters of the King's scutcheon," but he showed "how well popery might be compared to the lion's mouth," and mentioned "that wish of King James the First against any of his posterity" "that should endeavour to bring that religion in among us." A report of the sermon was carried to the Court, and there the text was thought to be "levelled against the King's coat of arms."

Accordingly, at the end of the law-term, the Lord Keeper wrote to Sir Harbottle Grimston, Master of the Rolls, saying "that the King considered the Chapel of the Rolls as one of his own chapels," and that having dismissed Burnet from the Court "as a person disaffected to his government," he would not have him suffered "to serve any longer in that chapel." Burnet adds that his "employment at the Rolls would have fallen in course within a month if the Court had delayed" his ejection "from it in such an open manner, for that worthy man, Sir Harbottle Grimston, died about Christmas."¹ This explanation is interesting as showing that the position of Preacher at the Rolls was not regarded as a benefice, and that it naturally determined upon the occurrence of a vacancy in the office of the Master of the Rolls.

Two other eminent preachers at the Rolls deserve a passing notice in this place—Francis Atterbury, who was appointed in 1709, and Joseph Butler, who was appointed in 1718. It may also be well to state that, although a Liberty of the Rolls is mentioned in 1664,² the Rolls Estate is often described in documents of much later date as being in the parish of St. Dunstan in the West, and that it was in the church of St. Dunstan that Sir Harbottle Grimston and other officers of the Court of Chancery made their formal communion soon after the passing of the Test Act.³

In "A New View of London," by E. Hatton, published in 1708, we read:—"The Chapel is an ancient structure, built of brick, boulder, and some freestone (the doors and windows are of the Gothic order), roof covered with slate. The ornament of the presses for Rolls on the inside is columns and pilasters of the Ionic and composite orders. It is in le[n]gth 60 foot, br[eath] 33." The writer proceeds to mention the monuments, and adds that "at the N.W. angle of this chapel is a bench, &c. where the Master of the Rolls hears causes in Chancery out of term time."

John Strype, in his edition of Stow's "Survey of London," mentions "the old and decayed house" of the Rolls as "much wanting new building" and expresses an opinion that the chapel also "would admit of new building." This was published in 1720; but it must have been written some years earlier, for in 1717, Colin Campbell, the architect, was appointed "to pull down the House of Converted Jews in Chancery Lane and build a new edifice for the use of the Master of the Rolls, and likewise to repair and improve the Chappel of the Rolls and other appurtenances of the said House." The whole cost of building the Rolls House between the years 1717 and 1724 inclusive, was defrayed out of the Exchequer; but although minute accounts have been preserved of the expenditure on labour and materials, they do not afford any information as to the exact nature of the alterations then made in the Chapel.¹ Architectural evidence, however, shows that Colin Campbell must have been instructed to connect the Rolls House with the Chapel, so that the Master of the Rolls and his family might be able to attend divine service without going out of doors. This he did, by erecting between them a small lobby, over a narrow vaulted passage sloping down eastwards from Rolls Yard to the basement of the new mansion, and by cutting a large arched opening through the north wall of the Chapel. The latter operation involved the destruction of the lower part of the only remaining lancet window of the thirteenth century, and the closing of the upper part. Inasmuch as the floor of the lobby was several feet above the pavement of the Chapel, there were no means of communication from the one to the other; but a raised pew was provided for the Master of the Rolls, which formed a sort of gallery projecting from the north wall of the Chapel and accessible only through the lobby. It was probably at this date that a Gothic doorway on the north side of the chapel was demolished, and a new entrance substituted for it at the west end of the building, almost opposite to the gateway from Chancery Lane into Rolls Yard.

An engraving by B. Cole in the 1756 edition of Maitland's "History of London," shows that at that date there was only one window in the south wall of the Rolls Chapel, the two eastern ones having been blocked up as mentioned above. The turret still had a low four-sided spire, and there were two buttresses dividing the south wall into three bays. These buttresses, however, were removed, and the turret was altogether hidden from view, when, pursuant to an address of the House of Commons, in 1784, a building was erected immediately south of the Chapel, for the use of the Clerk of the Records in the Rolls Chapel, and of the Secretaries of the Master of the Rolls.² Then, or very soon afterwards, a thin external layer of flints was placed over all those rubble walls which were not protected from the weather by adjoining buildings.

There is no record of the date at which the Chapel of the House of Converts began to be used as a repository of the national archives. The proper place for the permanent preservation of the rolls of Chancery was the Tower of London, and thither they were from time to time transmitted.³ Some were, however, temporarily kept at the residence of their custodian,⁴ and it is probable that the number of these increased after the assignment of the House of Converts to the Keeper of the Rolls of Chancery in the later part of the fourteenth century. The earliest reference to the House of Converts in this connexion is in 1558, when a sum of 50*l.* was paid to the Master of the Rolls, "for so

Nine years later, Queen Elizabeth, considering that it was not meet that the records of her Chancery, which were accounted a principal member of the treasure belonging to herself, and to her crown and realm, should remain in private houses, directed Sir William Cordell, Master of the Rolls, to deliver to the keeper of the records in the Tower of London all the rolls and records of the Chancery from the reign of Richard III. to that of Edward VI. inclusive.²

It is clear, however, that this mandate was for some reason disregarded. John Stow, writing in 1598, mentions "a fair
"church now used and called the chapel for the custody of the
"rolles and records of Chauncerie."³ Powell's "Directions for Search of Records," published in 1622, states that certain information must be sought "in the Chapele of the Rolls,"⁴ and again, in 1645, we read that the Decrees in Chancery were kept there.⁵ In 1671, and afterwards in 1712, some Chancery Bills and Answers were ordered to be sent to the Tower of London, not avowedly because that was the proper place for them, but because there was "no place in the Chapel of the Rolls to lay the same in."⁶

From a return made by the Clerk of the Chapel of the Rolls in 1731, it appears that he had the actual custody of the principal records of the Chancery from the reign of Richard III. to that of William III. Some of these were kept in five presses "conveniently placed in the body of the chapel" against the walls, others "in several benches in the body of the chapel," and others again "in a large room over the chapel," partly on shelves and partly on the floor. Although he himself appears to have been fairly satisfied with the condition of things, a Committee of the House of Commons reported that the documents in the Chapel were "exposed too much to the heat of the sun in the summer season, and to dampness in the winter."⁷

Another Committee of the House of Commons reported, in 1772, that the records in the Chapel were "in danger of destruction, by being placed close to the walls" which were damp, and that those in the room over the Chapel were "continually receiving injuries" from rain and heat alike, and that the floor would scarcely bear their weight. They therefore recommended "that the body of the said Chapel or such part thereof as may be found necessary" should "be forthwith fitted up for receiving

" the same records, so as to prevent further damage to the same, " leaving a sufficient space for the celebration of divine service," and the House resolved that an address should be presented to the King, praying that he would give directions "for the better preservation of the records in the Rolls Chapel."¹ A great part of the body of the Chapel was accordingly fitted up with presses soon afterwards, and the house built on the south side of the Chapel about fifteen years later was utilised for searches and copying.²

In 1833, Sir Robert Inglis and Mr. Hallam visited the Rolls Chapel, on behalf of their colleagues on the Record Commission, and drew up the following statement:—

" It was fitted up in 1812 by the late Sir Thomas Plumer, when Master, and exhibits a most remarkable specimen of the extremest economy of space, the very seats of the Chapel being in fact cases for Records; and access to the Records in the upper part of the Chapel being by a gallery so narrow that the ladder necessary to mount higher can hardly be placed in safety.

" On the ground floor are the Patent Rolls, in a spot so dark that no one can see to read any one there; and a candle is properly not allowed. They can be removed, therefore, only by guess matured into habit. On the ground floor are also some of the early Close Rolls.

" In the gallery, and the room above, are the other Close Rolls.

" In the room above are also the Parliament Rolls, and the Decrees of the Court, from the beginning of the reign of George III. There is some space, but there would be danger in further loading the floor.

" In a narrow passage round this room are Inquisitions Post Mortem, scarcely accessible; some are repairing and binding. There are here also Confirmation Rolls."³

If, as stated above, the Chapel was fitted up by Sir Thomas Plumer, the date—1812—cannot be correct, as he did not become Master of the Rolls until 1818. The true date is probably 1821. At any rate, it was between 1820 and 1824 that heraldic glass was provided for the east window.

An important change was made in 1837, by a statute which enacted that the whole of the Rolls estate, including the Chapel, should thenceforth be vested in the Crown, and should not again be granted to the Master of the Rolls for the time being. Provision was, however, made for the performance of divine worship "in the said present chapel, or upon, or near the site thereof," a yearly sum of 225*l.* for the salaries of the preacher, the reader, and the clerk, being charged upon the Consolidated Fund.⁴ The Act does not clearly specify the person or persons for whose benefit the religious services were to be maintained. The Master of the Rolls was, indeed, entrusted with the apportionment of the yearly grant of 225*l.*; but, on giving up the titular office of Keeper of the House of Converts, he lost the right to live on the premises in the building known as the Rolls House. Nevertheless, the letters patent issued in favour of Sir John Romilly, in 1851, being inadvertently modelled on the form used on previous occasions, professed to grant to him for life "the custody of the House, or Hospital, of Converts, for the habitation of the Keeper, or Master, of the Rolls, Books, Writs, and Records" of the High Court of Chancery. The mistake was not repeated in 1873, when Sir George Jessel was appointed Master of the Rolls without reference to the House of Converts.

Sir Francis Palgrave, the first Deputy Keeper of the Records, describes the Rolls Chapel, in 1842, as "becoming more and more inconveniently crowded" with documents, and mentions some recent alterations made by the Commissioners of Woods and Forests "in the dark passages under the galleries containing the Patent and Close Rolls, for the purpose of admitting more light and air," by the substitution of iron gratings for the floor boards of the galleries.¹ Four years later, he describes the presses for records as "partly standing against the walls, and partly at a small distance from them." The Chapel was at that time "ceiled with stucco, in imitation of stone," and the space between the ceiling and the timber roof above was "filled with documents."² Some new racks were erected "in the Record room in the roof of the Rolls Chapel" in 1846,³ and transmissions of documents from the House of Lords, from the Petty Bag Office, from the Enrolment Office, and from other places, continued to be made to the Rolls Chapel until 1859.⁴

Soon after the completion of the first block of the Public Record Office, in 1856, the records of the Chancery, previously kept at the Tower of London, were removed into it, and these were followed, within the next few years, by successive instalments of analogous but later documents from the Rolls Chapel.⁵ By the end of 1861, consequently, there were no records left in the body of the Chapel.⁶ The last to remain were those which were stowed away in lockers, which, on Sundays in term time, served as seats for some of the congregation. The room in the roof was not finally cleared until 1895.

In the meantime, soon after the removal of the principal series of Records from the body of the Chapel, the Office of Works and Public Buildings undertook extensive alterations therein. The galleries on the southern and western sides, the presses for Records, and the raised pew of the Master of the Rolls were alike taken down, and the arched opening into this pew was filled up. The pavement was for the most part relaid, new pews were provided, the inner walls were replastered and painted, and, in order to give an ecclesiastical character to the building, a vaulted roof, in the late Gothic style, was made of lath and plaster.

The foregoing account shows that the Rolls Chapel was used not only for divine worship, but also for the preservation of the records of Chancery. Its third character was that of a meeting-place for creditors and debtors. In 1641 it is mentioned as the place at which Charles I. was to repay a loan of 2,000*l.* made to him by Sir John Lambe,¹ and four years later a Mrs. Staveley sent her agents thither to receive the alimony which her husband had been ordered to pay.²

Recently, the Rolls Chapel was the place at which mortgagees or their representatives were ordered to wait for an hour, or sometimes for two hours, before proceeding to foreclosure. A representative of the Public Record Office had to be present, and the fees received by him for such attendances went to the credit of the Department. This anomalous system was terminated in December 1889, when the Lord Chancellor agreed to the substitution of a room in the Royal Courts of Justice for the Rolls Chapel as the trysting-place for mortgagors and mortgagees.³

Two years later, it was enacted that the yearly payment of 225*l.* for the expenses of the Rolls Chapel, which had been charged upon the Consolidated Fund in 1837, but which had in recent years been defrayed out of the Parliamentary Vote for Civil Services, should altogether cease on the next vacancy in the preachership.⁴ The House of the Converts from Judaism had long since disappeared; the Master of the Rolls had surrendered his official estate to the Crown, and had furthermore severed his connexion with the Chancery on becoming a judge of the Court of Appeal; and the Masters in Chancery had been abolished. There was therefore no normal congregation on Sundays, and the number of strangers attending morning prayer was rarely more than five, while it was often two or even one. No service has been performed in the Chapel since the Long Vacation of 1895.

The result of successive repairs and alterations at the Rolls Chapel was that, seven years ago, there was not a particle of mediæval work visible within or without. The inner roof was of lath and plaster, put up about forty years ago, and the inner walls were lined throughout with plaster. The external walls were covered with a thin layer of flint, except in places where there were patches of comparatively modern brick, stone, and stucco. The buttresses had been removed or mutilated, and the four large windows were devoid of tracery. Altogether it was a mean and ugly building, entirely without architectural merit, and interesting mainly on account of its monuments and its panels of stained glass. Even these could not be properly seen, the former being in the eastern part of the Chapel, which was very dark on the brightest day in summer, and the best glass being high up in the western window.

In 1889, the house known as 1, Rolls Yard, which adjoined the south side of the Chapel, was demolished, and the removal of it disclosed some features of which the existence was not previously known. Further operations were carried on in 1895, with a view to finding mediæval remains and ascertaining what portions, if any, of the structure could be retained. The Act of 1837, already quoted, clearly contemplated a possible demolition of the Chapel,¹ and in the plans for the Public Record Office made by Sir James Pennethorne in 1850, the whole site of the Chapel had been allocated to rooms intended to serve as repositories of documents. On further consideration however, it was thought that it might be possible to incorporate the Chapel in the new block of the Public Record Office, removing only the roof, which, being made of wood, could not be permitted to form part of a building which had to be fire-proof. A design was accordingly prepared for erecting massive piers on the south side of it, which would have allowed the old wall to show between them. There are at least two precedents for such a course, one at Southampton, where a Norman house was incorporated in the town walls of the fourteenth century, the other at Rimini, where the walls and windows of a mediæval church show under the Renaissance arches erected by Alberti for Sigismondo Malatesta. This scheme was, however, abandoned when it was found that the old walls were thoroughly rotten, stonework and mortar having alike decayed with age. The rubble walls were, in fact, rent with long fissures, and there was no architectural work that could be "restored" without being altogether remade, mostly from entirely new designs. Under these circumstances, the First Commissioner of Works decided, with great reluctance, that the Chapel should be pulled down. Special treatment will, however, be given to that portion of the new building which will occupy its site, and the old monuments and stained glass will be refixed therein.

Having watched the operations from day to day, I now submit a detailed account of the structure, which could not have been written if the walls had not been demolished. Many of the more interesting features were actually discovered during the present year, but it seems better to describe them now than to postpone all mention of them to a future Report. The series of accompanying illustrations does not represent the state of the Chapel at any one date, the object of them being mainly to make the following account intelligible.

The upper part of the west wall was of red brick, and contained a plain square-headed window, which gave light to the room over the vaulting of the Chapel. After the removal of the outer coating of flint, the lower and greater part of the wall was found to be of rubble. A number of squared stones, evidently of older date, had been inserted casually here and there, and the faces of some of these had been scored with intersecting lines, so as to make them appear no larger than their neighbours. In the middle of the wall was a large pointed window, without any traces of mullions or of Gothic mouldings. Under it was a plain round-headed doorway of Portland oolite, painted stone colour, which served as the main entrance to the Chapel. At the two angles were plain buttresses projecting westward encased with slabs of stone, mended in places with stucco. In the heart of the west wall, about a yard above the ground level, was found the head of an ecclesiastic of the thirteenth century carved in stone, which had been damaged by fire. This seems to have been originally the dripstone of a hood moulding over a doorway or a window. The whole wall was, moreover, found to be resting on a layer of wrought stones which appear to have been portions of the jambs of a doorway of the thirteenth century.

In the absence of direct documentary evidence, the date of the west wall cannot be stated with certainty. Upon architectural evidence, however, the upper part may safely be ascribed to the middle of the seventeenth century. The lower part may have been older, but it clearly was not part of the original structure of Henry III. The doorway probably dated from the reign of George I.

The upper part of the south wall was of red brick, with a plain coping of stone. Immediately below the brickwork was found an irregular layer of wrought stones, the inner faces of which showed mouldings of the thirteenth century, the exposed faces being quite plain. Some of these had evidently been taken from the chancel-arch described below; others were fragments of windows and of vaulting-ribs, a few of these retaining traces of mediæval colouring. The remainder of the wall, which overhung its base by about 6 inches, was of rubble and thoroughly unsound. If it had not been tied inwards by the wooden beams of the roof, it might have fallen down long ago, and it had to be shored up before the commencement of the demolition.

The south wall had only one buttress at the western end, but there were traces of two others, which were removed in 1784, when the house known as 1, Rolls Yard, was built against part of it. This buttress was, like those of the west wall, encased in slabs of plain stone and mended with stucco. Close to it were found the mutilated remains of a pointed doorway, the sill of which was about a foot below the modern level of the floor of the Chapel. It can hardly have been part of the original structure for some of the stones of which it was composed had been used before for some other purpose. After a considerable period, presumably in the middle of the seventeenth century, an iron grille was, for some unexplained reason, placed in the head of it, and the outer mouldings were hacked off in order to be used for filling up the lower part. At a still later date, the whole doorway was filled up with rubble, which was in its turn covered with flints in or about 1784.

Almost immediately over this doorway buried in the thickness of the wall, was a window with plain chamfered mouldings and a segmental head, which could not have been older than the seventeenth century, and which may indeed have been even later in date. On the removal, however, of the plaster with which the inner splays were lined, it was found that the inner arch was of clunch, slightly pointed, and possibly a work of the time of Edward III. Of tracery or mullions there were no traces whatever.

In the middle bay of the south wall was found a window, of which the inner arch was of clunch, slightly pointed, like its western neighbour. The outer jambs and arch were, however, of Caen stone, possibly inserted by William de Burstall in the reign of Edward III. At some subsequent date, the lower part of the window had been filled up with brick within and with rubble without, and two plain slabs of roach Portland stone had been placed across it in order to form a sill to the upper part still left open. Still later, presumably in the middle of the seventeenth century, the tracery had been demolished, and the upper part of the window filled up, partly with brick and partly with rubble in which were some fragments of its own former mullions.

In the eastern bay of the south wall were found the remains of a window which probably dated from the early part of the reign of Edward I. It originally had three lights and two open spandrels, the central light being a good deal higher than the side lights, which had a single cusp on either side. The jambs and mullions were of Caen stone which had suffered little from age, but which had been barbarously mutilated when the window was closed up, presumably in the middle of the seventeenth century. When the monument of Richard Alington was placed immediately behind this window, the inner part of it was filled up with brickwork, and the outer part was filled up with such materials as came ready to hand. Among these were not only fragments of some of its own mullions and pieces of tracery in Caen stone belonging to a large window of the later part of the fourteenth century, but also fragments of marble columns and other vestiges of monuments which cannot have been older than the seventeenth century. It can hardly be supposed that these monuments could have been deliberately destroyed so soon after the date of their erection, and so I venture to suggest that the fragments discovered were imperfect pieces of work which had been lying in the mason's yard until utilised for filling up the window. In this connexion, I have already called attention to the fact that the Earl and Countess of Norwich, whose arms were carved on some of the stones found here, were both buried in Westminster Abbey.

CHANCERY LANE, W.C.

In the heart of the eastern part of the south wall, immediately behind the monument of Richard Alington, there were several fragments of an Early English string-course and other pieces of wrought stone-work mixed with rubble. It would, however, be difficult to determine whether that portion of the wall dates from the time of Edward I. or Edward III. or merely from the middle of the seventeenth century.

At the eastern end of the south wall was a square turret projecting southward, the southern and western sides of which were revealed in 1889, by the demolition of the house known as 1, Rolls Yard. There was a comparatively modern doorway leading into it from that house, and another doorway leading from it into the south-eastern corner of the Chapel. The quoins were of Caen stone, very much decayed, and the portion above the roof of the adjoining house had been covered with stucco as a protection against the weather. The rest of the walls were of rubble, except below the modern level of the ground, where there were several courses of ashlar. A plain square-headed slit on the east and another on west formerly gave light to a spiral staircase within, leading up to the room above the chapel and on to the roof. The whole turret has been supposed to be part of the original structure of Henry III. but, on removing the winding steps it was found that one of the lowest of them was resting on an Early English base for a shaft. Altogether it is very doubtful whether any part of the turret, except perhaps the ashlar work below the modern level, was built before the reign of Edward I.

The upper part of the east wall was of brick, with a square window in it, corresponding with that in the west wall, and giving light to the room over the Chapel. The lower part was mainly of rubble, with a later coating of flint. There were two buttresses, presumably of the seventeenth century, but made of old materials. In the middle was a large window with a segmental head, evidently of no great antiquity. Here it was that one of the most interesting discoveries was made while the Chapel was being demolished, the removal of some of the rubble revealing the existence in the core of the wall of a fine chancel arch of the time of Henry III. the very existence of which had not been suspected. The apex of it had been removed, presumably in the seventeenth century, to make room for the window, but the stones so removed were fortunately found in the north and south walls, and there was enough standing in situ to show the exact line of curvature. Some of the internal ashlar also remained on the north side. The arch, which was of clunch, sprang from corbels of delicate early English foliage carrying abaci of Purbeck marble. A notch cut through the mouldings on either side of the western face of the arch showed the level at which a beam for the rood or part of a rood-loft had been inserted. After the removal of the rubble and brick filling up the space between the arch and the window, the former was traced down to its base, which proved to be about two feet below the level of the pavement of that part of the Chapel. To have cleared the whole space under the newly found arch down to the original level would have necessitated the destruction of several vaults and graves and the removal of the coffins in them, and as this course was not considered expedient, the arch was eventually taken down. Every stone of it was, however, numbered and put away, and the intention is to re-erect it on a higher level near its original position, completing it with the fragments which were discovered in the north and south walls of the Chapel.

Close to the chancel arch there were found buried behind the plastering of the south wall the mutilated remains of a piscina, which must have belonged to an adjoining altar under the rood-beam. Although standing in its proper position, it cannot have formed part of the original structure, inasmuch as two of the stones of which it was composed had earlier mouldings on sides which were imbedded in the wall.

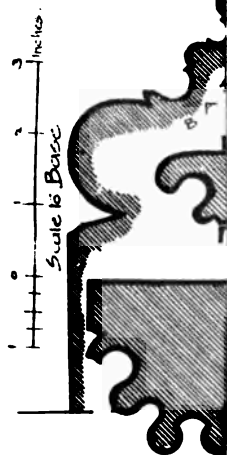

The north wall of the Chapel was divided into four bays by three buttresses, which may have been erected in the reign of Henry III. Their nosings and the lower portions of them had, however, been removed, and they were resting upon brick arches of the reign of George I. spanning the passage which led down from Rolls Yard to the basement of Rolls House.

The eastern part of the north wall was of brick in two thicknesses, of which the inner was certainly the older, having been put up in order to stop an entrance into a gallery or perhaps into a rood loft. The outer layer appears to have been added in the reign of George I.

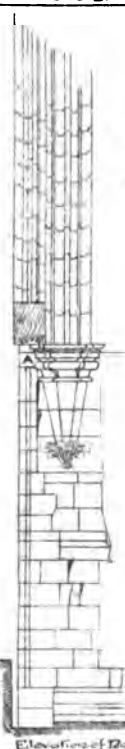

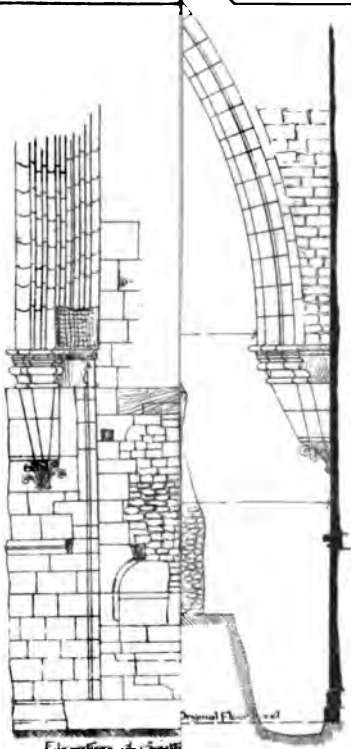

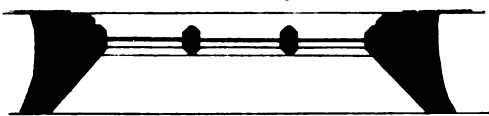

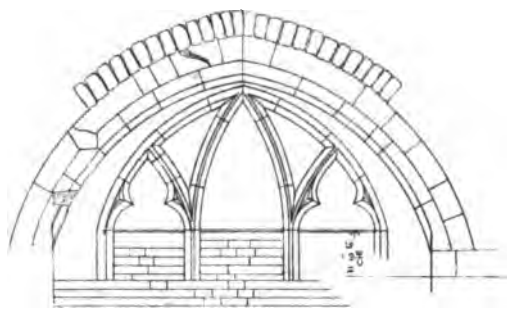

In the second bay of the north wall were found the decayed remains of a three-light window of the time of Edward I. corresponding in design with that opposite to it in the south wall, but made of clunch, the mouldings of which had crumbled away. The upper part had been clumsily restored at some unknown date. Several of the stones used in the lower part of the jambs were found to bear on the inside, that is to say on parts imbedded in the wall which were not visible until removed, mouldings of the time of Henry III. doubtless taken from the side aisles in 1275. The central light and the western light of this window appear to have been blocked up from the inside with brickwork when the monument of Lord Bruce of Kinloss was set up against it, but there are grounds for believing that the eastern light was left open somewhat longer. Eventually the whole window was blocked up with bricks inserted from without. Most of the old ironwork and a few very small fragments of painted glass were found here between the two thicknesses of brick.

Underneath this window there were found in the wall some traces of a pointed doorway, of which all the mouldings had been hacked off before it was filled up with rubble and brick. In the middle of it was a small wooden frame of comparatively modern date, which seems to have been connected with a flue for admitting warm air from Rolls House into the Chapel.

In the third bay of the north wall was found the head of the only original lancet window of the time of Henry III. that had survived the many vicissitudes to which the Chapel has been exposed. Being of clunch it had suffered much from exposure to the weather, and it had been filled up in the reign of George I., when the lower part was removed in order to make room for an entrance into a raised pew for the Master of the Rolls. The inner arch was different in shape from any of the others found beneath the plaster.

The only window in the north wall which had not been blocked up in the seventeenth or the eighteenth century was that in the western bay. It was exactly similar to that on the opposite side, and already described, and it may perhaps be attributed to the time of Edward III.

Just outside the Chapel, near the north-western angle, was found an ancient well, lined with stone, but filled with rubbish.

The bell-turret probably dated from the middle of the seventeenth century.

The modern floor of the western part of the chapel was a foot above the old level; that of the eastern part, which was approached by two steps, was two feet above the old level. The existence of the steps is mentioned as early as 1708,¹ and it is almost certain that they were made soon after the demolition of the original chancel, so as to form a ritual chancel in the eastern part of the nave. Several of the stones supporting the pavement near the south-eastern corner bore Early English mouldings, and the discovery of them in this position tends to show that the new chancel was made at a time when there was old material available, presumably in the middle of the seventeenth century. However this may be, it is clear that the monuments of Dr. Yong and Richard Alington cannot have been set up in the positions which they recently occupied until after the demolition of the original chancel, inasmuch as their bases were upon the new and higher level.

All the monuments were carefully protected during the demolition of the Chapel, and, although they were eventually taken down, they will be re-erected before long. A very short description of each will therefore suffice. That of Dr. Yong, mentioned above, has long been the chief ornament of Rolls Chapel, and it is one of the finest examples in England of the monumental art of the Italian Renaissance. By a will dated 25 April 1516, John Yong, Master of the Rolls and Dean of the metropolitan church of York, directed that his body should be buried "in the chapell of the Rollys, there as the organs nowe doth stand," and that "a tombe" should be made "over the place" of his sepulture.² He died on the very day of the execution of the will, and no time was lost in giving effect to it. As, however, we have no indication of the former position of the organ, the original site of his grave is unknown; perhaps it was in the chancel. For more than two hundred years the monument has stood at the eastern end of the north wall, in an arched recess contemporary with it. The recumbent effigy of the deceased, attired in a red gown, with tippet and hood, is finely modelled in coloured terra cotta. The hands are crossed on the breast, and the head, which bears a square cap, rests on two pillows, showing traces of ancient gilding. The stone sarcophagus rests on two lions' paws, between which there is a long scroll bearing the inscription, "Dominus firmamentum meum." On the richly moulded pedestal below are three panels, two of which contain shields of the Yong arms, formerly coloured, surrounded by arabesques. The larger panel in the centre, made of white marble, has arabesques at either end, and bears the inscription "Jo. Yong, LL. Doctori, Sacrorum Scriniorum ac hujus domus Custodi, Decano olim Ebor. vita defuncto xxv. Aprilis, sui fideles executores hoc posuerunt. MDXVI."

In the lunette of the recess above the effigy are heads of Our Lord and two cherubs, all in high relief, and made of terra cotta. "The type of the Christ is a common one in the Florentine art of the period."¹ It is affixed to a large block of Caen stone, on which are carved some clouds below the figure, and a nimbus round the head, painted with radiating lines. The cherubs' heads are so disproportionately large and of such inferior design that they can hardly be ascribed to the skilled hand which modelled the head of Christ and the effigy of Dr. Yong. In fact, they may have been made when the whole monument was moved, presumably in the middle of the seventeenth century. These last have long been believed to be the work of Pietro Torregiano, who made the tomb of Henry VII. in Westminster Abbey, and who, very shortly after Dr. Yong's death, undertook to set up the high altar in that king's chapel. "Allowing for the thicker ermine-lined robes of the king, the cast of drapery is so precisely similar to that in Henry VII.'s monument that there can be no doubt that they were either designed by the same person or copied the one from the other. The intelligent differences between them, however, preclude," in the opinion of Mr. Alfred Higgins, "the idea of a mere copy by an inferior artist."

Fresh confirmatory evidence of the connexion between the monument of Dr. Yong and that of Henry VII. was found as recently as July 1896, while the former was being removed to a temporary place of deposit. Mutilated fragments of an elaborate stringcourse were then discovered on the backs of the stone to which the head of Christ is affixed, and two other stones in the lower part of the monument in Rolls Chapel, and, on careful examination, they proved to be very similar to certain carvings in the chapel of Henry VII. at Westminster. On one fragment is the headless figure of a demi-angel, with the right arm extended towards a large Tudor rose, formerly surmounted by a crown. On another is part of a demi-angel, whose drapery is made of feathers. Corresponding figures are to be seen at Westminster, above the arcade and elsewhere in the chapel. That these carved fragments were ever actually used at the Abbey is extremely unlikely, but it is quite possible that they may have been models, carved by way of experiment. If so, they would not have been wanted after the completion of the work, and Torregiano may have been able to secure them on easy terms for the monument at Rolls Chapel. Casts of them have been taken.

Another very recent discovery in connexion with Dr. Yong's tomb must also be mentioned here, inasmuch as it will affect the general appearance of it when re-erected. Until quite lately the arch over the recess in which it stood was slightly below the surface of the adjoining wall. When, however, the plaster was removed from the wall, it was discovered that the outer moulding of the archivolt was also made of that material, and that the whole archivolt was intended to project beyond the face of the wall to which it was originally affixed. Deep below the plaster was found a surface of smooth stone, showing traces of painted scroll-work, which must once have extended over the adjoining part of the wall on the same plane. The exposed portion of the archivolt was thickly coated with whitewash, and some false joints had been cut into it, in order to continue the lines indented in the surface of the modern plaster on the wall. The masonry behind the arched recess was of rubble and brick, dating presumably from the middle of the seventeenth century.

Weaver, writing in 1631, gives the inscription which remains on Dr. Yong's monument, and adds that there were "upon an old table hanging by" the following verses "written in text hand":—

*"Hic jacet ille Johannes Yong cognomine dignus
Tali, quod nunquam marcesceret utpote charus
Omnibus, apprime summo testante dolore
Quem neque celabant neque dissimulare valebant.
Dum sternit Juvenem mors immatura labentem,
Quis non defleret Juvenis miserabile fatum?
Ex quo multorum pendebat vita, salusque;
Horum, inquam imprimis, quos ille benignus alebat
Impensis, donec vitales carperet auras.
Nec satis illi erat hoc privatis consuluisse
Rebus, quinetiam prudenter publica gessit

Cum laude, illa quidem dum sacris prefuit olim
Seriniis, hæc vero legati functus honore."*¹

¹ "Funeral Monuments," p. 280. I have slightly altered the spelling and punctuation.

The Latinity of these punning verses does not show the influence of the Renaissance which is so evident in Torregiano's beautiful monument. They are not quoted in the first edition of Dugdale's "Origines Juridiciales," printed in 1666, and they had certainly disappeared by 1708.¹ The allusion in the last line is to the diplomatic functions with which Dr. Yong was entrusted by Henry VIII. but it is somewhat remarkable that neither the tomb nor the verses give any indication of the fact that he was titular Bishop of Gallipoli.²

Almost opposite to the tomb of Dr. Yong, immediately west of the door from the Chapel into the turret, stood the Alington monument, a fine example of the Elizabethan period. The will of Richard Alington, of Lincoln's Inn, is curious for its mention of the appearance to him in infancy of "a picture of the Crosse and Christe nailed thereon," and of a subsequent dream that he saw "a monstrowse greate blacke fowle like a raven, having behind her in her hinder partes a deathe's hedd." It also contains a provision for the establishment by certain persons, who are known to have been opponents of the Reformation, of some "foundacion or erection . . . to be devised daylie or "weekely giving or representing some lively remembraunce of "the passion of Christe." The choice of a church for his burial was specifically entrusted to his executors, of whom one was his wife and another was her brother, Sir William Cordell, Master of the Rolls,³ and the place selected by them was the Rolls Chapel.

The monument set up in memory of Richard Alington is mainly of alabaster, resting upon a base of Purbeck marble, but there are two columns of black marble with composite capitals, and various inlays of the same. In two recesses with semi-circular coffered heads are kneeling figures of the deceased and his wife, facing each other, the former, partly in armour, holding a helmet, the latter holding a book. Above each recess is a mask and some delicate festoons of fruit and foliage in relief. Between them, in a circular recess, is a ball of black marble, which used to be shown to visitors as the cannon ball by which Richard Alington was killed, whereas, in point of fact, he died of small pox.⁴ Above this, on the central panel of the entablature is the following inscription:—"Ricardus Alington armiger, qui hic sepultus est, obiit XXIII die Novembris 1561." On another tablet lower down are the following lines:—

"Hospes, qui fuerim quondam si quæris, amice,
Nomen Alingtonus, stirps generosa fuit.
Hæc monumenta mihi conjux fidissima struxit,
Quæque mihi struxit destinat illa sibi.

 Cum matre ras omnes precor ut post funera summe
 Cælica perducas in tua regna, Deus." ¹

Figures of the three daughters are accordingly shown in low relief, kneeling towards the deceased, on a tablet between the figures of their parents. Below this again is a shield of arms, painted and gilded, with delicate arabesques on either side. There are traces of gilding elsewhere

The following passage occurs in the will of "Jane Allington, late the wief of Richard Allington esquier deceased," which was dated 15 July 1602 and proved 7 January 1604;—"My will is that my bodie maye be buried in the Chappell of the Rolles of (in) the same vault that my late welbeloved husband Mr. Allington nowe lieth buried in." ²

The letters "S.E." and the inscription "Edmonde Medhoppe, Januarye 31, an^o Dom. 1604," roughly cut on the side of the dado of one of the columns, appear to be mischievous additions.

Irrespective of the evidence furnished by the vaults, which will be noticed below, there are several reasons for believing that the position recently occupied by the Alington monument was not that in which it was originally fixed. Firstly, the base of it was about two feet above the old level of the floor of the Chapel. Secondly, it stood close against an ancient window, in the filling of which were fragments of carved stone and marble posterior to the date of Richard Alington's death. Thirdly, the monument, although most carefully wrought and carved, was put together in a clumsy manner.

Above the Alington monument was a tablet of white and Siena marbles, bearing a coloured coat of arms and the following inscription:—"In this Chappel lyeth buried the Right Honourable William Fortescue of Buckland Filleigh and Fallapit in the county of Devon, Esquire, who, having been one of the Barons of the Court of Exchequer and afterwards one of the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas, was made Master of the Rolls the 5th day of November 1741, and dyed the 16th day of December 1749, in the 63d year of his age."

On the north side of the Chapel, a little to the west of Dr. Yong's monument, were two mural tablets. The upper one, a white marble slab, with coat of arms above, bears the following inscription:—

"To the memory of the Right Hon. Robert, Lord Gifford, Baron Gifford of St. Leonards in the county of Devon, Master of the Rolls, who died the 4th September 1826, in the 48th year of his age.

"Also to the memory of his widow, Harriet Maria Gifford, who died May 20th 1857, and was buried at Albury in Surrey.

² Wills at Somerset House. Harte, f. 9.

The lower one, a white marble slab with funeral urn above and coat of arms below, bears the following inscription:—

"To the memory of the Rt. Honble. Sir Thomas Sewell, Knt. Master of the Rolls, and one of His Majesty's most Honourable Privy Council, this monument was erected in pursuance of the will of Mary Elizabeth, his widow, who long survived him and who, with their child, lies buried in the same vault in this chapel.

"Her Ladyship was of the family of Sibthorpe of Canwick in the county of Lincoln, representatives in many Parliaments for the City of Lincoln."

A little to the west of these two tablets, stood the largest monument in the Chapel, that of Edward, Lord Bruce of Kinloss, Master of the Rolls, who died in 1611. It is mainly of alabaster, which in places shows remains of the original painting and gilding. Above the entablature, which is carried by two black marble columns with composite capitals, there is a panel containing a shield of the Bruce arms with helmet and crest above, supporters on either side, and the motto "Fuimus" below. There are also subsidiary shields of Bruce impaling Clerk, and Bruce alone. At the top of all is an hour-glass resting on a winged skull. Between the two columns is a shallow recess with semicircular head, in the lunette of which is the following inscription:—

"Sacræ memoriæ Domini Edwardi Brucii, Baronis Brucii Kinlossensis, Sacrorum Scriniiorum Magistri, dicatum, qui obiit 14^o Januarii salutis 1610, ætatis 62, Jacobi regis 8.

"Brucius Edwardus situs hic et Scotus et Anglus,

Scotus ut ortu, Anglis sic oriundus avis.

Regno in utroque decus tulit auctus honoribus amplis,

Regi a consiliis regni utriusque fuit.

Conjuge, prole, nuru, genero, spe, reque beatus,

Vivere nos docuit, nunc docet ecce mori."

On the main sill above the base of the monument is a large recumbent effigy of the deceased wearing a furred robe, his head supported by his right arm which rests upon a cushion. Below, in front of the base, are four detached figures, kneeling on cushions, all facing a projecting pedestal. The smaller of those on the west side is certainly that of Christian, daughter of the deceased, so called because born on Christmas Day 1596, who, on the 10th of April 1608, was married in this Chapel to William Cavendish, being then "a pretty red-headed wench" of less than thirteen.¹ According to some pedigrees, Lord Bruce of Kinloss had an elder daughter named Janet, who married Thomas Dalzell of Binns, but, on the other hand, Christian Cavendish has been described as his "only daughter."² However this may be, the larger of the two female figures probably represents Magdalen, Lady Bruce of Kinloss, who survived her husband. The figure of a young man in armour, on the east side of the pedestal is that of Sir Edward Bruce, K.B. who succeeded his father in the peerage, and was killed two years later by Sir Edward Sackville, in a duel fought near Bergen-op-Zoom.¹ The smaller figure behind is that of Thomas Bruce, who became third Lord Bruce of Kinloss, and was created Earl of Elgin. Inasmuch as the elder of these two sons of the first Lord Bruce of Kinloss is stated to have died unmarried, while the other did not marry until 1622, the allusion to a step-daughter in the epitaph is worthy of notice.

The base of the Bruce monument, partly concealed by the modern pavement, went down to the level of the original floor, and rested upon a solid foundation of old red bricks. Altogether, there is much less evidence of a removal of this monument from some other position than there is with regard to the monuments of Dr. Yong and Richard Alington. But for numerous breakages in it, and the absence of the bones of the deceased, there would be every reason to believe that it had never been moved.

After the demolition of the walls of Rolls Chapel, all the space below the pavement was carefully examined, but none of the coffins were disturbed. Immediately in front of Dr. Yong's monument was found a skull and a few bones, probably removed from the chancel or some other part of the building, without any traces of a coffin. In an open brick grave, a little to the south, were found two coffins, of which the lower is that of William Fortescue, who died in 1749, and the upper is that of Lord Gifford, who died in 1826. Further south, in a similar grave, were found two coffins, of which one is clearly that of a child, while the other is probably that of a woman, as it measures only 14 inches in breadth. Adjoining this grave, and immediately in front of the position recently occupied by the Alington monument, is a large vault containing five coffins. The lowest on the south side is that of Sir Joseph Jekyll, who died in 1732. Above it is that of Lord Alvanley, who died in 1804, and above that again is an old leaden coffin in very bad condition. On the north side is the coffin of Sir Thomas Plumer, who died in 1824, and beneath it a large coffin of comparatively early form, the position of the head being marked by a square projection. In this vault was also found a large vase of red earthenware, containing a skull and some fragments of bricks.

Another vault to the west of this contains the coffins of Sir Thomas Sewell, who died in 1784, Lady Sewell who died in 1820, and their daughter. In a vault immediately north of this is the coffin of Sir John Trevor, who died in 1717. An open grave further north contains the coffin of Arthur Trevor who died in 1759 at the age of 85, and beyond this is that of a child. Sir Thomas Clarke, who died in 1764, lies buried in a brick vault within a foot of the site of the Bruce monument, under which no traces of any interment were found. If the coffin of Lord Bruce of Kinloss is one of the two old ones in the vault at the south-eastern angle of the Chapel, the body of Jane Alington does not lie in the vault with that of her husband. Altogether the evidence of the interments seems to support the theory previously formed of a great change in the Chapel in the seventeenth century.

The four earliest panels of heraldic glass in the windows of the Rolls Chapel date from the year 1611, and bear the following inscriptions:—

" Sacrorum Scriniarum Magister."¹

(2.) "1611. Henricus, præpotentissimi Regis Jacobi, Magnæ
" Britanniæ et Franciæ Regis, filius primogenitus, Princeps
" Walliæ, Dux Cornubiæ et Comes Cestriæ."

(3.) "Dominus Robertus Cecill, Comes Sarisburie, Vicecomes
" Cramburniæ, Baro Cecill, Summus Angliæ Thesaurarius,
" illustrissimæ Regiæ Majestatis Principalis Secretarius, Curiæ
" Wardorum et Liberationum Præfectus, illustrissimi Ordinis
" Garterii eques."

(4.) "Edvardus Phellips, miles, serviens serenissimi domini
" Regis Jacobi [ad] legem, et primi sub dicto domino Rege
" Parlamenti, quod, in quinque sessiones continuatum, per septem
" annos duraverat, Prolocutor, Sacrorum Scriniarum Magister, et
" illustrissimi domini Henrici Walliæ Principis Cancellarius."

Three of them were recently in the west window, and the fourth was in the north window, but it is quite clear that the positions which they occupied were not those in which they were originally fixed. The shield of the Prince of Wales is surmounted by a coronet and some scroll-work which seems to have been made to fit the head of a pointed window, and the panel of the Phelips arms, which, like the other three, is two feet five inches in width without the border, could not have been put up in the north window until after the removal of the mullions. Any one of them would have fitted the only surviving lancet window in the north wall very well, and there may have been similar lancets in the demolished chancel.

The next two panels in point of date are practically uniform in size with the preceding, and bear the following inscriptions:—

(5.) "1660. Harbottellus Grimston, Barronettus, primi Parlia-
" menti sub serenissimo domino Rege Carolo Secundo, anno regni
" sui duodecimo Prolocutor, et Sacrorum Scriniarum Magister."

(6.) "H. Powle, M.R., 1691." with two monograms, each composed of two letters H and P.

Both of these were in the south window.

One more, also uniform with the above, was in the north window. It bears the inscription:—

(7.) "J. Trevor, Sacrorum Scriniarum Magister," the name being an enlarged copy of the signature of this Master of the Rolls.

¹ I have extended the abbreviations in these inscriptions.

The later panels of heraldic glass are of various sizes and of very inferior execution. They bear the following inscriptions:—

(8.) "Johannes Leach, miles, obiit 14 September (sic) 1834, ætatis suæ 74, Cancellarius Ducatus Cornubiæ 1816, Capitalis " Justiciarius Cestriæ 1817, Vice Cancellarius Angliæ et " Regiæ Majestati e Secretioribus Consiliis 1818, Scriniorum " Sacrorum Magister, 1827."

This was in the south window, as was also the next.

(9.) "Robertus, Dominus Gifford, Sacrorum Scriniorum " Magister, 1824."

(10.) "Henry, Baron Langdale, Master of the Rolls, 19th " January, 1836."

This was at the top of the west window.

(11.) "The Right Hon. Sir John Romilly, Knight, Master of " the Rolls, 28th March 1851."

This was in the south window.

(12.) "G. J. 1874."

This memorial of Sir George Jessel was in the west window.

All the glass recently in the east window appears to date from about the year 1821, and is artistically of very little value. It consists of a huge representation of the royal arms of that period and a series of twenty shields of various Masters of the Rolls, from John Frank in the reign of Henry VI. down to Sir Thomas Plumer in the reign of George IV. The shield of Sir John Churchill (1684), which belongs to this series, was for some unknown reason omitted from its proper place, and inserted in the south window.

Like almost everything else connected with the Rolls Chapel, the Register of Burials and Marriages is irregular. Instead of being a contemporary record kept by the officiating minister, it is an imperfect series of notes collected by a layman. The entries are so few that I give them for what they are worth:

"August, 1738.—Sir Joseph Jekyll was buried in the Rolls Chapell in Mr. Allington's vault, near the little door which leads upstairs. Joseph Jekyll, Esq. principall mourner, Mr. Hill, Mr. William Rooke, Mr. Mortimer, and some few others, attending the funerall, which was private.

The service performed by Richard Terrick, who was his chaplain.

December, 1749.—William Fortescue, Esquire died on Saturday morning the 16th December, 1749, about one o'clock, and was buried in the Chapel of the Rolls, on one side of, and close to the Communion Table, on the north side, on Tuesday the 26th of December, about two of the clock in the afternoon. A grave was made (there being no vault just there) sufficient only to hold his coffin, a very wide one. His son-in-law, Mr. Spooner, and his relation, Mr. Dennis, were mourners. Messrs. Holford, Bennett, Allen, Burroughs, Edwards, and Lane (Masters in Chancery) supported the pall, attended by myself (H. R.), his two secretaries, and two registers.

Funeral service performed by Dr. Terrick, his chaplain.

1764.—‘Sir Thomas Clarke, Master of the Rolls, died Tuesday the 13th of November, 1764, a little after 9 o'clock at night, and he was buried in the Chapel, 21st.’

The above minute is copied from an entry in the hand writing of the late Mr. Rooke in his Office Account Book of the year 1764, now in my possession.

JOHN KIPLING.

1784.—The Right Honorable Sir Thomas Sewell, Master of the Rolls, died on the sixth day of March, at the Rolls House, aged 72, and was buried in the upper part of the Chapel of the Rolls, in a grave which had been made large enough to hold three coffins, inclosed with bricks, wherein his infant daughter and only child by Lady Sewell, who survived him, had been a few years before buried; which grave adjoins to the north on one of Sir John Trevor, formerly Master of the Rolls, whose grave adjoins to the north on that of Sir Thomas Clarke, also late Master of the Rolls, which last-mentioned grave adjoins to the north on the supposed place of interment of Edward Lord Bruce, formerly also Master of the Rolls. Mr. Sewell, the eldest son of Sir Thomas Sewell, Mr. Wm. Sewell, and the Rev. George Sewell, preacher at the Rolls Chapel, two other sons, the undersigned John Kipling, Mr. Deaves, and Mr. Mendham, his two secretaries, and others, attending the funeral, which was private.

The funeral service

JOHN KIPLING.

1804, March 26.—The Right Honorable Richard Pepper, Lord Alvanley, Lord Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, and previously Master of the Rolls, died at his house in Great George Street, the nineteenth day of March, aged 59, and was buried in Mr. Alington's vault in the Chapel of the Rolls, on the 26 of the same month. The coffin was placed over that of Sir Joseph Jekyll, on the south side of the vault. The entrance to the vault was discovered to be under the steps leading to the Communion Table, by removing three courses of stone from Mr. Alington's monument. The funeral, which was private, was attended by Mr. Smith, chief secretary to the Master of the Rolls and late secretary to Lord Alvanley, Mr. Broad, associate and marshall to Lord Alvanley, Mr. Charles Broad, cryer at nisi prius in the Court of Common Pleas, Mr. Gordon, his Lordship's clerk, and others, in the presence of

§ IV. CALENDARS.

PATENT ROLLS :

I have stated in previous Reports that I had made arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls, and that identical instructions had been given to the different officers employed upon the work. Reserving the reign of Henry III. for future treatment, the object of the scheme is to provide an English Calendar to these invaluable documents from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. inclusive. The work has been started at five points:—

Edward I.—By the end of 1896, thirty-four sheets, comprising the whole text, of a volume embracing the period between the thirtieth and the thirty-fifth years had been completed at press.

Edward II.—By the end of 1896, thirty-three sheets of the second volume for this reign had been completed at press.

Edward III.—Twenty sheets of the fourth volume for this reign were passed for press in 1896.

Richard II.—By the end of 1896, thirty-nine sheets, comprising the whole text, of the second volume for this reign had been completed at press.

Edward IV.—By the end of 1896, thirty-six sheets, comprising the whole text, of the first volume for this reign had been completed at press.

One volume for each of these reigns will be ready for publication in the course of the present year.

CLOSE ROLLS :

Mr. W. H. Stevenson has been engaged upon a General Introduction to the Close Rolls of the reign of Edward II., which will be prefixed to the fourth volume of the Calendar for that reign.

The first volume for the reign of Edward III. was completed and published in 1896. (See § X.)

CHARTER ROLLS :

A Calendar of these documents has been begun upon the system adopted with regard to the Mediæval Patent Rolls and Close Rolls.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

The text of the first volume of the Calendar of Inquisitiones post mortem of the reign of Henry VII. was completed at press in 1896, and considerable progress was made with the Index thereto.

A similar Calendar for the reign of Edward II. was begun.

ANCIENT DEEDS :

By the end of 1896, thirty sheets of the third volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds, mentioned in previous Reports, had been completed at press.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

Further progress has been made with the Calendar of Mediæval Letters, and a short List of those belonging to the Chancery has been prepared.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII. :

The second part of Vol. XIV. was published in 1896. (See § X.)

Vol. XV. was in the binders' hands at the end of the year.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I. :

The editorship of the supplementary volume, begun by the late Mr. W. D. Hamilton and continued by the late Mrs. Everett Green, was entrusted to Mrs. S. C. Lomas, a niece and assistant of the latter. By the end of 1896, forty-eight sheets had been passed for press.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II. :

By the end of 1896, a volume coming down to 17 May 1672 had been completed at press by Mr. Blackburne Daniell, with the exception of the Preface and the Index.

Twenty-six sheets of another volume had also been passed for press.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF WILLIAM III. :

By the end of 1896, Mr. W. J. Hardy had completed at press the second volume of this series, with the exception of the Preface and the Index.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

Further materials have been collected for a volume covering the period of the administration of the Earl of Essex.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, A.D. 1625-1670 :

Mr. R. P. Mahaffy, B.A. has begun a Calendar which will deal with Irish papers in the Public Record Office during the reign of Charles I. and the Commonwealth, and during the earlier part of the reign of Charles II. Those of subsequent date fall within the scope of the Calendar of State Papers, Domestic, and the Calendar of Home Office Papers.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES :

The volume begun by the late Mr. W. N. Sainsbury was completed by the Hon. J. W. Fortescue and published in 1896. (See § X.)

By the end of the year, eleven sheets of another volume had been passed for press.

STATE PAPERS, FOREIGN SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

This work, which has been suspended since 1880, has been resumed under the editorship of Mr. A. J. Butler, M.A.

TREASURY PAPERS :

By the end of 1896, Mr. W. A. Shaw had completed at press a volume for the year 1729, with the exception of the Preface and the Index.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress was made with the alphabetical arrangement of the tabular Index of Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery, before the reign of Elizabeth, has been revised and continued, with a view to the publication of a first instalment of it at an early date.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

A similar List of Bills and Answers addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, in the reign of Elizabeth, but not noticed in the three volumes issued by the Record Commission in 1827-1832, was published in 1896. (See § XI.)

The List has been continued in manuscript down to the Chancellorship of Sir Francis Bacon.

COURT ROLLS :

The first part of a comprehensive List of Court Rolls preserved in the Public Record Office was published, with an Index, in 1896.

SUBSIDY ACCOUNTS :

Further progress was made with the List of these documents mentioned in previous Reports.

RENTALS AND SURVEYS :

The List of Rentals and Surveys, so far as it deals with documents formerly scattered among the Miscellanea of the Exchequer, has been completed in manuscript and placed in the Search Room.

ENROLLED ACCOUNTS :

The manuscript of a List extending down to the end of the reign of Richard III. has been completed.

EARLY ACCOUNTS :

The fair copy of this List has been completed for the use of the public in the Search Rooms.

SHERIFFS :

A considerable part of the List of Sheriffs, based upon entries in the Pipe Rolls and the Fine Rolls, was completed at press by the end of 1896.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS :

An Appendix, with Corrigenda and Index to Part I. of the List of Ministers' Accounts, published in 1894, was almost completed at press by the end of 1896.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the previous nine years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described in existing Calendars and Lists.

The Pleadings on the Common Law Side of Chancery have been partially re-arranged.

The Returns into Chancery upon writs of Certiorari have been re-arranged and the collections have been largely increased.

The Files of Chancery have been re-numbered, after the extraction from them of numerous documents belonging to recognised classes, and the addition to them of the Brevia Regia and many loose documents formerly stowed away in sacks at the Tower of London.

A vast quantity of books and papers belonging to the Admiralty and the War Office has been placed in the new block of the Office.

The records of numerous other Departments of State have also been re-packed, and the lists of them revised.

§ VII. OPERATIONS BY REPAIRERS AND ATTENDANTS.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

The new block of the Public Record Office facing Chancery Lane having been completed in 1895, as stated in my last report, the House of Commons voted a sum of 20,000*l.* for the financial year 1896-97 towards the erection of another block, which will connect it with the portion erected between 1850 and 1871. The cost of this fourth instalment of the General Repository of Records is estimated at 50,000*l.* The site having been cleared by the demolition of Rolls House and Rolls Chapel, the work was begun in the month of February 1896.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of this Act have continued their duties.

A new Rule made by the Master of the Rolls on the 11th of June 1895, extending the Rules of which Your Majesty's approbation was declared by Order in Council on the 30th of June 1890 to the documents of the Departments of Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, of the Board of Agriculture, and of the Registry of Friendly Societies, was printed in my last Report. It was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 27th of February 1896, and lay sixty days, on which the Houses respectively sat, before both Houses. Your Majesty afterwards declared Your approbation of the Rule by Order in Council of the 26th of October 1896.

The Third Schedule of Documents removed from the Office of the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral, which was mentioned in my last Report as having been approved by the Master of the Rolls and the First Lord of the Admiralty, was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 17th of February 1896, and lay before them for the required period of four weeks.

The Schedule of Documents of the High Court of Chancery relating to the practice before the Masters in Ordinary, which was mentioned in my last Report as having been approved by the Master of the Rolls, was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 2nd of March 1896, and lay before them for the required period of four weeks.

An application was received in relation to the Poll Books used at Parliamentary Elections for Counties and Boroughs of England and Wales from the year 1843 to the year 1870, which were kept in a room required by the House of Commons for other purposes. After referring to Mr. Speaker, the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, to whose office they belonged, made a proposal to deal with them under the Public Record Office Acts and Rules. The matter having been carefully considered with the assistance of Mr. A. G. C. Liddell, of the Crown Office, and specimens of the books having been inspected, it seemed clear that the books could be of no further use except as showing what was the mode of voting before the Ballot was adopted. They were accordingly included in a Schedule for destruction, with the reservation that a few of them, relating to Counties and to Boroughs both of England and of Wales, should be preserved as specimens. The Schedule having been approved by the Master of the Rolls was laid before the House of Commons on the 18th of May, and before the House of Lords on the 19th of May 1896, and lay before both Houses for the required period of four weeks.

A Fourth Schedule of Documents removed from the Office of the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral was prepared with the assistance of Mr. John Scott, the Deputy Accountant-General of the Navy. This includes thirty-three classes of documents, and will materially assist in diminishing the great accumulation of useless Admiralty records. After having been approved by the Master of the Rolls and the First Lord of the Admiralty, it was laid before the House of Commons on the 13th July and before the House of Lords on the 14th of July 1896, and lay before both Houses for the required period of four weeks.

Among the Records of the Exchequer are documents known as "Coast Bonds" or "Port Bonds" with the corresponding "Certificates of Landing," which were found to be in a very offensive condition from early neglect and subsequent disuse. Most of them might have been destroyed at an earlier period under the Act 6 Geo. IV. c. 107. s. 118 (which is now repealed), but they were (perhaps inadvertently) brought into the statutory custody of the Master of the Rolls by a countersigned warrant, in the year 1841, and it therefore appeared expedient to include them in a Schedule for destruction. In the same Schedule were included Port Books of the Port of London, as it was ascertained by inspection that the information which they furnished could be more readily obtained from the Custom House Ledgers of Exports and Imports. This Schedule of Exchequer Documents, after having been approved by the Master of the Rolls, was also laid before the House of Commons on the 13th of July and before the House of Lords on the 14th of July 1896, and lay before both Houses for the required period of four weeks.

During the examination of Custom House Records, which was necessary in the consideration of the Port Books, it was discovered that some of the Custom House Ledgers in the Public Record Office were in duplicate. It was therefore in contemplation to prepare a Schedule of Custom House Documents which have been removed to the Public Record Office. The Board of Customs, however, having been able to find room for one set of the books, they were returned to the Custom House. (See § III.)

The completion of the Second Schedule of Home Office Documents in the Public Record Office, which has been mentioned in previous Reports as being in progress, was deferred, in order that the question whether certain additional classes should be included might be fully considered. The final proceedings in relation to this Schedule will be noticed in my next Report.

A Fifth Schedule of War Office Documents in the Public Record Office has also been in preparation, but it was not completed at the end of the year.

Some steps were taken towards the preparation of a Schedule of Documents in the Central Office of the Registry of Friendly Societies, in virtue of the new rule above mentioned. The further proceedings will be noticed in my next Report.

An application has been received concerning the proposed destruction of some documents in the office of Your Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, and an officer of that Department has been nominated to act with the Inspecting Officers.

An application has also been received through the Home Office touching the proposed destruction of records in the office of the Clerk of the Peace for the Borough of Leicester.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

CALENDAR OF THE CLOSE ROLLS, preserved in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records.

One volume of this new series was published in 1896:—

Edward III. 1327–1330.—This volume was prepared by Mr. W. H. Stevenson.

CALENDAR OF LETTERS AND STATE PAPERS RELATING TO ENGLISH AFFAIRS, preserved principally in the Archives of SIMANCAS. Vol. III. Elizabeth, 1580–1586. Edited by Martin A. S. Hume.

A considerable number of the papers dealt with in this volume are to be found in the National Archives in Paris. This arises from the fact that, during the Peninsular War, most of the documents at Simancas relating to France were abstracted by order of Napoleon and conveyed to Paris, where they still remain. After the expulsion of Mendoza from England in 1584, English affairs were managed from Paris by him, so that his previous letters from London were included by mistake in the papers removed from the Spanish Archives. Some of these papers were edited by M. Teulet, in Spanish with a French translation, for the Bannatyne Club in 1851, and most of the letters of Mary Queen of Scots to Mendoza were printed in Prince Labanoff's collection; but it was thought advisable to put the whole of the documents before the reader. Much new matter will be found relating to Elizabeth's projected marriage with Alençon, Drake's devastations in the Pacific and their effect on the Spanish traders, and the Babington and other plots which hastened Mary Stuart's execution.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII., preserved in the Public Record Office, the British Museum, and elsewhere in England. Arranged and catalogued by James Gairdner and R. H. Brodie. Vol. XIV. Part II.

This part deals with papers dated in 1539, between 1st August and the end of the year; the appendix contains a few of earlier date in that year. Many new details are to be found in it of the negotiations for the marriage of Henry with Anne of Cleves, of that lady's journey to England, and her arrival here just at the end of the year. The suppression of monasteries was nearly completed, and many surrenders of them are here on record, with a note of the pensions assigned to their inhabitants at the time.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES, AMERICA AND WEST INDIES, 1677-1680, preserved in the Public Record Office. Edited by the late W. Noel Sainsbury and the Hon. J. W. Fortescue.

The early part of this volume is concerned mainly with the actions of the Commissioners sent from England to suppress the rising in Virginia known as Bacon's Rebellion; and the state of that Colony at the time when Lord Culpeper was appointed governor. In Carolina, too, there was a rebellion on a small scale, of which few details have been brought to light, except in these papers. Among the New England Colonies, Massachusetts seems to have been the most troublesome at this period, and the English Government had to use some very threatening language before it was brought to order. Other interesting papers relate to Newfoundland and its fisheries; the disputes between the chartered company of Bermuda and the settlers there; the quarrels of Sir Jonathan Atkins, Governor of Barbadoes, with the Government, ending in his recall; Lords Vaughan and Carlisle in Jamaica, and the attempt to impose the Irish system known as Poyning's Law there; &c.

§ XI. LISTS AND INDEXES PUBLISHED.

Two volumes of this series were published in 1896 :—

No. VI. LIST AND INDEX OF COURT ROLLS preserved in the Public Record Office. Part I.

The List is divided into two sections, dealing respectively with the Rolls of the Duchy of Lancaster and those of the new general series.

The List of Court Rolls of the Duchy of Lancaster has been placed first, because an Inventory of them has already been printed in the Appendix to the 43rd Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Public Records; and the text and arrangement of that Inventory have been followed in the new List, with the exception of the introduction of modern spellings, and the bringing up of the names of sub-manors, tithings, &c. from the footnotes to the text, in accordance with the plan adopted with regard to the remainder of the work.

The general series comprises the Court Rolls formerly preserved amongst the Records of the Exchequer Queen's Remembrancer, Exchequer Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer, Exchequer Augmentation Office, Exchequer Treasury of the Receipt, the Chancery, the Palatinates of Durham and Chester, and the Welsh Series, and a few from the collection of State Papers and other sources.

Extracts of Court Rolls have been included in the new List, but extracts from Court Rolls containing records, surrenders, and admissions of tenants, commonly called "Copies of Court Roll," have been transferred to the series of Deeds and Evidences.

The List and the Index thereto have been prepared by Mr. J. E. Ernest S. Sharp, an Assistant Record Keeper.

No. VII. INDEX OF CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS (SERIES II.) preserved in the Public Record Office. Vol. I. A.D. 1558-1579.

The Bills and Answers in Chancery preserved in the Public Record Office from the reign of Elizabeth to that of Charles the First, inclusive, are arranged in two series.

To the first of these there are old manuscript indexes, which give only the surnames of the plaintiffs and defendants, without any indication of the subjects of the different suits or of the counties.

The Commissioners on the Public Records, considering that the information thus afforded was inadequate, caused a new index to be begun on a very elaborate and expensive scale, and between the years 1827 and 1832 three large folio volumes of it were published, under the title of "Calendar of the Proceedings in Chancery in the reign of Queen Elizabeth." This Calendar was printed in tabular form, the first column giving the necessary references to the documents, the second the Christian names and surnames of the plaintiffs, and the third those of the defendants. The fourth column states the objects of the suits, the fifth describes the premises, and the sixth specifies the counties. Each volume is provided with an Index Locorum and an Index Nominum. A certain number of suits, apparently of minor importance, which are noticed in the manuscript index of surnames, were, however, omitted from this Calendar.

No serious attempt has yet been made to supersede the old indexes of names for the reigns of James I. and Charles I. although that for the latter reign has been printed by the Index Society. It is to be hoped that some steps will hereafter be taken in this direction.

The second, or supplementary, series, to which the present volume is the first instalment of a calendar or index, consists of a large collection of Bills and Answers, extending from the reign of Elizabeth to that of Charles the Second, inclusive, of which 102 bundles only had been indexed at the Tower, under the title of "Miscellaneous Chancery Proceedings," the index consisting of three manuscript quarto volumes. The remainder of the collection, comprising some 400 bundles, were altogether undescribed, and therefore inaccessible to the searcher.

To these have been added a great number of analogous documents which have been brought to light by the recent classification of the contents of the Public Record Office, and which, by the carelessness of former custodians, had been detached from the regular series, and altogether lost sight of.

The present Index has been prepared by officers of this Department, somewhat on the lines laid down by the Commissioners on the Public Records, but on a less ambitious and costly scale, one column being omitted, and the description of the premises being curtailed as much as possible.

§ XII. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following volume was issued in 1896 :—

MEMORIALS OF ST. EDMUND'S ABBEY. Edited by Thomas Arnold, M.A. Vol. III. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

This concluding volume contains a number of comparatively short pieces, viz :—

A Chronicle of Bury from A.D. 1020–1346, ascribed to a monk of St. Benet Hulme.

A Collection of notes, &c. made by Andrew Aston, hosteller of Bury in 1426.

Extracts from various MSS. at Cambridge relating to Bury.

Extracts from the Register of Abbot Curteys, comprising some versified charters ascribed to Lydgate, and some letters of the fifteenth century.

An account of the destruction of the church by fire in 1465.

A brief Chronicle.

There is also an Appendix and a Glossary and an Index to the three volumes.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1896 was 644, making a total of 55,352.

At the end of the year, there were three works belonging to this series in the press :—

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. Vol. VII.

Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

RANULF DE GLANVILL; TRACTATUS DE LEGIBUS ET CONSUECUDINIBUS ANGLIÆ. Edited and translated by Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C., D.C.L. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

THE RED BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER. Edited by Hubert Hall, F.S.A. of the Public Record Office. Parts I. II. and III. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

§ XIII. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series. Vol. XII. A.D. 1580–1581. Vol. XIII. A.D. 1581–1582. Edited by John Roche Dasent, C.B. Barrister-at-Law.

The publication of these two volumes in 1896 shows that this series is making very satisfactory progress.

A GUIDE TO THE PRINCIPAL CLASSES OF DOCUMENTS PRESERVED IN THE PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE, by S. R. Scargill-Bird, F.S.A., an Assistant Record Keeper. Second edition.

The first edition of this work was published in 1891, and the rearrangement since then of certain classes of records has led to corresponding changes in the text. The Introduction and the Index have also been greatly enlarged.

§ XIV. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME:

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the archives of the Vatican, where he had the assistance for some months of Mr. C. Johnson, B.A. of the Public Record Office.

The Calendar of Petitions to the Pope between the years 1342 and 1419 was completed at press in 1896.

The text of the Calendar of Papal Letters between the years 1342 and 1362 was also completed at press.

Some materials for another volume of his Calendar of Papal Letters were collected.

VENICE:

Mr. Horatio F. Brown has continued his researches in the Venetian Archives. By the end of 1896, nineteen sheets of a new volume of his Calendar of documents and entries relating to English affairs had been passed for press. This, when completed, will bring the work down to the death of Queen Elizabeth.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, AND VIENNA:

Don Pascual de Gayangos has continued his researches. By the end of 1896, twenty-four sheets of a new volume of his Calendar, beginning with the year 1544, had been passed for press.

Major Martin A. S. Hume has prepared the text of another volume of his Calendar.

FRANCE:

By the end of 1896, Mr J. H. Round had passed for press four sheets of a Calendar of early documents in France relating to England, founded upon the series of transcripts made for the Old Record Commission.

§ XV. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has been conducted at the Public Record Office, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts of the reign of Elizabeth from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commissioners.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 9th day of July 1897.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL-LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Statute, 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) Esher, M.R.

§ IV. CALENDARS.

PATENT ROLLS:

I have stated in previous Reports that I had made arrangements for a systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls, and that identical instructions had been given to the different officers employed upon the work. Reserving the reign of Henry III. for future treatment, the object of the scheme is to provide an English Calendar to these invaluable documents from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. inclusive. The work has been started at five points:—

Edward I.—A volume embracing the period between the thirtieth and the thirty-fifth years of the reign was completed at press in 1897.

Four sheets of a volume dealing with the first nine years were also passed for press.

Edward II.—The text of the second volume for this reign was completed at press in 1897.

Edward III.—The text of the fourth volume for this reign was completed at press in 1897.

Richard II.—The second volume for this reign was completed at press in 1897.

Edward IV.—The first volume for this reign was completed at press and issued in 1897. (See § X.)

Ten sheets of the second volume were also passed for press.

CLOSE ROLLS :

Edward I.—Thirteen sheets of the first volume for this reign were passed for press in 1897.

Edward II.—The fourth and concluding volume for this reign was, at the end of the year, awaiting Mr. W. H. Stevenson's general introduction.

Edward III.—The text of the second volume for this reign was completed at press in 1897.

Twenty-four sheets of the third volume were also passed for press.

CHARTER ROLLS :

Further progress has been made with the Calendar of these documents.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

The first volume of the Calendar of Inquisitiones post mortem and other analogous documents of the reign of Henry VII. was almost completed at press in 1897.

ANCIENT DEEDS :

The text of the third volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds was completed at press in 1897.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

Some further progress has been made with the Calendar of Mediæval Letters, but the editor has given more time to the preparation of a List. (See § V.)

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII. :

Vol. XV. of this work was issued in February, 1897. (See § X.)

Considerable progress was made with the printing of Vol. XVI.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I. :

The supplementary volume for this reign was issued in September, 1897. (See § X.)

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II. :

The twelfth volume of this work was issued in September, 1897. (See § X.) The text of another volume was also completed at press.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF WILLIAM III. :

The second volume of this work was completed at press in 1897. The printing of the third volume was also begun.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

Nine sheets of a volume dealing with the years 1599 and 1600 were passed for press in 1897, and the remainder of the text was in type at the end of the year.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, A.D. 1625-1670 :

Thirteen sheets of the first volume of this work were passed for press by Mr. R. P. Mahaffy in 1897.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES :

The text of the fifth volume of the Calendar of papers relating to America and the West Indies was almost completed at press by the Hon. J. W. Fortescue by the end of 1897. It deals with the period between 1681 and 1684.

Eight sheets of the sixth volume were also passed for press.

STATE PAPERS, FOREIGN SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

Mr. A. J. Butler sent to the printers the first instalment of his work, beginning at 1 July, 1577.

TREASURY BOOKS AND PAPERS :

A volume dealing with the years 1729 and 1730 was completed at press by Mr. W. A. Shaw in 1897.

By the end of the year, forty-two sheets of the succeeding volume had also been passed for press.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress was made with the alphabetical arrangement of the tabular Index of Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery, before the reign of Elizabeth, was revised and continued, with a view to the publication of a first instalment of it at an early date.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

A similar list of supplementary Bills and Answers for the period between 1579 and 1621 was completed in manuscript.

SUBSIDY ACCOUNTS :

Further progress was made with the List of these documents mentioned in previous Reports.

SHERIFFS :

The List of Sheriffs, based upon official records, was almost completed at press in 1897.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

The class of documents, hitherto incorrectly described as "Royal Letters," having been re-arranged and considerably enlarged, a List of them has been prepared, which shows the contents of the different volumes.

ENROLLED ACCOUNTS :

The List of Accounts enrolled on the Pipe Rolls, the Chancellor's Rolls, and the Foreign Rolls of the Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer's Department of the Exchequer, down to the end of the reign of Richard III., have been revised, with a view to its publication at an early date.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS :

A volume containing Appendix, Corrigenda, and Index to Part I. was published in 1897. (See § XI.)

CHARITIES :

A new List has been prepared of proceedings of Commissioners for Charitable Uses, appointed from time to time in pursuance of the Act 43 Eliz. cap. 4.

SURVEYS AND DEPOSITIONS, DUCHY OF LANCASTER :

A List has been made of the Surveys of the Duchy of Lancaster, and considerable progress has been made with a similar List of Depositions taken in the Duchy Court from the reign of Elizabeth downwards.

COUNTY PLACITA :

A List has been made of Writs of certiorari and returns thereto of the Court of Chancery, hitherto known by the name of "County Placita," and a similar List has been prepared of the Pleadings on the Common Law Side of Chancery down to the reign of Elizabeth, which used to form part of the same collection.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention has been devoted during the past year, as during the previous ten years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described in old Calendars and Lists.

The re-arrangement of the Pleadings on the Common Law Side of Chancery has been completed down to the reign of Elizabeth.

Further attention has been given to the proper classification of the extensive series of Chancery Warrants.

The Signet Warrants to the Keeper of the Privy Seal have been arranged in chronological order.

Several rooms containing proceedings in Chancery have been put into order, so that the documents should become more accessible.

§ VII. OPERATIONS BY REPAIRERS AND ATTENDANTS.

	Rolls, Files, or Suits.	Bundles.	Membranes.	Leaves.	Volumes or Rolls.
Numbered	16,324	168	1,286	8,041	18,822

The classes to which most attention has been given have been Chancery and Exchequer Proceedings, Ancient Correspondence, Inquisitiones post mortem, Charles I., County Placita, Bills and Warrants for Privy Seals, Diplomatic Documents, Duchy of Lancaster Depositions, Admiralty and War Office Records, Colonial Office Letters and Papers, State Papers, Henry VIII. and Domestic, Treasury Board Papers, Decree Rolls, Scottish Documents, Petty Bag Depositions, Ancient Deeds (Series B., B.B., B.S., L. and L.L.), Royal Charters, Audit Office Records, &c., &c.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

A further sum of 30,000*l.* was voted by the House of Commons for the financial year 1897-98 towards the erection of a new block, which will connect the block facing Chancery Lane, completed in 1895, with the main portion of the office erected between 1850 and 1871. The total estimate for this block is 51,000*l.*, out of which 25,150*l.* was expended up to the 30th November, 1897.

Preparations were made for a further installation of electric light in the corridors and the rooms containing records.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of this Act have continued their duties.

The second Schedule of Home Office Documents in the Public Record Office, which has been mentioned in previous Reports as being in progress, was completed with the assistance of Mr. G. R. Moran, of the Home Office. Having been approved by the Master of the Rolls (Lord Esher) and the Secretary of State, it was laid before both Houses of Parliament on the 2nd of April, 1897, and lay before them for the required period of four weeks.

The Schedule of Documents in the Central Office of the Registry of Friendly Societies mentioned in my last Report as being in course of preparation, was completed in that Office, was submitted to the Inspecting Officers, and was approved by the Master of the Rolls (Sir Nathaniel Lindley) and the Registrar of Friendly Societies. The final proceedings in relation to this Schedule will be mentioned in my next Report.

The fifth Schedule of War Office Documents in the Public Record Office, which was mentioned in my last Report, is still in progress.

A Schedule of Documents which have been removed from the Office of the Paymaster-General to the Public Record Office was prepared, with the assistance of Mr. J. M. Dunn, of the Department of the Paymaster-General. It was approved by the Master of the Rolls (Lord Esher) and the Assistant Paymaster-General, acting for the Paymaster-General.

A Schedule of Documents existing or about to exist in the Office of the Paymaster-General was also prepared, and, after having been considered by the Inspecting Officers, was approved in like manner.

A third Schedule of Documents existing or in ordinary course about to exist in the General Post Office was prepared by Mr. G. W. Smyth, Assistant Secretary of that Department, submitted to the Inspecting Officers, and approved by the Master of the Rolls (Sir Nathaniel Lindley) and the Postmaster-General.

A Schedule of Documents existing or in ordinary course about to exist in the Office of the Board of Agriculture was prepared by Colonel G. H. Bolland and Mr. J. Graham, of that Department, and submitted to the Inspecting Officers. It was also approved by the Master of the Rolls (Sir Nathaniel Lindley) and by the President of the Board of Agriculture.

The final proceedings in relation to the four last-named Schedules will be mentioned in my next Report.

Some attention has been given to Documents belonging to the Exchequer and Audit Department, which are in the Public Record Office, with a view to the preparation of a Schedule.

Many questions continue to arise in relation to records in various offices, but, as no action has yet been taken with regard to them, it is unnecessary to give further particulars at present.

§ X. CALENDARS PUBLISHED.

CALENDAR OF THE PATENT ROLLS, preserved in the Public Record Office, prepared under the superintendence of the Deputy Keeper of the Records.

One volume of this new series was published in 1897:—

Edward IV. 1461-1467.—This volume was prepared by Mr. R. C. Fowler, B.A. with the assistance of Mr. R. F. Isaacson, both of the Public Record Office.

CALENDAR OF ENTRIES IN THE PAPAL REGISTERS, RELATING TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. Papal Letters, Vol. III. 1342-1362. Edited by W. H. Bliss, B.C.L. and C. Johnson, M.A. of the Public Record Office.

This volume deals with the Papal letters of the pontificates of Clement VI. and Innocent VI. As compared with the previous volumes, it shows a great increase in the number of entries in the registers concerning the political and ecclesiastical affairs of the British Islands. This is due partly to a more perfect system of registration, partly to the large demand for plenary remissions at the hour of death, in consequence of the pestilences of the time, and partly to the foundation of numerous chantries, for which special licences were required.

CALENDAR OF ENTRIES IN THE PAPAL REGISTERS, RELATING TO GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. Petitions to the Pope. Vol. I. 1342-1419. Edited by W. H. Bliss, B.C.L.

The principal interest of the Registers of Petitions to the Pope lies in the fact that the documents transcribed in them often contain details which are not recited in the Letters issued in answer to them. The latter part of this volume relates exclusively to Scotland, because that country, unlike England, adhered to the Avignon popes after the schism of 1378, and the registers of petitions belong to the Avignon series.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII. preserved in the Public Record Office, the British Museum, and elsewhere in England. Arranged and catalogued by James Gairdner and R. H. Brodie, of the Public Record Office. Vol. XV.

This volume deals with papers belonging to the first eight months of the year 1540. Among the subjects most fully illustrated are—the King's marriage to Anne of Cleves and his divorce from her, Cromwell's consequent fall and execution, the arrest of Robert Brancetour in Paris, the Emperor's progress through France, Ralph Sadleir's mission to Scotland, the negotiations of Henry VIII. with the German Protestants, and the suppression of the English branch of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES I. preserved in the Public Record Office. Addenda. March 1625 to January 1649. Edited by the late William Douglas Hamilton and Sophie C. Lomas.

This volume brings to a close the long series of Calendars of State Papers, Domestic, of the reign of Charles I., of which the first volume was issued in 1858. It deals with documents which were overlooked at the time of the original arrangement, and with the Conway papers for the earlier part of the reign, which were acquired after the death of the Right Hon. J. W. Croker, in 1857.

The contents of such a volume are necessarily very miscellaneous, and they lack the historic continuity of those calendared in previous volumes, but many of them are important, and others are complementary to those in the main collection.

CALENDAR OF STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II. preserved in the Public Record Office. Vol. XII. December 1671 to May 1672. Edited by F. H. Blackburne Daniell, M.A. late Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge.

The principal events of the period included in this volume were the beginning of the war with the United Provinces, the Indulgence to the Nonconformists, and the closure of the Exchequer. The Calendar deals with part of the extensive correspondence of Sir Joseph Williamson, Clerk of the Council, with many documents relating to applications for licences to preach in unconsecrated buildings, with numerous papers of the Navy Board, and other documents of a very varied character.

§ XI. LISTS AND INDEXES PUBLISHED.

One volume of this series was published in 1897:—

NO. VIII. LIST OF ORIGINAL MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS, preserved in the Public Record Office. Appendix, Corrigenda, and Index to Part I.

The volume to which this is complementary was published in 1894, as No. V. of the series of Lists and Indexes, and an account of it was given in the Fifty-sixth Report of the Deputy Keeper of the Records. The Appendix in No. VIII. enumerates certain Monastic Accounts and Documents subsidiary to Ministers' Accounts, which were not included in the main List, and the Index completes the work down to the end of the reign of Richard III.

§ XII. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following volumes were issued in 1897:—

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. YEAR XVI.
PART I. Edited and translated by Luke Owen Pike, M.A.
Barrister-at-Law, an Assistant Record Keeper.

Attention has been drawn in previous Reports to the value of the Year-Books for the elucidation of legal and general history. Perhaps the most important of the cases in the present volume is the scire facias to repeal a charter by which Edward III. had granted certain franchises to the burgesses of Wells, co. Somerset. This case is examined in detail by the Editor in his introduction, and it is incidentally a contribution to the history of boroughs in general.

THE RED BOOK OF THE EXCHEQUER, PARTS I. II. AND III.
Edited by Hubert Hall, F.S.A. of the Public Record Office.

The Red Book of the Exchequer belongs to the class of records termed Precedent Books, or Books of Remembrance, having been written for the use of the officers of the Exchequer. A description of the MS. by the Rev. Joseph Hunter was published in 1837, in the Report of the Commissioners on the Public Records. A great part of it consists of transcripts and extracts relating to feudal tenures made in the early part of the thirteenth century, but some of the entries are considerably later.

The present edition contains a description of each of the 292 entries in the volume, with references to parallel MSS., and it gives at full length most of those which have not been already printed, and some which have been incorrectly printed by Hearne and other editors.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1897 was 1,053, making a total of 56,405.

At the end of the year there were two works belonging to this series in the press:—

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

RANULF DE GLANVILLE; Tractatus de Legibus et Consuetudinibus Anglie. (Publication sanctioned in 1885.)

§ XIII. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series. Vol. XIV. A.D. 1586-1587. Vol. XV., A.D. 1588. Edited by John Roche Dasent, C.B. Barrister-at-Law.

There is an unfortunate gap between Vols. XIII. and XIV., owing to the loss of the Council Register between June 1582 and February 1586.

§ XIV. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME:

Mr. W. H. Bliss has continued his researches in the archives of the Vatican, where he has had the assistance of Mr. J. A. Twenlow, B.A.

The Calendar of Petitions to the Pope between the years 1342 and 1419 was issued in January 1897. (See § X.)

The third volume of the Calendar of Papal Letters was issued in July 1897. (See § X.)

Ten sheets of the fourth volume of that work were completed at press in 1897.

Materials have been collected for a Calendar of Documents at Rome, illustrative of the history of Great Britain and Ireland from the accession of Queen Elizabeth.

VENICE:

Mr. Horatio F. Brown has continued his researches in the Venetian archives. By the end of 1897 he had completed at press the text of a volume which brings the Calendar down to the death of Queen Elizabeth.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, AND VIENNA :

The printing of the Calendar for the reign of Henry VIII. was interrupted by the death of the editor, Don Pascual de Gayangos, in October, 1897. The task of completing it has since been entrusted to Major Martin A. S. Hume.

The Calendar for the reign of Elizabeth has made good progress, twenty-seven sheets having been completed at press in 1897.

FRANCE :

By the end of 1897, Mr. J. H. Round had passed for press twenty-seven sheets of a Calendar of Early Documents in France relating to England, founded upon the series of transcripts made for the old Record Commission.

§ XV. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission has been conducted as before, at the Public Record Office, the Deputy-Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office have been employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts, temporarily removed from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commission.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 31st day of May 1898.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) NATHL. LINDLEY, M.R.

From the Marquess of Ailesbury :—

- Four ancient Rolls of Chancery, viz.—
- Charter Roll, 18 Edward II.
- Scotch Roll, 2 Edward III.
- Parliament Roll, 8 Edward III.
- Patent Roll, 19 Henry VI., Part 2.

The Charter Roll of the 18th year of Edward II. was in its proper place in September, 1881, but it is noted as missing in the "Calendarium Rotulorum Chartarum," published by the Record Commission, in 1808, from a manuscript "apparently written in the time of James the First."

The Scotch Roll of the 2nd year of Edward III. was also in its proper place in September 1881, but it was apparently missing in 1774, when Sir Joseph Ayloffe published his Calendar, and it was not printed in the "Rotuli Scotie" issued by the Record Commission in 1814.

A somewhat curtailed translation of the Parliament Roll of the 8th year of Edward III. was printed in the "Rotuli Parliamentorum," in 1767 (vol. ii. p. 376), with the following note:—"The Roll of this Parliament hath been mislaid or lost many years. For it is not mentioned even by Rob. Powell in his Repertory of Records published in 1631. This extract of it was taken by Robert Bowyer in the reign of Qu. Elizabeth or K. James I., and printed in the Abridgment of the Records published by W. Prynn, p. 15, 16."

Some of the contents of the second part of the Patent Roll of the 19th year of Henry VI. are noted in the "Calendarium Rotulorum Patentium," published by the Record Commission in 1802, from four old manuscripts, of which one was believed "to have been compiled in the reign of James the First from the records themselves." This actual roll was, however, missing in 1802. Of the two rolls for that year which were transferred from the Tower of London to the Public Record Office, the second has an endorsement in a hand apparently of the sixteenth century—"Pat. 19 H. 6 pars tercia," but the word "tercia" has been cancelled, and "secunda" substituted for it in a hand apparently of the seventeenth century.

Having regard to the period at which these four rolls seem to have become separated from the series to which they properly belonged, it may be surmised that they were, for some unknown reason, removed from the Tower of London to the residence of Edward, Lord Bruce of Kinloss, who was Master, or Keeper, of the Rolls of Chancery from 1603 to 1611, and that, after his death, they passed into the hands of his executors. This theory will to some extent account for the recent discovery of them at Savernake by a happy accident, as Lord Bruce of Kinloss was the direct ancestor of the Marquess of Ailesbury, by whom they have now been restored.

§ IV. CALENDARS.

PATENT ROLLS :

Further progress has been made with the systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. as below :—

Edward I.—A volume dealing with the years 1301-1307 was published in 1898. The text and the index to it were alike prepared by Mr. J. G. Black.

The text of a volume dealing with the first nine years of the reign was also completed at press.

Edward II.—The second volume for the reign, dealing with the years 1313-1317, was published in 1898. The text and the index to it were alike prepared by Mr. G. F. Handcock.

Edward III.—The fourth volume for the reign, dealing with the years 1338-1340, was published in 1898. The text and the index to it were alike prepared by Mr. R. F. Isaacson.

Twenty-two sheets of the fifth volume were also completed at press.

Richard II.—The second volume for the reign, dealing with the years 1381-1385, was published in 1898. The text and the index to it were alike prepared by Mr. G. J. Morris.

Henry VI.—Three sheets of the first volume for the reign were completed at press in 1898.

Edward IV.—The second volume for the reign was completed at press up to the thirtieth sheet, in 1898.

CLOSE ROLLS :

Further progress was made with the similar Calendar of the Close Rolls, as below :—

Edward I.—The first volume for the reign was completed at press up to the eighteenth sheet, in 1898.

Edward II.—The fourth volume for the reign, dealing with the years 1323-1327, was published in 1898. The text was prepared by Mr. W. H. Stevenson, and the index to it by Mr. C. H. Woodruff.

Edward III.—The second volume for the reign, dealing with the years 1330-1333, was published in 1898. The text was prepared by Mr. W. H. Stevenson, and the index to it by Mr. C. H. Woodruff.

The third volume was also almost completed.

Nine sheets of the fourth volume were passed for press.

CHARTER ROLLS :

Further progress was made with the Calendar of these documents.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

The first volume of the Calendar of Inquisitiones post mortem and other analogous documents of the reign of Henry VII. was published in 1898. The text and the index to it were alike prepared by Mr. A. Story Maskelyne.

ANCIENT DEEDS :

The index to the third volume of the descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds was in the press at the end of 1898.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

The Calendar of Mediæval Letters was temporarily suspended, with a view to the completion of a List of them. (See § V.)

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII. :

The sixteenth volume of this work was published in 1898. It deals with the period between 1 September 1540 and 30 December 1541. The text was prepared by Mr. James Gairdner and Mr. R. H. Brodie, and the index to it by the latter.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II. :

The thirteenth volume of this work was practically completed in 1898. Fifteen sheets of the succeeding volume were also passed for press in the course of the year.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF WILLIAM III. :

The second volume of this work was published in 1898. It deals with the period between May 1690 and October 1691. Considerable progress was made with the printing of the succeeding volume.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

The text and the preface of a volume dealing with the years 1599 and 1600 were completed at press in 1898. Some material was also prepared for the succeeding volume.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, A.D. 1625-1670 :

By the end of 1898, Mr. R. P. Mahaffy passed for press forty sheets of a volume which will embrace the period from 1625 to 1632, and twelve sheets of the succeeding volume, which will probably bring the work down to the end of the reign of Charles I.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES :

A volume dealing with papers relating to America and the West Indies, between the years 1681 and 1685, was published in 1898, under the editorship of the Hon. J. W. Fortescue.

Thirty-two sheets of the succeeding volume, which will deal with the period from 1685 to 1689, were also completed at press.

STATE PAPERS, FOREIGN SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

A considerable amount of a volume beginning at 1 July 1577 was set up in type in the course of 1898.

TREASURY BOOKS AND PAPERS :

A volume dealing with the years 1729 and 1730 was published in 1898, under the editorship of Mr. W. A. Shaw.

The succeeding volume dealing with the period from 1731 to 1734 was completed at press.

Twenty-three sheets of another volume, dealing with the period from 1735 to 1738 were also passed for press.

PLACITA DE BANCO :

A Calendar of all the cases that reached final judgement or issue in the Court of Common Pleas in the reign of Edward III. was begun.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress was made with the alphabetical arrangement of the tabular Index of Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery, before the reign of Elizabeth, was revised and continued, with a view to the printing of a first instalment of it during the present year.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The progress of this List has been delayed by the pressure of other work.

SUBSIDY ACCOUNTS :

Further progress was made with the List of these documents, mentioned in previous Reports.

SHERIFFS :

A List of Sheriffs for England and Wales from the earliest times to A.D. 1831, compiled from documents in the Public Record Office, was published in 1898.—Lists and Indexes, No. 9.—It deals successively with the English counties, the English towns, the Welsh counties, and the Welsh towns that had sheriffs. The authorities used in the compilation of it were Domesday Book, the Red Book of the Exchequer, the Great Rolls of the Pipe, the Memoranda Rolls of the Exchequer, the Patent and the Fine Rolls of the Chancery, the Sheriffs' Rolls, and certain Miscellaneous Rolls of the Petty Bag Office, the Journals of the Houses of Parliament, the London Gazette, the Register of Inquisitiones post mortem of the Palatinate of Durham, and the Welsh Rolls.

No such exhaustive List has been compiled before. In order to prevent confusion, dates are given according to the Christian era rather than according to the year as reckoned at the Exchequer, or the regnal years of successive kings. To avoid repetition, no entries have been made for those years in which there was not a change of sheriff or under-sheriff. The List was compiled by Mr. A. Hughes, of the Public Record Office, and he also prepared the prefatory account of the materials upon which it was based.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

Eleven sheets of a brief List of the contents of this collection were passed for press in 1898.

ENROLLED ACCOUNTS :

Considerable progress was made with the printing of the List of Accounts enrolled on the Pipe Rolls, the Chancellor's Rolls, and the Foreign Rolls of the Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer's Department of the Exchequer.

CHARITIES :

The List of Proceedings of Commissioners for Charitable Uses was completed in 1898.

DEPOSITIONS, DUCHY OF LANCASTER :

The List of Depositions taken in the Duchy Court from the reign of Elizabeth downwards, was completed in manuscript, and placed in the Literary Search Room.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE COURT OF AUGMENTATIONS :

A tabular list of all these documents was compiled in manuscript, and supplemented by an Index of places.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A great deal of time and attention was devoted during the past year, as during the previous eleven years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described in old Calendars and Lists. The number of records falling under the former category has been very materially reduced, and the operations of 1898 were mainly directed to the preparation of comprehensive Lists.

Further attention was given to the proper classification of the extensive series of Chancery Warrants. The Ecclesiastical Petitions of the Chancery have been arranged chronologically. Various Inquisitions have been examined with a view to the preparation of a complete List.

The manuscript List of Audit Office Records has been improved. A new and more complete inventory has been made of the Records of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Measures have been taken with a view to the arrangement of the State Papers, Foreign, on a uniform system.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

A further sum of 19,000*l.* was voted by the House of Commons for the financial year 1897-98 towards the erection of a new block to connect the block facing Chancery Lane with the main portion of the Office erected between 1850 and 1871. The total estimate for this block is 51,000*l.* out of which 36,000*l.* was expended up to the 30th of November 1898.

A Bill to amend the Public Record Office Act, 1877, introduced in the House of Lords on the 17th of February 1898, and passed by the House of Commons on the 23rd of June, received your Majesty's Assent on the 1st of July. It is now Stat. 61 & 62 Vict., c. 12.

The effect of it is to render possible the disposal of documents belonging to the period between 1660 and 1714 which are not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office, and to substitute "nine weeks" for "sixty days" as the period for which rules made under the Act must lie before both Houses of Parliament before being submitted for your Majesty's approbation in Council.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of the Public Record Office Act, 1877, continued their duties in 1898.

The following schedules of documents not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office were presented to both Houses of Parliament during the session of 1898, and lay before them for the prescribed period of four weeks :—

(1) Schedule of documents in the Office of the Board of Agriculture.

(2) Schedule of documents in the Office of the Paymaster General.

(3) Schedule of documents in the Public Record Office, removed from the Office of the Paymaster General.

(4) Third schedule of documents in the Office of the Postmaster General.

(5). Third schedule of documents in the Home Office.

(6). Second schedule of documents in the Audit Office.

(7). Schedule of documents in the Public Record Office, removed from the Audit Office.

(8). Fourth schedule of documents in the Home Office.

(9). Fifth schedule of documents in the War Office.

Various classes of documents in the Public Record Office, removed from the War Office and from the Medical Department of the Admiralty were also examined by the Inspecting Officers.

§ X. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1898 was 900, making a total of 57,305.

At the end of the year, there were two volumes belonging to this series in the press :—

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. YEAR 16.
PART II. Edited by L. O. Pike, an Assistant Record Keeper,
Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

RANULF DE GLANVILL: Tractatus de Legibus et consuetudinibus Angliæ. Edited by the late Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C.,
D.C.L., and I. S. Leadam, Barrister-at-Law.

§ XI. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

The following volume was issued in 1898 :—

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series.
Edited by John Roche Dasent, C.B., Barrister-at-Law.
Vol. XVI., January to July, 1889.

§ XII. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss and Mr. J. A. Twemlow continued their researches in the archives of the Vatican. By the end of 1898, seventeen sheets of the fourth volume of Calendar of Papal Letters had been passed for press.

A considerable number of transcripts of documents at Rome, illustrative of the history of Great Britain and Ireland in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, were received at the Public Record Office.

VENICE :

Mr. Horatio F. Brown continued his researches in the Venetian archives. A volume of his Calendar was published in 1898, dealing with the period between the beginning of the year 1592 and the death of Elizabeth in April, 1603. Twelve sheets of the succeeding volume were also passed for press.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, AND VIENNA :

Major Martin A. S. Hume completed at press the volume of the Calendar for the year 1544, left unfinished by Don Pascual de Gayangos.

He also completed at press the text and index of the fourth and last volume for the reign of Elizabeth, dealing with the period from 1587 to 1603.

§ XIII. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission was conducted, as before, at the Public Record Office, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office were employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts, temporarily removed from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commission.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 17th day of June 1899.

H. C. MAXWELL LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

§ IV. CALENDARS.

PATENT ROLLS :

Further progress has been made with the systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. as below :—

Edward I.—The index to the volume dealing with the years 1272 to 1281 was completed at press in 1899.

Edward II.—Ten sheets of the third volume for the reign were completed at press in 1899.

Edward III.—The text of the fifth volume for the reign and part of the index thereto were completed at press in 1899.

Richard II.—The text of the third volume for the reign and part of the index thereto were completed at press in 1899.

Henry VI.—The first volume for the reign was completed at press up to the sixteenth sheet in 1899.

Edward IV.—The second volume for the reign was completed at press in 1899.

Two sheets of the third and concluding volume were also passed for press.

CLOSE ROLLS :

Further progress was also made with the similar Calendar of the Close Rolls, as below :—

Edward I.—The text of the first volume for the reign was completed at press in 1899.

Edward III.—The third volume for the reign, dealing with the years 1333-1337, was published in 1899. The text and the index were alike prepared by Mr. A. B. Hinds.

The text of the fourth volume was also completed at press.

CHARTER ROLLS :

Further progress was made with the Calendar of these documents.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Some progress was made with a Calendar of Inquisitiones post mortem and other analogous documents of the reign of Henry III. and also with a similar Calendar for the reign of Edward III.

ANCIENT DEEDS :

By the end of 1899, the third volume of this series had been almost completed at press.

Some progress had also been made with the printing of the fourth volume.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII. :

By the end of 1899, the text and the preface of the seventeenth volume of this work had been completed at press. The index was in the printers' hands.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II. :

The thirteenth volume of this work was published in 1899, under the editorship of Mr. F. H. Blackburne Daniell. It deals with the period between May and September 1672.

By the end of the year, the text of the fourteenth volume had been completed at press.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF WILLIAM III. :

By the end of 1899, the text of the third volume of this work had been completed at press.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

A volume dealing with the period from April 1599 to February 1600 was completed at press in 1899.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, A.D. 1625-1670 :

The first volume of this series, dealing with the period from 1625 to 1632 was practically completed at press by the end of 1899.

The greater part of the text of the second volume was also passed for press in the course of the year.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES :

A volume dealing with papers relating to America and the West Indies between the years 1685 and 1688 was completed at press in 1899, under the editorship of the Hon. J. W. Fortescue.

The Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury have sanctioned the continuation of the work.

STATE PAPERS, FOREIGN SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

By the end of 1899, thirty-three sheets of a volume beginning at 1 July 1577 had been passed for press by Mr. A. J. Butler.

TREASURY BOOKS AND PAPERS :

A volume dealing with the period from 1731 to 1734 was published in 1899, under the editorship of Mr. W. A. Shaw.

By the end of the year, the text of the succeeding volume had been completed at press, and some progress had been made with the printing of the index.

PLACITA DE BANCO :

Some further progress was made with a Calendar of all the cases that reached final judgment or issue in the Court of Common Pleas in the reign of Edward III.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress was made with the alphabetical arrangement of the tabular Index of Inquisitiones post mortem of the Courts of Chancery, Exchequer, and Wards and Liveries, between the reigns of Henry VII. and Charles I. inclusive.

EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

Seventeen sheets of a tabulated List of Bills and Answers filed on the Equity side of the High Court of Chancery, before the reign of Elizabeth, were passed for press in 1899.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

The progress of this List has been delayed by the pressure of other work.

SUBSIDY ACCOUNTS :

A tabulated List of Subsidy Accounts has been compiled from the Descriptive Slips which have hitherto served as an Index. This List includes a number of additional Accounts recently brought to light.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

By the end of 1899, twenty-six sheets of a brief List of the contents of this collection had been passed for press.

ENROLLED ACCOUNTS :

By the end of 1899, thirty-one sheets of the List of Accounts enrolled on the Pipe Rolls, the Chancellor's Rolls, and the Foreign Rolls of the Lord Treasurer's Remembrancer's Department of the Exchequer, had been passed for press.

CHARITIES :

A "List of Proceedings of Commissioners for Charitable Uses, appointed pursuant to the Statutes 39 Elizabeth, cap. 6, and 43 Elizabeth, cap. 4, preserved in the Public Record Office," was published in 1899. It forms the tenth volume of the series of Lists and Indexes.

STAR CHAMBER PROCEEDINGS :

A tabulated List of Bills and Answers in the Court of Star Chamber has been begun.

By the end of 1899, eight sheets of it had been passed for press.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A good deal of time and attention was devoted during the past year, as during the previous twelve years, to the classification of documents hitherto unsorted, and the identification of documents insufficiently described in old Calendars and Lists. The number of records falling under the former category has consequently been very materially reduced.

The contents of thirty-five portfolios of Proceedings in the Court of Requests, during the reign of Elizabeth, were arranged alphabetically under the names of the plaintiffs.

A similar course was followed with regard to five hundred and sixteen bundles of Bills and Answers in Chancery extending from the reign of Henry VII. to that of Philip and Mary.

Considerable progress was made with the re-arrangement of the State Papers, Foreign, on a uniform system.

Attention was also given to the records of various branches of the Admiralty, the old lists of which were not satisfactory.

The classes to which most attention has been given have been Chancery Proceedings and Depositions; Petty Bag, Charity Inquisitions; Inquisitions post mortem and Miscellaneous; Queen's Bench Deeds; Exchequer Bills and Answers, Special Commissions, Extents and Inquisitions, Foreign Accounts, and Particulars for Grants; Duchy of Lancaster Special Commissions, Pleadings, Proceedings, Surveys and Miscellaneous; Admiralty Records; Colonial Letters and Papers; Foreign Letters and Papers; Court of Request Proceedings; Star Chamber Proceedings; State Papers, Henry VIII., Charles I., Charles II., William and Mary and Ireland; Treasury Board and Solicitor's Papers; and War Office documents.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

A final sum of 3,000*l.* was voted by the House of Commons for the financial year 1899-1900 towards the erection of a new block to connect the block facing Chancery Lane with the main portion of the Office erected between 1850 and 1871. The total estimate for this block was 51,000*l.*

Most of the new building was taken into occupation in the Spring of 1899, nine out of twenty-five rooms being fitted with presses for records, and thirteen being prepared for the use of Assistant Keepers, Clerks, Editors of Calendars, Transcribers, Boy Clerks, and Repairers. A large room occupying the site of the Rolls Chapel had not been quite finished by the end of the year.

The inconvenient and ugly building erected as 'Judges' Chambers' in 1838, and occupied since 1881 by this Department, was pulled down in the course of the autumn, and the whole establishment is at last located under one roof.

VICT. c. 12.

The Inspecting Officers appointed for the purposes of the first section of the Public Record Office Acts, 1877, continued their duties in 1899.

The following schedules of documents not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office were presented to both Houses of Parliament during the session of 1899, and lay before them for the prescribed period of four weeks :—

(1) Fifth schedule of documents in the Public Record Office, removed from the Admiralty.

(2) Schedule of documents in the Public Record Office, removed from the Treasury.

(8) Fifth schedule of documents in the Public Record Office, removed from the War Office.

(4) Sixth schedule of documents in the War Office.

Considerable progress was made with the preparation of a sixth schedule of documents in the Public Record Office, removed from the Admiralty.

The following Rule, having lain before both Houses of Parliament for more than nine weeks, was approved by Your Majesty in Council on the 19th of May, 1899 :—

RULE for the DISPOSAL of DOCUMENTS which are not considered of sufficient PUBLIC VALUE to justify their PRESERVATION in the PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE.

I, the Right Honourable Sir NATHANIEL LINDLEY, Master of the Rolls, in exercise of the power conferred upon me by the first section of the Public Record Office Act, 1877, and the first section of the Public Record Office Act, 1898, do, with the Approval of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, and the further approval of the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain, and of the Heads of the Departments of the Government hereinafter mentioned, hereby make the Rule following :—

The existing Rules made in pursuance of the first section of the Public Record Office Act, 1877, of which Her Majesty declared Her approbation by Order in Council dated the thirtieth day of June 1890, for the disposal, by destruction or otherwise, of documents of not older date than 1715, shall, until revoked or varied, apply to documents of not older date than 1660.

Date : 9 December 1898.

The Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury approve of this Rule.

(Signed) W. H. FISHER.

(Signed) H. T. ANSTRUTHER.

Further approved by the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain.

(Signed) HALSBURY, C.

FURTHER APPROVED by the HEADS of the following DEPARTMENTS of the Government :—

§ X. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The number of volumes of the Chronicles and Memorials sold for Your Majesty's Stationery Office during the year 1899 was 442, making a total of 57,747.

At the end of the year, there were two volumes belonging to this series in the press:—

YEAR BOOKS OF THE REIGN OF EDWARD III. YEAR 16.
PART II. Edited by L. O. Pike, an Assistant Record Keeper,
Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1879.)

RANULF DE GLANVILL: Tractatus de Legibus et Consuetudinibus Angliæ. Edited by the late Sir Travers Twiss, Q.C., D.C.L., and I. S. Leadam, Barrister-at-Law. (Publication sanctioned in 1884.)

§ XI. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

The following volumes were issued in 1899:—

INQUISITIONS AND ASSESSMENTS RELATING TO FEUDAL AIDS, WITH OTHER ANALOGOUS DOCUMENTS PRESERVED IN THE PUBLIC RECORD OFFICE, A.D. 1284-1431. Vol. I.

This volume is the first instalment of a work designed to illustrate the succession of holders of land in the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth centuries. It is based upon returns made at the following dates:—

1284-1285, "Kirkby's Quest."
1302-1303, Aid for marrying the King's daughter.
1316, "Nomina Villarum."
1346, Aid for knighting the King's eldest son.
1401-1402, Aid for marrying the King's daughter.
1428, Subsidy of 6 Henry VI.
1431, Subsidy of 9 Henry VII.

The first volume gives the returns, in Latin, for the counties of Bedford, Berks, Buckingham, Cambridge, Cornwall, Cumberland, Derby, and Devon.

Nineteen sheets of the second volume had been passed for press by the end of 1899.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series.
Edited by John Roche Dasent, C.B., Barrister-at-Law.
Vol. XVIII. August 1589 to March 1590.
Vol. XIX. March to September 1590.

§ XII. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss and Mr. J. A. Twemlow continued their researches in the archives of the Vatican. By the end of 1899, thirty-four sheets, constituting the text of the fourth volume, of the Calendar of Papal Letters, had been passed for press. The index was also in the printer's hands.

A considerable number of transcripts of documents at Rome, illustrative of the history of Great Britain and Ireland in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries, was received at the Public Record Office.

Mr. Horatio F. Brown continued his researches in the Venetian archives. By the end of 1899, he had completed at press thirty-one sheets of a volume dealing with the period from the accession of James I. to the end of the year 1607.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, AND VIENNA :

The volume of the Calendar dealing with the year 1544 begun by the late Don Pascual de Gayangos, and completed by Major Martin A. S. Hume, was published in April, 1899.

Another volume, dealing with the period from 1587 to 1603, prepared by Major Hume, was published in December, 1899. It contains much information about the Spanish Armada.

FRANCE :

The following was published in 1899 :—

CALENDAR OF DOCUMENTS PRESERVED IN FRANCE ILLUSTRATIVE OF THE HISTORY OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND. Vol. I. A.D. 918-1206. Edited by J. Horace Round, M.A.

This work is mainly founded upon two series of transcripts made in Normandy, more than sixty years ago, by order of the Commissioners on the Public Records.

§ XIII. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission was conducted, as before, at the Public Record Office, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office were employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts, temporarily removed from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commission.

THE SIXTY-SECOND REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS.

TO THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg to submit to your Majesty a Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1900, pursuant to the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94. § 17.

I have in the first place to mention the retirement of Mr. Luke Owen Pike, M.A., an Assistant Record Keeper, at the beginning of the year, and the consequent changes in the staff of the Department.

Mr Pike was appointed to a Junior Clerkship in the Public Record Office in November, 1862, and was promoted to a Senior Clerkship in July, 1875. In 1880, he was, as a Barrister-at-Law, nominated one of the Inspecting Officers under the Rules made by the Master of the Rolls and approved by Her late Majesty in Council for the execution of the first section of the Public Record Office Act, 1877 (40 & 41 Vict. c. 55), and he continued to act in that capacity until the end of 1899. He was appointed an Assistant Record Keeper in 1891. During the later part of his official career, Mr. Pike was mainly occupied in the examination and comparison of documents of questionable value and in the consequent preparation of Schedules of such as did not appear worthy of permanent preservation. He began, however, a Calendar of Placita de Banco of the reign of Edward III.

Independently of work done during official hours, Mr. Pike has edited, with very marked ability, seven volumes of "Year Books" of the reign of Edward III. for the series of "Chronicles and Memorials of the Middle Ages," and his retirement, although due to age and ill-health, will not in any way affect his position as editor of future volumes.

The vacancy among the Assistant Record Keepers, caused by the retirement of Mr. Pike, was filled by the promotion of Mr. G. F. Handcock. Mr. J. W. Chapman, formerly of the Custom House, was thereupon transferred to the permanent staff of this Department, to make up the normal complement of Clerks.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

The important works which had been in hand since 1892 having been almost finished in 1899, there is now little to be said on this subject. Several improvements of a minor character have however been effected, as by the removal of the galleries in the Legal Search Room, by the plastering of one of the corridors of the older part of the Repository and by laying out the grounds adjoining the building.

VICT. c. 12.

On the retirement of Mr. L. Owen Pike, Mr. S. R. Scargill-Bird, an Assistant Record Keeper, and Mr. R. A. Roberts, Barrister-at-Law, were appointed, on the recommendation of the Master of the Rolls, to be Inspecting Officers for the purposes of the Public Record Office Acts 1877 and 1898, in accordance with Rule 2 of the Rules approved by her late Majesty in Council on 30 June 1890.

The following schedules of documents not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office were prepared and submitted to both Houses of Parliament during the session of 1900, and lay before them for the prescribed period of four weeks, namely :—

(1) Sixth schedule of documents removed from the Office of the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral.

(2) Schedule of documents existing, or about to exist, in the office of the Clerk of Assize of the Home Division of the South Eastern Circuit.

(3) Schedule of documents in the Public Record Office connected with actions arising out of seizures of goods, etc., and for the recovery of penalties under Acts relating to the Customs and Excise, and other process in matters relating to the Revenue, which formerly were or ought to have been in the Office of the King's or Queen's Remembrancer of the Exchequer.

§ X. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following volume belonging to this series was issued in 1900 :—

Edited by John Roche Dasent, C.B., Barrister-at-Law.

Vol. XX. October 1590 to March 1591.

Vol. XXI. March to September 1591.

§ XII. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss and Mr. J. A. Twemlow continued their researches in the archives of the Vatican. The publication of the fourth volume of the Calendar of Papal Letters relating to Great Britain and Ireland was delayed by some difficulties connected with the Index. Progress was, however, made with the fifth volume, twenty sheets of which were passed for press in 1900.

Various transcripts from documents of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries were received at the Public Record Office.

VENICE :

Mr. Horatio F. Brown continued his researches in the Venetian archives. A volume of his Calendar of manuscripts in Northern Italy relating to English affairs was published in 1900. It deals with the period from the death of Queen Elizabeth in 1603 to the end of May 1607, and is largely founded upon the despatches of the Venetian Ambassadors in England.

Seven sheets of the succeeding volume were also passed for press in 1900.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS, AND VIENNA :

The material for a volume commencing with the month of January 1545 was prepared in 1900.

§ XIII. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission was conducted, as before, at the Public Record Office, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office were employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts, temporarily removed from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commission.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 16th day of May, 1901.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

§ XII. RESEARCHES IN FOREIGN ARCHIVES.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss and Mr. J. A. Twemlow continued their researches in the archives of the Vatican, and made progress with their Calendar of Papal Letters relating to Great Britain and Ireland.

The fourth volume was completed at press in 1901, with the exception of the Index of Subjects.

The text of the fifth volume was completed at press, and some material was prepared for the sixth volume.

Various transcripts from documents of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries were received at the Public Record Office.

VENICE :

Mr. Horatio F. Brown continued his researches in the Venetian archives. Twelve sheets, making nineteen in all, of a volume of his Calendar, beginning with the month of June 1607, were passed for press in 1901.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS AND VIENNA.

Major M. S. Hume continued his researches, and passed for press seventeen sheets of a volume of his Calendar, beginning with the month of January 1545.

§ XIII. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission was conducted, as before, at the Public Record Office, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office were employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts, temporarily removed from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and others have, also out of office hours, compiled indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commission.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 28th day of May, 1902.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) R. HENN COLLINS, M.R.

THE SIXTY-FOURTH REPORT

OF THE DEPUTY KEEPER OF THE PUBLIC RECORDS.

TO THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR MAJESTY,

I RESPECTFULLY beg to submit to Your Majesty a Report of the proceedings in the Public Record Office during the year 1902.

The department has during that time lost the services of Mr. J. M. Thompson, an officer who was much respected by all his colleagues. Mr. Thompson was appointed a Junior Clerk in June, 1868, promoted to the Second Class as a Senior Clerk in January, 1882, and again promoted to be an Assistant Record Keeper in January, 1892. A great part of his official career was spent in the Literary Search Room: latterly he was engaged upon the Catalogue of Ancient Deeds and the Calendar of Inquisitions. He died, after a few hours' illness, in December.

The chief event of the year was the opening to the public, during certain hours, of a Museum, built upon the site of the Rolls Chapel, retaining its old monuments and stained glass and containing an interesting collection of selected historical documents, illuminations, autographs, and other objects.

§ IV. CALENDARS.

PATENT ROLLS :

Further progress has been made with the systematic Calendar of the Patent Rolls from the reign of Edward I. to that of Henry VII. as indicated below :—

Edward I.—The Calendar for this reign is complete in four volumes.

Edward II.—The Index to the third volume for this reign was in the press at the end of 1902.

Twelve sheets, making in all twenty sheets, of the fourth volume were passed for press during the year.

Edward III.—The sixth volume for this reign, dealing with the years 1343 to 1345, was published in 1902.

Twenty-nine sheets of the seventh volume were passed for press during the year.

Richard II.—The fourth volume for this reign, dealing with the years 1388 to 1392, was published in 1902.

Five sheets of the fifth volume were passed for press during the year.

Henry IV.—Twenty sheets, making in all thirty-five sheets, of the first volume for this reign were passed for press during 1902.

Henry VI.—Three sheets of the second volume for this reign were passed for press during 1902. The progress of the work was, however, much retarded by the illness of the officer engaged upon it.

Edward IV. and V. and Richard III.—The Calendar for these reigns is complete in three volumes.

CLOSE ROLLS :

Further progress was also made with the similar Calendar of the Close Rolls, as indicated below :—

Edward I.—The second volume for this reign, dealing with the years 1279 to 1288, was published in 1902.

Twenty-three sheets of the third volume were passed for press during the year.

Edward II.—The Calendar for this reign is complete in four volumes.

Edward III.—The sixth volume for this reign, dealing with the years 1341 to 1343, was published in 1902.

Sixteen sheets of the seventh volume were passed for press during the year.

CHARTER ROLLS :

Henry III.—Sixteen sheets, making in all thirty sheets, of the first volume were passed for press in 1902.

INQUISITIONES POST MORTEM :

Further progress was made with a Calendar of Inquisitiones post mortem and other analogous documents of the reigns of Henry III., Edward I. and Edward III. Seven sheets of the Calendar for the reign of Henry III. were passed for press during 1902.

ANCIENT DEEDS :

The fourth volume of the Descriptive Catalogue of Ancient Deeds was published in 1902. It comprises abstracts of Nos. 6123 to 10426 of the A. Series.

LETTERS AND PAPERS, FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC, OF THE REIGN OF HENRY VIII. :

The second part of the eighteenth volume of this series was published in 1902, under the editorship of Mr. James Gairdner, C.B., and Mr. R. H. Brodie. It deals with the last five months of the year 1543, and comprises the Index.

Thirty-three sheets of the first part of the nineteenth volume were passed for press.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF CHARLES II. :

The fifteenth volume of this series was published in 1902, under the editorship of Mr. F. H. Blackburne Daniell, M.A. It deals with the period from March to October 1673, but it does not comprise abstracts of the papers of the Commissioners of the Navy after the 15th of June of that year.

Thirteen sheets of the sixteenth volume were passed for press.

STATE PAPERS, DOMESTIC SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF WILLIAM III. :

Twelve sheets, making in all twenty-nine sheets of the fourth volume were passed for press in 1902.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

The volume dealing with the period from March to October 1600, was almost completed at press by the end of 1902.

STATE PAPERS RELATING TO IRELAND, A.D. 1625-1670 :

Considerable progress was made in 1902 with the printing of the third volume of this series, as also with the printing of a volume relating to the Adventurers for Land in Ireland.

STATE PAPERS, COLONIAL SERIES :

Sixteen sheets, making in all forty-one sheets, of a volume dealing with America and the West Indies between the years 1693 and 1696 were passed for press in 1902.

STATE PAPERS, FOREIGN SERIES, OF THE REIGN OF ELIZABETH :

A volume dealing with the period from June 1578 to June 1579 was almost completed at press by the end of 1902.

TREASURY BOOKS AND PAPERS :

The text of a volume dealing with the years 1741 to 1745 was completed at press by the end of 1902.

Thirty-nine sheets of a Calendar of Treasury Books of the reign of Charles II. were also passed for press.

§ V. LISTS AND INDEXES.EARLY CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS :

Thirty sheets, making in all forty sheets of the second volume of this List, were passed for press during 1902.

CHANCERY PROCEEDINGS; SERIES II. :

The progress of this List has been delayed by the pressure of other work.

ANCIENT CORRESPONDENCE :

A List of Ancient Correspondence of the Chancery and Exchequer was published in 1902. (Lists and Indexes, No. XV.) Most of the documents enumerated in it were formerly kept on the files of Chancery, at the Tower of London. Of these, some were recently known as "Royal Letters," but the collection has been enlarged very greatly and re-arranged systematically. The mediæval letters formerly preserved in various offices of the Exchequer and included in this List are far less numerous.

The List is accompanied by an Index.

COURT OF REQUESTS :

A tabulated List of the contents of the first 136 bundles of proceedings in the Court of Requests was completed in manuscript. It extends from the reign of Henry VIII. to that of Elizabeth.

INQUISITIONES AD QUOD DAMNUM:

Further progress was made with a tabulated List of these documents, beginning in the reign of Henry III., and fifteen sheets of the first volume were passed for press in 1902.

RENTALS AND SURVEYS :

The tabulated List of these documents was practically completed in manuscript in 1902.

MINISTERS' ACCOUNTS :

Further material was prepared for the Second Part of this List.

§ VI. CLASSIFICATION AND ARRANGEMENT.

A good deal of time and attention was devoted during the past year to the classification and numbering of records, especially those of the Foreign Office and the Admiralty.

§ VIII. BUILDINGS.

A flag-staff was erected on the principal tower, and a flag was obtained for use on certain days.

New arrangements were made for the warming and ventilation of the Literary Search Room.

§ IX. THE ACTS 40 & 41 VICT. c. 55, AND 61 & 62 VICT. c. 12.

The following schedules of documents not considered of sufficient public value to justify their preservation in the Public Record Office were prepared and submitted to both Houses of Parliament during the session of 1902, in accordance with

Rule 2 of the Rules approved by her late Majesty Queen Victoria in Council on 30 June, 1890, and no objection having been made thereto, became operative, viz.—

(1) Schedule of documents in the Writ, Appearance and Judgment and General Filing Departments of the Central Office of the Supreme Court of Judicature.

(2) Schedule of documents of the High Court of Chancery.

(3) Schedule of documents in the Taxing Office of the Supreme Court of Judicature.

(4) Schedule of documents belonging to the Solicitor's Department of the Treasury.

Documents connected with other Departments of the Government were also considered with a view to future Schedules.

§ X. CHRONICLES AND MEMORIALS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND DURING THE MIDDLE AGES.

Mr. L. O. Pike completed at press the text of a volume dealing with Michaelmas Term 17 Edward III. and Hilary Term 18 Edward III.

§ XI. MISCELLANEOUS PUBLICATIONS.

The following volumes were issued in 1902 :—

CLOSE ROLLS OF THE REIGN OF HENRY III. A.D. 1227-1231.

The text of the Close Rolls from the sixth year of King John to the eleventh year of Henry III. was published in two large folio volumes, in 1833 and 1844 respectively. It has now been printed down to the end of the fifteenth year of the latter reign, under the supervision of Mr. C. Trice Martin, an Assistant Record Keeper. A more portable form has, however, been adopted, and all ordinary abbreviations in the Latin have been extended.

ACTS OF THE PRIVY COUNCIL OF ENGLAND. New Series. Edited by John Roche Dasent, C.B., Barrister-at-Law.

Vol. XXV. 1595-1596.

Vol. XXVI. 1596-1597.

ROME :

Mr. W. H. Bliss and Mr. J. A. Twemlow continued their researches in the archives of the Vatican, and made progress with their Calendar of Papal Letters relating to Great Britain and Ireland.

The fourth volume was published in 1902. It deals with the period from 1862 to 1404.

The index to the fifth volume was in the press at the end of the year.

Twenty-two sheets of the sixth volume were passed for press in 1902.

Various transcripts from documents of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries were received at the Public Record Office.

VENICE :

Mr. Horatio F. Brown continued his researches in the Venetian archives. By the end of the year 1902, he had completed at press the text of a volume of his Calendar embracing the period between June 1607 and June 1610.

SPAIN, BRUSSELS AND VIENNA.

Major M. S. Hume continued his researches, and passed for press seventeen sheets, making in all thirty-four sheets, of a volume of his Calendar, beginning with the month of January 1545.

§ XIII. HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION.

The work of this Commission was conducted, as before, at the Public Record Office, the Deputy Keeper of the Records being the Acting Commissioner, and the Secretary of the Public Record Office being the Secretary.

Some of the Clerks of the Public Record Office were employed in calendaring the Cecil Manuscripts, temporarily removed from Hatfield House, out of office hours, and some, also out of office hours, on compiling indexes to the Calendars and Reports issued by the Commission.

§ XIV. THE OFFICE OF LAND REVENUE RECORDS AND ENROLMENTS.

In December 1902, the Lords Commissioners of Your Majesty's Treasury were pleased to appoint me to be Keeper of the Land Revenue Records and Enrolments, with a view to a practical amalgamation of the Office of Land Revenue Records and Enrolments with the Public Record Office. The proceedings taken in consequence will properly come within the scope of the Annual Report for the current year.

All which is humbly submitted to Your Majesty.

Dated this 20th day of May, 1903.

(Signed) H. C. MAXWELL LYTE.

I humbly certify to Your Majesty that this Report is made by the Deputy Keeper of the Records, pursuant to the 17th section of the Act 1 & 2 Vict. c. 94.

(Signed) R. HENN COLLINS, M.R.
